Sponsor of Petition Agrees the Missouri Supreme Court Won't Rule on Issue in Time.

The initiative petition for repeal of the city's cigarette tax will not be on the ballot in the Aug. 6 primary.

City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman, Charles M. Hay, chairman of the Election Board, and Fred M. Switzer, attorney for the Mississippi Valley Distributors' Association, which sponsored the petition, agreed today that the Missouri Supreme Court will not rule on the city's application for a writ of prohibition in time to place the matter on the primary ballot.

The court issued a preliminary rule of prohibition after the City contended the cigarette tax can be repealed only by the Board of Aldermen.

WORK ON NEW PANAMA LOCKS

Dredging of Approach Channel Marks Beginning of Construction.

PANAMA, July 1 (AP).—With Acting Gov. Glen E. Edgerton at the controls, the big dredge Las Casadas began work today on the approach channel to the third set of locks for the Panama Canal. The new Miraflores locks will cost $227,000,000 and take six years to build.

HUNGARIANS MOBILIZING ARMY CORPS ON BORDER

Say Rumania Appears 'On Point of Collapse' — Russians Land Men, Tanks by Plane, Seize Control of Lower Danube

BUCHAREST, July 1 (AP).—The Rumanian Cabinet announced today that Rumania "is renouncing the French-British guarantees of our territorial integrity given April 13, 1939."

With part of its army fighting at some points as it retreated before Russian troops occupying ceded Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina and the rest preparing for a possible Hungarian invasion of Transylvania—which seemed imminent—Rumania thus finally withdrew from the diplomatic arrangements by which the British and French Allies last year sought to build up alliances in Eastern Europe that would stand against Germany.

There were reports of Rumanian-Hungarian border incidents and Budapest lodged a protest warning Rumania of "possible unpleasant consequences."

Mobilization of a Hungarian army corps on the Rumanian frontier was accompanied by speeded-up recruiting of Hungarian reservists and an officially-inspired statement in Budapest that Rumania apparently is "on the point of collapse."

Wounded by Trainloads.

Trainloads of Rumanian wounded arrived in the capital shortly after noon today for hospitalization. They were understood to have been wounded in clashes with Russian troops on the Prut River, boundary between old Rumania and areas ceded to Russia last week.

At the same time military quarters declared the probability of further clashes between Rumanian and Russian forces was heightened by the fact the Russian army was increasing the tempo of its occupation of Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina.

Today, it was reported, parachute troops were "rained" on parts of the two provinces not yet occupied, while the guns of baby tanks landed by planes dominated the lower Danube, vital waterway for Germany to the East.

Whether fighting still was going on could not be determined. The best available official information was that the occupation was proceeding in a more orderly fashion.

The Russians, however, were reported still showing haste.

Refugees said Russian state police agents and Soviet shock troops were dropped by parachute in many towns and villages.

Theory as to Russian Aim.

Rumanian officials expressed belief this was to round up aristocrats and large landowners and prevent removal of gold and other valuables from the occupied area.

As the Russian advance continued, Rumanian police sought to prevent the possibility of rioting.

Thousands of arrests were made in Bucharest and other cities under a new regulation prohibiting citi-

ROOSEVELT URGES STIFF TAX TO CURB EXCESS PROFITS

Calls for 'Steeply Graduated Levy' to Limit Gains Under Defense Program in Note to Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to enact a "steeply graduated excess profits tax" applicable to all individuals and corporate organizations "without discrimination."

The text of the President's message follows:

"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up our national defenses to meet any and every potential attack.

"We are asking even our humblest citizens to contribute their mite. It is our duty to see that the burden is equitably distributed, according to ability to pay, so that a few do not gain from the sacrifices of the many.

"I, therefore, recommend to the Congress the enactment of a steeply graduated excess profits tax, to be applied to all individuals and all corporate organizations without discrimination."

Roosevelt did not estimate how much revenue an excess profits levy might yield. House Majority Leader Rayburn, who attended the White House conference which preceded the issuance of the President's message, said, however, that the tax would be along the lines of one levied in World War days.

World War Rates.

From 1917 to 1921, the Government had excess profits taxes ranging from 20 to 65 per cent of all corporation profits in excess of a computed "normal" profit.

The first of these taxes, enacted late in 1917, allowed corporations exemptions of $3000 each plus a ration of income to invested capital equal to not more than 9 per cent of invested capital per year. After these credits, the excess profits tax ranged up to 60 per cent on profits in excess of 33 per cent of invested capital.

In 1918, the exemption was changed to a flat $3000 plus 8 per cent of invested capital, and the maximum tax rate was raised to 65 per cent. After hostilities ceased, the tax continued until 1921, but the

GUERNSEY AND JERSEY SEIZED BY AIR FORCE

Planes Land Troops —London Previously Announced Demilitarization —English Cruiser Reported Torpedoed.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—The Ministry of Information said tonight it had learned that "enemy landings have been made" on Britain's channel islands of Guernsey and Jersey.

The statement follows:

"As has already been announced the channel islands have been demilitarized. It is now learned that enemy landings have been made on Jersey and Guernsey. Telegraphic and telephonic communications have been cut and no further information is at present available."

BERLIN, July 1 (AP).—The German army has set foot on British soil for the first time by occupying the channel islands of Guernsey and Jersey in a surprise move by units of the Nazi air force.

Guernsey was occupied yesterday and Jersey today, the high command reported.

It was announced that the occupation was achieved by a "coup de main of the German air force," presumably meaning that troops had been landed by airplane on the islands, world-known for their cattle. The high command said a German reconnaissance plane had shot down two British Bristol-Blenheim planes during the occupation of Guernsey.

Guernsey and Jersey, neighboring islands which the British previously had declared demilitarized, lie much closer to the German-occupied French coast than to England and were considered indefensible by British officials.

Guernsey, 90 miles from Plymouth, is only half as far from the west coast of the Cotentin Peninsula, at the tip of which is Cherbourg. Jersey is 20 miles southeast of Guernsey.

(Indication that other channel islands may have been lost to the Germans came in an announcement by Western Union that telegraphic communication with Alderney and Sark had been suspended.)

War from the air hit Guernsey and Jersey last Friday night, 29 persons being killed by bombing and machine-gunning Nazi planes which swept over them shortly after Britain announced they had been demilitarized. Many of the Guernsey and Jersey herds were shipped to England, along with everything of food value the Germans might seize.

Total population of the islands is about 150,000. Their total area is about 75 square miles. The official language is French.

Cruiser Reported Torpedoed.

The high command in a communique earlier reported a British cruiser of the Orion class had been torpedoed south of Brest.

Eighteen British planes were shot down in a series of attacks against "non-military targets in Northern, Western and Southern Germany" last night, the high command added.

The communique said that one submarine had sunk 23,000 registered tons of enemy merchant shipping, adding "two of the sunken steamers were torpedoed from a strongly protected convoy."

The Orion class consisted of five cruisers, the Orion, the Leander, Neptune, Achilles and Ajax, the last two having taken part in the battle of Montevideo which led to the destruction of the German pocket battleship, Admiral Graf Spee.

(The Orion's tonnage is listed as 7215, its main armament eight six-inch guns and its normal complement 550 officers and men.)

Carrying Tanks by Plane Offers No Great Difficulty, Experts Say

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—Military experts, speculating on how the Russians were able to land tanks in Rumania by airplane, said today it would be easy to carry light tanks under the fuselage of ordinary large planes or to lash them to bomb containers of bombing ships.

They recalled that commercial planes had carried automobiles in this manner in the United States as a stunt. Tanks carried in this way, however, would affect a plane's center of gravity and offer considerable air resistance.

Dispatches from Bucharest said the tanks were suspended between the wheels of big transport ships.

The military men said the giant bombers could carry as much as five to 10 tons of bombs and that they would have no difficulty lifting tanks of similar weight. They suggested that the operation was easier for the Russians if they had specially designed planes, but expressed the opinion that even if they did not it was possible to get light tanks of five or seven tons well up into the bomb bays where they would not interfere with take-offs or landings.

The United States Army Air Corps has made no attempt to carry tanks by plane, officials said.

The 350 tanks now owned by the United States Army range from 10 to 20 tons and are classed as light and medium.

FRENCH LOSSES LAST MONTH OF WAR PUT AT 1,500,000

By TAYLOR HENRY.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, July 1 (AP).—French casualties in the disastrous final month of the war with Germany were estimated unofficially today at 1,500,000 men, most of them listed as dead or missing.

It took Adolf Hitler's mechanized army about one month to destroy what 60 days ago still was described as the most efficient military machine in the world — the French army—and to over-run and occupy more than half of France.

When France decided on June 12 to plead for an armistice the situation was so desperate, it is reliably reported, that Gen. Maxime Weygand told the historic midnight meeting of the French cabinet in a chateau near Tours that the French army had only cartridges enough to last three more days.

French Ministers who had watched the army melt away along the line of the Somme and Aisne Rivers wept as Weygand described how the Germans advanced, "slaughtering men who no longer

MOTHER ONLY COMPANION OF LEOPOLD, A RECLUSE IN NAZI GENERAL'S CHARGE

BRUSSELS, July 1 (AP).

LEOPOLD III, King of conquered Belgium, virtually has become a recluse at Laeken Castle, where he is under the personal custody of a German General.

Persons close to the monarch say he never goes out, and no one has seen him walking in the beautiful gardens surrounding the royal residence on the outskirts of Brussels. His only companion is his mother, the Dowager Queen Elizabeth.

The children of the King are said to be either at Lucerne, Switzerland, or in Italy, with their aunt, Crown Princess Maria Jose of Italy, Leopold's sister.

Belgium now is being governed by local authorities responsible to the authorities of the German army of occupation.

9 KILLED, 20 HURT IN SCOTTISH TOWN IN NEW ATTACKS BY NAZI FLYERS

Bomb Demolishes 3 Houses Damages Others—British Report Shooting Down Two of Invading Aircraft.

OIL TANKS IN REICH FIRED, ENGLISH SAY

Fuel Stores at Hamburg, Airports Near Bremen, Railroad Yards in West Germany Reported Raided.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Nine persons were killed and 20 injured in air raids tonight, the Ministry of Home Security announced. One high explosive bomb fell on a town in the northeast coast of Scotland.

The announcement said:

"During the raids this evening an enemy plane dropped a high explosive bomb on a town on the northeast coast of Scotland.

"Three houses were demolished and a number of others damaged.

"Casualties so far reported are nine dead and 20 injured. With three exceptions all the casualties are women and children."

Two of the German bombers which crossed the British coast early this evening were shot down, the Air Ministry said. A number of incendiary bombs were dropped on the northeast coast.

Earlier, the British had reported driving off attacks on England, Scotland and Wales last night and destroying one of the German bombers.

British fighters ranging over France shot down five Messerschmitts and "probably" destroyed another seven, said the Air Ministry.

(The German high command reported 18 British planes had been shot down in a series of raids over Germany.)

Air defenders of the British Isles shot down one bomber and drove off the rest of the Nazi raiders flying over in forays.

The bomber crashed off the Northeast English coast. Its crew of four floated four and a half hours in a rubber dinghy, then was brought ashore. One was wounded.

Raids on Germany.

British bombers hit storage tanks at Hamburg "and left them burning" in raids on Germany Sunday night, the Air Ministry announced.

Several targets in the Darmstadt area and marshalling yards at Osnabruck and Hann were again bombed, the Air Ministry communique said.

Airdromes on the Isle of Norderney and at Huntlosen, west of Bremen, and Dortmund also were attacked.

In the dogfights over France, the Air Ministry announced, the wing commander of one Hurricane fighter formation shot down three German fighters. These were among six German planes he met 10 miles from the French coast.

Another battle was fought near Bethune, France.

During the raids on Britain another German bomber was reported at first to have landed in the street in a northeast town, but later was disclosed to have flown low to avoid shell fire and to have been chased out to sea by three Spitfire fighters.

Day Raid on England.

Yesterday the Germans made their first daylight attack on a southwest coastal town. Five bombs were dropped there, three of which failed to explode. Three planes flying in formation were driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

Informed sources said the sporadic, nightly bombing raids might be a cloak for the landing of advance parachutists and that precautions have been taken to foil such a plan.

This morning the German planes apparently struck their heaviest blows in Northeast Scotland, where incendiary bombs in heavily-populated areas started a number of fires. But a communique from the Air Ministry and Ministry of Home Security announced there was "no serious damage" from any of the bombings, with injury to only one person reported.

A subsequent communique said.

"Enemy activity over Great Britain last night was on a smaller scale.

"A few bombs were dropped in South Wales and near the East coast, but nothing of any importance was achieved.

"The only casualty reported is one person slightly hurt."

Amplifying Air Ministry communiques of British raids on Germany and German-occupied areas in France, Belgium and Holland throughout last week, observers said information leaking out of Germany indicated these attacks were taking their toll of industrial production, with many factories being forced to abandon night shifts.

Rumanians Fight Reds on Prut River

zens from congregating in groups of four or more or assembling in any number in cafes and other public places.

They reported refugees had been shot while attempting to sneak through Russian lines into old Rumania.

Reports were brought in that the Russians were setting up military Governments in the most important centers and that, in other places, they were turning over management to hastily organized Soviets.

Curentul, pro-German Bucharest newspaper, charged editorially that Russia was planning destruction of Rumanian oil fields from which Germany otherwise would receive gasoline.

Considerable concern was caused by the fact Russian troops had crossed at several points the boundary of the ceded territory and by evidence that the Russians were in a great hurry to complete the occupation.

Under terms of an agreement with Moscow, Rumanian troops have until noon Wednesday to leave the ceded territory.

Landing of Tanks by Air.

The point at which the Russians landed tanks by plane to take quick command of the Danube was in the vicinity of Reni, where the Prut River flows into the larger waterway about 70 miles from the Black Sea.

Landing of the tanks, suspended between the wheels of big transport planes, caught the Rumanian garrison at Reni by surprise, and it was believed that the Red troops took over considerable quantities of military material.

Russian parachute troops were landed simultaneously at Bolgrad, 20 miles northeast of Reni.

The fact that the Russians now are in position to close off the Danube if they desire was viewed in diplomatic circles as a serious threat to German interests.

Reni, situated on the north bank of the Danube in the extreme southeast corner of Bessarabia, presumably is included in the territory ceded to Russia. Dispatches from Moscow described the new frontier as bounded by the Prut and Danube Rivers.

"Local Incidents" Reported.

The Rumanian general staff described as "local incidents" the clashes between Rumanian and Russian troops yesterday, but usually reliable sources said the fighting was on a much larger scale than officially admitted.

Reports in military circles said the fighting broke out when Red army units moving into Bucovina crossed the Prut River at several places—penetrating 15 miles at one point to Dorohoi. Retreating Rumanian troops were said to have turned to fight, driving the Russians back across the river with considerable losses.

With the aid of reinforcements, however, the Soviet troops were reported to have crossed the Prut again, capturing a Rumanian General among other prisoners.

Reports from regions already occupied by the Russians told of street fighting in many places between Communist and anti-Communist elements. Penitentiary inmates were said to have been freed in two cities by fleeing jailers.

That Rumanian authorities were fearful of further Soviet encroachments was indicated by the nature and extent of precautionary measures.

Black Sea Ports Mined.

It was announced that the Black Sea ports of Constanta and Sulina had been mined and there was talk of removing the Government from Bucharest to some point in the Carpathians if necessary.

The Ministry of the Interior issued a communique warning the population not to believe "fantastic stories" that any parts of Rumania in addition to Bessarabia and Bucovina would be evacuated. The warning was interpreted as an indication the Government intended to resist any further territorial encroachments—not only by Russia, but also by Hungary and Bulgaria, which are anxious to gain lost territories of Transylvania and Southern Dobruja, respectively.

At the same time the Government issued regulations closing all cafes at 11 p. m. and forbidding political discussions in public places. Persons speaking against the army, the administration or public safety will be sent to concentration camps.

A Rumanian delegation departed, meanwhile, by steamer from Constanta to meet Russian representatives tomorrow in Odessa, where the final demorcation line of the ceded territories will be decided.

A meeting of the Rumanian Parliament scheduled for today was postponed until Wednesday.

A RUMANIAN delegation sailed today from Constanta for Odessa (1) to confer with Soviet officials on the Russian occupation of Bessarabia. Shaded portion bounded by the Prut and Danube rivers is the territory ceded to Russia. Fighting was reported at Cernauti (2) at the beginning of the occupation and yesterday at Galati (3) where it was reported an "armed Jewish force" rose against the Rumanians and was cut down with machine guns. The Russians landed tanks from planes at Reni (4) and parachutists at Bolgrad (4). The harbors at Sulina and Constanta (5) were mined. The Rumanian Government considered moving the capital from Bucharest (6) to the Carpathian mountains.

HUNGARY WARNS RUMANIA; BORDER KILLINGS REPORTED

Incidents May Have 'Unpleasant Consequences,' Budapest Says — Big Armed Force on Transylvania Frontier.

BUDAPEST, July 1 (AP).—Hungary called more men to the army tonight—with general mobilization believed imminent—following a reported "incident" in which three civilians were said to have been killed on the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier.

As a result, Hungarian entry into Transylvania, former Austro-Hungarian territory taken by Rumania after the World War, appeared probable.

An official protest to Bucharest over the border incidents warned of "possible unpleasant consequences" which, it was widely believed, meant a grave threat to Balkan peace.

Simultaneously with the mobilization of a Hungarian army corps on the Rumanian frontier and the heavy calling of reservists, an official news agency announcement declared tonight that "the general impression is that Rumania is on the point of collapse."

Railway Traffic Cut.

Railway passenger traffic was cut to a minimum to facilitate military concentration operations.

The official Hungarian view consistently has been that any breakup of Rumania would call for the immediate entry of the Hungarian army into Transylvania to protect a Magyar minority there of almost 2,000,000.

The Foreign Office issued documents declaring the "historic mission" of Hungary is to defend "Western Latin civilization against any attacks coming from the East."

The documents declared Hungary had "for centuries fought and bled for the Western Latin culture" and attempted to prove that Transylvania must return to Hungary.

The calling of reservists was speeded up. Authorities distributed thousands of notices to reservists in homes, factories and offices. In many cases the men were told to put on their coats and follow the police.

Appeal for Ambulances.

Airplanes flew over the capital dropping leaflets calling on citizens to support the Red Cross drive to get ambulances and medical supplies immediately for the army.

Besides the "incidents," the apparent increasing gravity of the Rumanian-Russian situation was said to have decided the War Ministry to act urgently to strengthen defenses.

At noon today, police visited all restaurants, cafes and hotels in Budapest, forbidding the sale of any alcoholic beverage for four days. An official interpretation of this was not immediately forthcoming, but it was pointed out in military quarters that such action customarily precedes general mobilization.

Official sources said Rumanian border guards fired on Hungarian guards yesterday at Vichybad. When the Hungarians answered their fire, they said, the Rumanians retreated. One house on Rumanian soil was said to have been burned.

Official quarters also said three inhabitants of Fekete-Gyarbat, south of Ant, on Hungarian territory, were shot at by Rumanian troops.

Leaves of all civil employes of Budapest were canceled.

New Precautions.

Uncertainty over Russian intentions, stimulated by reports of Soviet demands for a hand in controlling the Dardanelles, led Turkey and Bulgaria, as well as Hungary and Rumania, to take new precautions today.

Diplomatic circles in Budapest reported that Russia had asked Turkey for permission to participate in defense of the important straits linking the Black Sea with the Mediterranean, over which Turkey now exercises sole control.

Heavy Turkish troop concentrations were reported near the Bulgarian frontier on the chance Russia might thrust through Rumania and Bulgaria toward the Dardanelles. The Turkish navy also was on the alert.

Observers pointed out that by occupying Bessarabia, Russia had grabbed off the only bumper crop of wheat and corn in the Balkans, where late frosts and floods have reduced the yield. Germany has placed large contracts in Bessarabia for vegetable oil seeds. Whether deliveries will now be made is a question.

LONDON, July 1.

A British Colonial air fleet of 40 heavy bombers "capable of dropping a hundred tons of high explosive on Germany every day" and 160 Spitfire fighters is now ready to take the air, an official statement said today. The fleet was built with funds subscribed in the Colonies and will be manned by Colonial commanders, pilots and gunners.

BRITISH AIR RAIDS ON FASCIST TROOPS

CAIRO, July 1 (AP).—British air attacks on Italian troops in East Africa were reported today by the Royal Air Force.

Its communique also said:

"R. A. F. bombers attacked Acicco, but the extent of damage created is not yet known. Two naval vessels in the harbor were bombed. Our aircraft encountered considerable anti-aircraft and fighter opposition. One of our planes is missing.

"The South African air force and Southern Rhodesian air force carried out reconnaissances in the Moyale area. One of our planes raided a Bandar camp.

"It is now definitely established that in the course of a raid on Tobruk June 29 we shot down three enemy machines, one RO37, whose gunner was killed, being forced down behind Sidiaziz; one CR32 forced down and another CR-42 shot down at Amseat. The following day (yesterday) it has been definitely established, our successes were two enemy aircraft, one a CR-32, the other a CR42.

"Malta experienced further air raids yesterday, two formations of four enemy bombers each dropping 42 bombs. The damage was slight; two civilians were killed and four wounded."

In reporting on land operations, British general headquarters issued the following communique tonight:

"Western desert. Operations by forward troops in contact are continuing in the area of Sidi Azeiz and Capuzzo.

"Eritrea and Italo-East Africa borders. Nothing new to report."

British Convoy and Italian Planes in Battle Off Crete Coast.

ATHENS, July 1 (AP).—A battle between a British naval convoy and Italian aircraft Saturday off the northeast coast of Crete was reported here today. The convoy was believed to be moving from the Dardanelles.

The battle was too far off shore for coast observers to determine the result.

Also Report British Submarine Sunk—Fascist Command Admits Loss of Destroyer.

ROME, July 1 (AP).—Capture of several British positions along the Libyan - Egyptian border was claimed today by the high command, which also said that an Italian torpedo boat had sunk a British submarine. It reported at least eight British planes were shot down.

The high command acknowledged the loss of the destroyer Espero, a 1073-ton warship with a normal complement of 143. The Espero, it said, failed to return to its base after "heroically" battling three British cruisers and several destroyers.

In sharp fighting on the Egyptian frontier, the high command said, Fascist forces put tanks and armored cars out of action.

"One of our submarines shot down an English four-motored plane," the daily communique said.

"In North Africa our air formations effectively bombarded a group of armored cars, automobiles, depots and troops between Sollum and Sisi Omar and at Sidi Barrani. In East Africa our bombing planes carried out effective night action on the station at Et-teb. The air naval bases at Aden and Port Sudan were bombed. One of our planes did not return. The enemy bombed the city of Harrar."

Premier Mussolini, accompanied by high Italian officers, yesterday inspected the advanced positions which his troops are holding on French soil under terms of the armistice. He visited the French villages of Larche and Saorge.

BRITISH FIRMS LAY LOSSES TO STOCK EXCHANGE RUMORS

Four Concerns Charge 53-Million Pound Impairment of Investments to False Reports.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Stock Exchange rumors following the French collapse were reported yesterday to have caused losses amounting to 53 million pounds sterling to four firms concerned in British war production during the last four weeks.

The Daily Mail said: "Millions of pounds' worth of Britain's vital war investments in iron, coal and munitions are at the mercy of Stock Exchange rumor-mongers who spread unfounded stories of ruinous damage to aircraft factories and munitions works."

BELGIANS WORKING IN REICH MAY SEND OUT MOST OF PAY

BRUSSELS, July 1 (AP).—The German radio announced yesterday that Belgians will be allowed to work in Germany and send up to two-thirds of their pay back to their families.

The announcement said there is demand especially for skilled and unskilled labor, for miners, metal workers, welders and textile workers.

Major Units of U. S. Fleet Suddenly Return to Hawaii

Ships Were on "Routine Training Exercise," Admiral Richardson Explains—Reported Within 250 Miles of Bases.

HONOLULU, July 1 (AP).—Major units of the United States fleet, whose unannounced departure one week ago took Hawaii by surprise, swung at anchor's again in Lahaina Roads today, their absence explained by Admiral James O. Richardson as merely "a routine training exercise."

Nevertheless, the fleet's sudden return yesterday set off speculation in connection with shifting world events, as did its departure under sealed orders last Monday.

"This was a routine training exercise simulating a wartime sailing without prior notification," said the fleet Commander-in-Chief. "Such exercises have taken place in the past and are an essential part of fleet training and may be expected to recur at irregular intervals. The nature of the exercise precluded use of radio, otherwise I would have corrected the highly speculative impressions created by the maneuvers."

Informed sources said the warships remained within 250 miles of their bases.

Their departure amid great secrecy precipitated reports they were headed for the Panama Canal. The warships were last observed following the steamer lane to the mainland. Later there was speculation. Navy officials, however, refused to confirm or deny the reports.

The fleet left mainland bases last April 1 for annual war games and following completion of the maneuvers more than two months ago were ordered to remain in these waters. Training exercises were continued, with the ships alternating between bases at Pearl Harbor and Lahaina Roads, their stay in the islands having been placed on an "indefinite basis."

U. S. Believed Standing Pat on Status Quo Policy for Far East.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—Return of the main body of the United States fleet to Hawaii gave physical support today to a belief held in informed quarters that the administration was standing pat on its announced policy against any change in the status quo in the Far East.

In these circles, the week's mystery cruise of the fleet was linked with formulation of the "Asiatic Monroe Doctrine" announced Saturday by Japanese Foreign Minister Arita. It coincided, too, with increasing concern over the possibility of a Japanese thrust into French Indo-China or other European possessions in the Far East.

During the fleet's absence from Hawaii officials were silent on Far Eastern policy. Reports that it was headed for the Panama Canal caused speculation that the United States might be altering its policy in the Orient in order to meet possible dangers in the Western Hemisphere.

Lending some support to this speculation was growing advocacy in unofficial quarters of a new understanding with Japan even at the expense of sacrificing some American interests in the Far East.

NAZIS DEMAND NORWAY DEPOSE REFUGEE KING, SAYS BRITISH AGENCY

LONDON, July 1 (AP).

GERMANY has threatened to put Norway "fully" under Nazi control and administration if the Norwegian Parliament does not remove King Haakon and his refugee government, now in London, said an Exchange Telegraph (British news agency) dispatch from Goteborg, Sweden, yesterday.

The dispatch stated that Joseph Terboven, German commissioner for Norway, had demanded that Parliament be summoned to oust King Haakon and Johan Nygaardsvold, head of the refugee government.

The Goteborg newspaper Posten was reported as saying that the King had been asked to abdicate, and if a new Cabinet is not formed, the Germans would take over complete administration.

BERLIN, July 1 (AP).—The German Foreign Office advised the United States Embassy and presumably all other embassies today to discontinue all diplomatic missions in Norway, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands.

The missions must be discontinued by July 15.

The Foreign Office informed the United States Embassy that all political questions affecting these countries must be taken up through representatives in Berlin. Consulates will be permitted to remain.

It was noted that Denmark continued to have a different status with both diplomatic missions and consulates remaining.

Poland's case in turn, was more severe, for here even the consulates as well as the diplomatic missions were required to close.

HALLIHAN TELLS OF $3000 UNION ELECTRIC GIFT TO CAMPBELL FUND

East St. Louis Democratic Boss, Testifying in Boehm Perjury Trial, Says Contribution Was for Campaign.

FIRST TESTIMONY ON USE OF SLUSH FUND

Firm's Tax Agent, on Witness Stand, Says He Went to Iowa 3 Times to Collect Kickbacks of Attorney Fowler.

E. Bentley Hamilton, Peoria (Ill.) lawyer, testified today in the Boehm perjury trial that from 1930 to 1939 he returned in cash to Union Electric Co. approximately one-half of his annual retainers of $40,000.

John J. Hallihan, Democratic boss of St. Clair County and Director of the Illinois State Department of Registration and Educa[illegible], testified today in the perjury trial of Frank J. Boehm, former executive vice-president of Union Electric Co. of Missouri, that in 1932 he received a $3000 cash campaign contribution from the then head of Union Electric's East St. Louis subsidiary.

The contribution, delivered to him by George W. Welsh, then vice-president of the East St. Louis Light & Power Co., was for the primary campaign of Bruce A. Campbell for the Democratic nomination for Governor, Hallihan testified. Campbell, a widely known lawyer, was defeated in that campaign by Gov. Henry Horner.

Hallihan testified that in the spring of 1932 he received a telephone call from either Campbell or Welsh asking him to see Welsh, and in response he called at Welsh's office, where Welsh gave him the money in cash.

The fact that this contribution was made was disclosed by the Post-Dispatch last March 14 in a news story quoting both Hallihan and Campbell as to the circumstances. The East St. Louis Light and Power Co. has since been absorbed by the Union Electric Co. of Illinois, another Union Electric subsidiary.

Second Week of Trial.

This is the second week of the trial of the former $42,000-a-year executive, charged in five counts with having given false testimony in the Securities and Exchange Commission's investigation of the political activities and business practices of Union Electric Co. Boehm and Louis H. Egan, president, were dismissed from the company because of disclosures in the investigation.

Hallihan's was the first testimony relating to the use of the large Union Electric political slush fund, additional sources of which will be described by other Government witnesses. Boehm denied in his SEC testimony that contributions were made to candidates or other politicians or political organizations.

Harry C. Williamson, real estate and tax agent for Union Electric, testified today that on three occasions he went to Des Moines, Ia., to get large sums of cash from Rex H. Fowler, one of the company's attorneys.

Fowler was one of the two company lawyers who testified last week about kicking back part of their retainers and fees to the company's slush fund.

Details of Kickbacks.

Williamson said that he first met Fowler in 1933 outside the office of Albert C. Laun, then Union Electric tax agent and ace lobbyist. Laun, who has been dismissed, is now serving a penitentiary sentence for perjury committed in the course of the SEC investigation.

His first trip to get cash from Fowler was in 1934, Williamson said. He was sent on this errand by Laun, he testified; he waited in Fowler's office while the latter went to the bank, and then he saw Fowler count out $36,000 in currency and place it in two envelopes which Williamson took back to Laun.

He went on similar errands in 1936 and 1937, he said, and on each occasion carried back to Laun sealed bulky envelope but did not know how much money was in the packages.

Although Fowler admitted having kicked back approximately [illegible] per cent of his retainers and fees for six years he did not give the amount. Accountants for the SEC fixed the total of the retainers and fees paid him by Union Electric and subsidiaries in the six years 1932 to 1938 at $88,550, half of which would have been $44,275.

HALLIHAN TELLS OF $3000 UNION ELECTRIC GIFT TO CAMPBELL FUND

East St. Louis Democratic Boss, Testifying in Boehm Perjury Trial, Says Contribution Was for Campaign.

Boy, 15, Tells How He Killed Girl; Says Mind Became Blank

A 15-year-old boy with a delinquency record dating back seven years sat in a cell at University City police station last night and admitted to his weeping grandmother, who had reared him from infancy, that it was he who strangled and beat to death Ruth Gornek, University City school girl, as she walked home from Heman Park swimming pool last Wednesday.

The boy was William Louis Fuller III, who had gone to the police Thursday afternoon with the dead girl's bathing suit, telling a story of having seen a youth walk with her into the woods south of the park, where her body was found early Thursday. He said he had "found" the bathing suit as he walked through the woods with two other boys shortly after seeing Miss Gornek enter the woods.

The grandmother, Mrs. William Fuller, to whom he had denied guilt earlier in the day, despite his confession to police, could only say: "Billy, why—why did you do it?"

He tried to console her: "They'll put me away for awhile and then I'll come back and join the army. Now don't you go home crying in your pillow—washing pillows is a lot of work. And don't tell Pop—he'll come up here asking if the police made me tell it."

His father, a bricklayer, with whom the boy lived, together with his grandmother and grandfather, at 6123 Enright avenue, sat in the outer office at the station while Mrs. Fuller and the boy talked.

Taken to Murder Scene.

This morning University City policemen took the boy to the scene of the killing, following the path through the dense woods south of the park to the shallow ravine where he dragged her after tying the skirt of her play suit around her neck.

He was calm enough throughout the procedure, but was vague about details of what had occurred. He complained of being sleepy and told Mayor Matt C. Fogerty of University City, who was in the party, that he "hadn't had a very good night."

At Clayton Courthouse, where the boy was lodged in the juvenile detention room after being taken from the scene of the murder, prosecuting officials said he would receive a preliminary hearing, probably Friday, before Circuit Judge John J. Wolfe, who presides in Juvenile Court. Judge Wolfe will decide whether the boy is to be prosecuted as a juvenile or under the regular criminal statutes.

Disposition of a reward of $500 offered by the University City Board of Aldermen for information leading to arrest and conviction of the killer will await the outcome of the case against Fuller, Mayor Fogarty said today. Payment of a similar reward of $100, offered by the University City Lions Club, also will be temporarily held up, club officials said.

Chief of Police George F. Ward of University City said he and his men had been "somewhat suspicious" of the Fuller boy from the first, because of his police record, but had decided to run down other clews first. The police belief at first had been that the crime had been committed by an older man.

Boy's Story of Killing.

In his confession, which police obtained after seven hours of questioning yesterday morning, Fuller told of going swimming at the Heman Park pool Wednesday afternoon and of seeing Miss Gornek in the pool.

"I had seen here there two or three times this season and maybe two or three times last season," he said.

He left the pool with two other boys, Richard Reilly, 13, and Sidney Savanosky, 11, and the three stood outside eating popcorn until he saw Miss Gornek leave the pool and start for the women's dressing room.

"We three boys then walked east to the swings and slide on the playgrounds," he continued. "After we had played there a few minutes I saw Ruth Gornek walk east past the swings and into the woods on the Public Service Co. property south of the park.

"Shortly after this I left Sidney and Richard and followed the girl down the path into the woods, walking faster so as to catch up with her before she got out of the woods.

"About 200 feet north of the Creve Coeur right of way I caught up with her. She tried to push me away and walk on. I put my hand over her mouth so as to prevent her from screaming, and she struggled with me. I threw her to the ground and she appeared to be unconscious.

"I tied the skirt of her playsuit about her neck and dragged her through the woods about 25 feet to where a small ravine cuts through. I then picked up a granite block and threw it into her face. My mind then kind of became a blank and I cannot tell exactly how many times I hit her with the rock.

Rejoined Boys in Park.

"I remember running back down the path towards the swings and joining the other boys. We played about 25 minutes longer and then we walked along the path through the woods until we found the place where I had accosted her. There we found the bathing suit and bathing cap wrapped in a towel. Then we went home.

"The next day I went to Sid's home and told his mother about the article in the paper about the murder of Ruth Gornek. Sid and I then went to the University City police station and turned the things over to the officers and told them how we found them."

Sidney Savanosky, who lives at 450 Laurel avenue and is in the seventh grade at the Hamilton School with the Fuller boy, in his account to police yesterday, told of Fuller nudging him as Miss Gornek went by and saying, "Look at the cute girl." Sidney said a moment later he left a bench where they had been sitting and went to a slide and didn't notice where Fuller was in the next few minutes. He remembered, however, that Fuller joined him and the Reilly boy, who lives at 5834 Westminster place, at the slide a short time later.

First Escapade in 1933.

Fuller's first brush with the police was in 1933, when he was picked up for pilfering from apartment house mail boxes. There was no prosecution after his grandmother explained he and other children had been playing "mail man."

He was sent to Bellefontaine Farms reformatory for stealing bicycles in September, 1935, and was picked up by police a few days later after escaping from the farms. After two years in the reformatory, he was released to his grandmother. He was arrested again in 1938 for purse snatching. Police records show no disposition of this case.

His grandmother told a Post-Dispatch reporter he had frequently been a cause of worry, but said she found it hard to believe him guilty of the girl's murder.

"I've tried to be a mother to him and I know he loves me, but it seems like he was always getting into some kind of mischief," she said. "Just a few weeks ago he took $5 from my husband's pocket and went to Forest Park Highlands and had a big time."

Man Found Dead Beside Tracks.

The body of a man carrying a Social Security card with the name, James Turner Allensworth, 423 Jefferson street, Montgomery, Ala., was found this morning beside the Illinois Central Railroad tracks near Marissa, Ill., by John Greathouse, section foreman. He was about 40 years old. Authorities thought he had fallen from a freight train. His skull was fractured. The body was taken to the Finger undertaking establishment, Marissa.

RULES CITY COMMITTEE HEADS MAY APPOINT POLL WATCHERS

Assistant Attorney-General Holds That Past Procedure is Still Correct in City.

Chairman of the Democratic and Republican city committees may continue as in the past to appoint their respective challengers and watchers at polling places in primary and general elections in St. Louis as provided in the city's permanent registration law, it was ruled today by Assistant Attorney-General Corvell R. Hewitt at Jefferson City.

Charles M. Hay, chairman of the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners, had asked for a ruling because, he said, the question had arisen as to whether such appointments should be made by party ward committeemen as provided by State law for cities of more than 300,000 population.

Eight delegates attended the luncheon.

DRIVES AUTO INTO MOUNTAIN; LOSES LIFE, SAVES 5 OTHERS

Oklahoma Woman Acts to Avoid Going Over Precipice When Brakes Fail on Mexican Road.

MEXICO CITY, July 1 (AP).—Mrs. Virginia Rios Watkins, 32 years old, of Oklahoma City, lost her life but saved five others by deliberately driving her automobile into a mountainside to avoid going over a precipice.

Her 10-year-old son, her mother and three guests escaped when the brakes on their car failed to hold on a steep slope near Tamazunchale last Friday. Word reached the United States Consulate today.

Just before the crash Mrs. Watkins turned to her mother and said, "Take care of my boy." Then, warning the others, she drove into the mountain.

Mrs. Watkins' son, Charles, was bruised; her mother, Mrs. Mario Rio of Mexico City; and the three guests were cut and bruised.

HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA TERMED OF LITTLE AID IN FINDING JOB

Racine (Wis.) Superintendent Says Graduates Are So Numerous They Have No Advantage.

MILWAUKEE, July 1 (AP).—William C. Giese, superintendent of schools at Racine, Wis., asserted today that the advantages high school graduates once had in searching for employment largely had disappeared because there were too many graduates.

Speaking before the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, Giese said that 70 per cent of the world's work required little special training for good performance.

"This means," he said, "that 70 per cent of our high school graduates must go into unskilled or blind-alley jobs."

TOWNSENDITES BOO NEWS MAYOR CAN'T GREET THEM

Slogan-Singing Delegates Have Change of Heart, However, and Cheer Dickmann's Representative.

With an electric organ booming out old and sentimental melodies, some 7000 followers of the Townsend Pension Plan began the formal sessions of their fifth annual convention in the Municipal Auditorium today by singing songs which confidently predicted enactment of their scheme.

The convention hall was draped in flags and banners and most of the elderly delegates were themselves decked out in gay badges, hats and caps. Many had Townsend slogans embroidered or stitched on their vests or dresses.

They were in a jovial mood and they cheered the loudest when Mrs. Mamie Starke of Hollywood, who used to sing in a Mormon temple and is the official Townsend chorister, sang to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," but with the following refrain:

"The day the Townsend Plan goes through
And we stand at attention,
Asking for a pension."

Mrs. Starke, a resonant contralto, told a reporter she composed the words herself, and that she had many more ditties. The best, she said, is "Old Man Townsend," sung to the tune "Ol' Man River."

Boo, Then Cheer Wayman.

The convention booed City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman when he told them Mayor Dickmann was unable to be there and had sent him to make the welcoming address. Order was quickly restored, however, by the chairman, who told the Townsendites they were "too intelligent" to indulge in such a display. They then gave Wayman a lusty cheer.

In his keynote address, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the movement, told the convention that he had left the Republican convention in Philadelphia in disgust and that he expected "no higher degree of statesmanship" to be exhibited at the forthcoming Democratic convention in Chicago.

"Politicians generally, no matter of what party," Dr. Townsend said, "appear to live in a world that no longer exists. Our leading statesmen and would-be statesmen and the framers of political party platforms still are fighting the windmills of yesterday, the battles of the last World War and the economic problems of the pre-war age."

Gives Parties Another Chance.

At a rally yesterday at Public Schools Statdium, attended by about 10,000, Dr. Townsend said he would give the Democratic and Republican parties "just one more chance to establish real social security."

If that chance is muffed, the 73-year-old pension advocate said, he would attempt to "join forces with labor" to establish a third party in 1944.

By "real social security" Dr. Townsend, of course, meant his own plan for a "pay-as-you-go" old-age pension paid out of a 2 per cent gross income tax, and not the present Federal Social Security Act, which he termed "the foulest piece of legislation ever passed by the United States Government."

"Life Begins at 65."

Just what the Townsend organization thinks of the Social Security Act is made clear in a little two-inch-square booklet sarcastically entitled "Life Begins at 65" which made its appearance at the convention this morning.

In a brief cartoon series the booklet pictures the life of "an average American citizen." He works hard, buys a home, takes in his aged parents, and puts his hope in a Government pension. He grows bald, duly retires at 65, and sits down to wait for his pension check. When it finally arrives he finds it is for $11 a month, and our hero keels over in a dead faint.

"The Social Security Act was foisted on the American people to head off our own plan," Dr. Townsend said heatedly. "It was done so hastily and thoughtlessly that it is proving to be a boomerang to its sponsors."

Another speaker at yesterday's rally was to have been the Rev. J. Frank Norris, fiery Baptist minister of Detroit and Fort Worth, but he failed to appear. His place was taken by the Rev. R. M. Dodrill, Baptist minister of Indianapolis, a member of the Townsend organization. He took the Rev. Mr. Norris' announced topic, "Jesus vs. Hitler," and gave Hitler a resounding excoriation.

Ice Cream Firm's Safe Looted.

Employes of the Banner Ice Cream Co., 3009 North Warne avenue, found on going to work today that the combination of a safe in a second-floor office had been knocked off by burglars, who took $500 in currency. The theft took place after 6 p. m. yesterday. Entrance was gained by forcing open a rear window on the first floor.

NEW TAX INCREASES PRICE OF CIGARETTES

15-Cent Brands Boosted to 17 Cents by Vending Machines 16 by Chain Outlets.

Prices of cigarettes sold today in about 2500 vending machines throughout the city rose 2 cents a package to put the price of the regular 15-cent brands at 17 cents and 3 cents for the 10-cent brands to 13 cents as a result of the new Federal tax on cigarettes of half cent a package, which went into effect at midnight.

Maurice I. Roufa, manager of the Automatic Cigarette Sales Co., 816 South Broadway, said the increase was necessitated because of the new tax. "The individual distributers and the store owners have shared the 2-cent tax levied by the city during last year, but the burden is too much for us to carry now," Roufa said.

A new price schedule by other cigarette retailers, including five drug store chain companies, a grocery chain and a large department store, also went into effect today. Brands selling for 15 cents, two for 29, until yesterday, now cost 16 cents, two for 31; those which cost 12 cents, including city tax, now sell for 13 cents, two for a quarter. Price of the 16-cent, two-for-31 brands were raised to 17 cents, two for 33.

Liquor dealers today also faced new Federal taxes under provisions of the defense bill. The tax on liquor has been increased, effective today, 75 cents a gallon to $3; brandy, 75 cents a gallon to $2.75, and beer, $1 a barrel to $6. Many dealers bought large stocks of liquor in the last few days, but they will be required to pay a tax on the stock on hand, as of yesterday, amounting to the difference between the old and the new rate. Thereafter the new tax will be collected from the manufacturer.

TILE TRUST FINES SUSPENDED ON NO-CONTEST PLEAS HERE

Four of 15 Defendants Assessed $5000 Each, the Rest $1—All Agree to Refrain From Price-Fixing.

Pleas of no contest were made in United States District Court today by the 15 defendants under indictment charging conspiracy to restrain interstate trade in the tile industry and to monopolize installations of tile in the St. Louis area.

Four of the defendants were fined $5000 each and the others $1 each. However, the fines were suspended for three years by Judge George H. Moore on the filing of a civil decree in which the defendants agreed to an injunction restraining practices which resulted in the indictment.

Those who received suspended fines of $5000 were the St. Louis Tile Contractors' Association, Tile Layers' Local Union 18, Albert G. Gruetzemacher, president of the association, and Frank Buchanan, former business agent of Local 18 and its delegate to the Joint Executive Committee of the five local unions in the international union.

Suspended $1 Fines.

Those that received suspended fines of $1 included the Tile Contractors' Association of America, the Weis & Jennett Marble and Tile Co., 3009 Missouri avenue; Interstate Stone and Marble Works, Inc., of East St. Louis; Central Terazzo and Tile Co., 1417 Pine street.

Individuals who received suspended fines of $1 were H. Richardson Cole of Chevy Chase, Md., executive secretary of the National Contractors' Associatoion; Herman F. Ziske, a member of the local association; Joseph F. Barzen, business agent and former president of Local 18; William T. Christy, an officer of the Central Terrazzo & Tile Co.; Carl J. Weis, an officer of Weis & Jennett; William L. Gruetemacher Jr., secretary of Local 18, and Fred E. Karsten, a member of the local union.

As drawn, the consent decree enjoins the association and individual contractors from combining among themselves or with the union to refuse to do business with any manufacturer or contractor, to prevent non-member contractors from obtaining union labor, to participate in any bid deposit or similar device intended to fix prices or limit competition, to penalize association members for selling tile to non-members and to refuse to install tile made by manufacturers dealing with certain firms or individuals.

Provisions of Decree.

Provisions of the decree as to the union are that it be enjoined from preventing or restricting sale of tile to any person or firm, from seeking to influence manufacturers or distributers to deal only with listed contractors that have union agreements and from withholding union labor from any person or firm or from requiring different terms of employment from certain contractors.

The fines and their suspension were recommended by Roscoe T. Steffen, special Assistant United States Attorney-General in charge of anti-trust investigations here. If terms of the injunction are complied with for the three-year period, the fines will be dropped.

The consent decre was signed, by counsel, in behalf of all defendants but Cole and the Natonal Contractors' Association. It was explained that they had consented to a decree in a similar case in United States District Court at Chicago last month, so that no further injunctive terms were necessary as to them.

In Chicago, the international union—Bricklayers', Masons' and Plasterers' Union of America—assumed the responsibility of cooperating wth the Government in preventing illegal restraints of trade by its local units. The international union was not under indictment.

Chicago Tile Trust Finest Postponed Until July 10.

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP).—United States District Judge Michael L. Igoe postponed today until July 10 imposition of fines against 41 individual and corporate defendants in the tile industry who declined to admit or contest charges of violating the anti-trust law.

The continuance was granted on motion of defense counsel, who said negotiations have not been completed for the entry of pleas and consent decrees in Detroit, where a similar case is pending.

Headquarters in Jerusalem Calls for Enlistments for Duration.

JEDUSALEM, July 1 (AP). — In Jerusalem called yesterday for volunteers between the ages of 18 and 45 for "service anywhere in the world for the duration of the war."

The announcement said most of the volunteers would be used in the Middle East air force to fill technical ground jobs.

Contracts Assigned for 11 Cruisers, 20 Destroyers, 13 Submarines, One Seaplane Tender.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—The navy today ordered construction of 45 more warships, to cost a total of approximately $500,000,000.

The largest single contract letting in Navy Department history, the construction was assigned by Lewis Compton, Acting Secretary of the Navy, within two hours after the White House had announced that President Roosevelt had signed legislation to speed up the defense program.

Officials estimated that this legislation, enabling the navy to negotiate contracts without competitive bidding, would result in a saving of $16,000,000 to $17,000,000 —the cost of a cruiser.

11 Cruisers, 20 Destroyers Included.

Included in the construction ordered were 11 cruisers, 20 destroyers, 13 submarines and one large seaplane tender. These will total 193,000 tons. Cost of the 45 vessels, not including armament and propelling machinery for submarines, was estimated at $414,000,000. Officials estimated that armament and the submarine propelling machinery would bring this to more than half a billion.

One of the provisions of the speed-up law permits advance payment to contractors of 30 per cent of the contract total.

Under the law, which is to remain in effect for three years, the President in times of national emergency may increase weekly working hours in shipyards above 48, employes to receive not less than time-and-one-half for overtime, and thereby cut the completion time of ships by an anticipated 20 per cent.

A "national emergency" as defined in the law is covered by Roosevelt's declaration of a limited national emergency last Sept. 8. . .

Some Ships Held Up.

Officials said that a contract for three aircraft carriers and two cruisers had been withheld temporarily pending negotiations with shipbuilding companies.

The navy announcement said the speed with which the construction was assigned was made possible through the co-operation of William S. Knudsen of the National Defense Commission.

Knudsen was one of several of the President's defense advisers at a White House conference today, reportedly dealing with a program for an expanded army emphasizing mechanization and improved equipment of all types.

Louis Johnson, acting Secretary of War, told reporters afterwards that the army program was "fairly well in shape." He said another conference would be held at the White House tomorrow.

Roosevelt also signed bills authorizing appropriations of $18,500,000 for construction at 25 military posts and for acquisition of land at five others.

In the Senate, Senator Connally (Dem.), Texas, introduced a resolution urging that the War and Navy departments insist on its contractors putting on more than one shift of workers, "in order," he said, "to try to utilize 24 hours of the day."

Intensive specialized training began for selected army officers and men. Numerous reserve officers, mostly young lieutenants, reported for active duty with troops, and long-deferred promotions took effect for hundreds of regular army officers.

Key enlisted men started today on specialized army training at 12 service schools previously reserved for officers. They will study the newest methods of mechanized warfare, as well as the skills and trades required by armies of machines. Officers will have intensive one-month training at the same schools.

To Recruit 38,000 Men.

One phase of the army's drive was the recruiting of an additional 38,000 men to bring the ranks of the regulars to 280,000 by September. A further goal of 375,000 already has been set under the latest supplementary fund.

Reserve officers starting active duty today were the first of some 9000 to be called iin the next few months to train new troops and to fill subordinate posts.

In addition, 100 reservists who have just completed a year's active duty became regular army second lieutenants, and the air corps commissioned 69 pilots who have had a reserve status.

Promotion of an estimated 1350 officers already in service—mostly from Captain to Major—was intended to "vitalize" classes of officers whose path to advancement in certain grades had been blocked by the thousands admitted during and immediately following the World War.

To increase facilities for the Army Air Corps' scheme of training 10,600 pilots and other flyers annually, the tactical school at Maxwell Field, Alabama, became one of three major centers of advanced training.

To help provide the $5,661,910,337 voted for defense in the new fiscal year—with possibly more billions still to come—new defense taxes went into effect.

The taxes, which were expected to affect the retail price, took effect last midnight on stocks on hand and future manufactures of cigarettes (½ cent a package), liquor (75 cents a gallon) and beer ($1 a barrel.).

Movie customers started paying a 10 per cent admission tax on all tickets costing 21 cents or more. The tax previously applied only to admissions costing 40 cents or more.

Along with other taxes on toilet preparations, automobiles, radios, refrigerators, matches, electric energy, gasoline, lubricating oil, playing cards and club dues, these levies are expected to bring in about $475,000,000.

The remainder of the $1,000,000,000 of new revenue expected from the defense taxes, will come from higher income taxes payable next March 15.

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—The Ministry of Information warned Britons today to disregard the advice of a "self-styled new British broadcasting company which is a German short-wave station operating from Germany" to flee from their homes in the event of bombardment.

"This advice is directly opposite to the Government's direction to civilians to 'stay put'," the ministry said.

WILLKIE HOPES ROOSEVELT RUNS AGAINST HIM, HE SAYS

"I'd Like to Beat Him," Nominee Tells Reporters—To Rest, Perhaps Until After Democratic Convention.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie went back to work for the last time at his Commonwealth & Southern Corporation offices today before lunching with Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota to discuss campaign and organization problems.

The Republican presidential nominee seemed rested by his week end aboard Roy W. Howard's yacht, but said he still hadn't caught up on sleep and that within a day or two he would start a vacation lasting until perhaps after the Democratic convention beginning in Chicago July 15.

Talking about the Democrats, he said at a press conference that he hoped they would renominate Roosevelt.

"Why?" a reporter asked.

Willkie chuckled, and said:

"I'd like to beat him."

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, who sought the nomination, told reporters today that he would stump for Willkie if asked to do so.

Reticent on Hamilton.

Willkie was reticent about party organization matters and told a reporter who inquired as to National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton's status that "you'd better not guess one way or the other about it."

A meeting will be held in New York Wednesday at which it is expected Hamilton will be re-elected or a new man chosen.

Willkie also had little to say about the party's platform.

"I expect in my acceptance speech to give my views and interpret the platform as I see it," he said.

He was asked about Senator Norris' statement describing Willkie as "Insull the second." Willkie indicated he was taking this and other criticisms in good humor.

"Those statements make me feel just wonderful. The boys down there must have the jitters."

To Delay Acceptance Speech.

Willkie's immediate plans are indefinite, but he said it wasn't likely that his acceptance speech would be made in Elwood, Ind., until after the Democrats meet.

The press conference was held in the Commonwealth & Southern offices. Willkie prepared to tender his resignation as president of the utilities company at a special meeting of the directors later today.

Either before or during his vacation Willkie expects to confer with Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the party's vice-presidential nominee.

Among those who accompanied Willkie on the yacht were Mrs. Willkie and their son, Philip; Mr. and Mrs. Howard, and Russell W. Davenport, former managing editor of Fortune magazine, who took a leading part in Willkie's campaign.

McNary Wants to Be Notified of Nomination at Oregon Home.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—Senator Charles L. McNary wants to receive formal notification of his Republican nomination for Vice-President at his Salem (Ore.) home.

"I'd like to have them (the notification committee) come out to my place," McNary said with a grin, "if they won't hurt my trees."

McNary said that he expected Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, to come to Washington to confer with him during the next few days.

McNary said Willkie "will do most of the campaigning." He said he would make a few radio addresses.

Hundreds of Motorists Visit Willkie's Home Town.

ELWOOD, Ind., July 1 (AP).—Hundreds of motorists made weekend pilgrimages to Elwood to see the birthplace of Wendell L. Willkie and the city where the Republican presidential nominee grow to young manhood.

The most visited sites were the two residences which the Willkie family had occupied and the high school building from whose steps Willkie plans to deliver his acceptance speech.

Business leaders have arranged a non-partisan celebration of the honor bestowed on the city's native son for tomorrow night. After a torchlight parade Homer Chaillaux, Americanism director of the American Legion, will address a mass meeting in the high school gymnasium.

ROOSEVELT URGES STIFF TAX TO CURB EXCESS PROFITS

rates were reduced to a maximum of 40 per cent.

The congressional leaders were told of the tax plan at a regular Monday White House conference with Roosevelt. Attending were Vice-President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Rayburn and Senator Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, Byrnes substituting for Senate Majority Leader Barkley who is in Kentucky.

Rayburn said the question of a congressional adjournment was not brought up but that the Congress probably would recess July 11 for the Democratic convention.

Speaker Bankhead of the House said he saw no reasonwhyan excess profits tax bill could not be considered immediately and Congressional action completed within a reasonably short time.

"Congrescs is probably not going to adjourn for a while," Bankhead said at his press conference.

"The bill probably will be along the lines of the excess profits tax of the World War, designed to prohibit the creation of war millionaires," Bankhead said.

Chairman Doughton (Dem.), North Carolina of the House Ways and Means Committee, expressed belief that the next revenue measure would have more in it than just an excess profits tax.

"We'll have to give study to every phase of taxation," Doughton told reporters.

Demands for Open Hearings.

Senatorial demands were heard for open hearings on the Knox-Stimson Cabinet appointments.

Protesting that a "secret hearing would be very dangerous at this particular time," Senator Holt (Dem.), West Virginia, said he would refuse to be bound by any secrecy pledge.

"They can expel me from the Senate, but I won't be quiet about this," added Holt, a member of the Naval Committee which will hear Col. Frank Knox, designated Secretary of the Navy, testify tomorrow on his qualification.

Chairman Walsh (Dem.), Massachusetts, had announced that the committee session would be closed to the public.

While it is going on, the Senate Military Committee will ask Henry L. Stimson about his qualifications to be Secretary of War. Chairman Sheppard (Dem.), Texas, said this hearing probably would be private, although it had not been definitely decided.

Senator Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, a member of the Naval Committee, said he would request a public hearing on Knox's selection unless the appointee asked for a closed session.

Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, suggested that Republicans might well seek views of Wendell L. Willkie, the party's presidential nominee, adding that Senate confirmation of the Cabinet officers was "certain to kick up a ruckus."

Comment by McNary.

Senator McNary (Rep.), Oregon, minority floor leader and his party's vice-presidential nominee, said the appointments "are not a partisan matter."

"Confirmation will depend upon testimony and evidence at the hearings," he said. "Some Senators fear that these men in important Cabinet places might get us into war."

McNary said he would not object to any attempt to speed a vote, but added that the Senate should be able to act before it recesses July 15 for the Democratic convention.

Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, agreed, but said recent statements of Stimson contained "elements that require substantial explanation before I could even approach a favorable attitude."

Stimson, former Secretary of State, has publicly urged aid by this country for the Allies.

Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, said last night in a Chicago speech that he would oppose confirmation of both Knox and Stimson because "both the gentlemen are publicly avowed proponents of American intervention."

"They ought to be members of Mr. Willkie's Cabinet," he said, repeating his threat to bolt the Democratic party if it became a "war party."

More Noticeable in Last 10 Days, He Asserts—Declines to Comment on Willkie.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1 (AP).—Herbert Hoover arrived by plane from New York yesterday and said "the country is stiffening more than ever against being involved in war abroad."

"This has become more noticeable in the past 10 days," he asserted.

The former President, en route to his Palo Alto home, declined to discuss Republican Presidential Nominee Wendell Willkie's chances of election.

"I wouldn't like to make any statement about Mr. Willkie without giving more careful thought to the matter," he said.

SHARED PROFITS WITH DICKMANN CO., WITNESS SAYS

Weinberg Tells of Arrangement With Firm —Previous Hestimony That Straw Deal Was His.

Max Weinberg had an understanding with the Joseph F. Dickmann Real Estate Co. to share equally with it his profits and commissions in real estate deals, he testified in Circuit Court today under cross-examination by counsel for the State Finance Department in its accounting suit against the Dickmann firm.

The arrangement was made, he explained, because the Dickmann company had given him use of desk space and other facilties in its office. He had described himself previously as an independent real estate operator, who used the Dickmann license.

On direct examination he had testified it was he, not the Dickmann company as the State contends, who bought eight pieces of real estate from the closed Kirkwood Trust Co., under liquidation by the State Finance Department, through Charles Oheim as straw man. The State contends that the Dickmann firm, acting as sales agent for the bank liquidator, bought the properties through Oheim for itself, without disclosing it was the real purchaser, then resold them at a profit of nearly $9000.

Weinberg was asked by Clyde C. Cope, of counsel for the Finance Department, when he informed Otto J. Dickmann, vice-president and active head of the real estate company, that he had bought the Kirkwood Trust properties.

"It was after I found out they weren't such a bargain as I'd thought," was the reply. Weinberg had just testified on direct examination that he had been under heavy expense for repairs to the properties, advertising them for sale and in other ways. One of the properties, he remarked, "was one of the biggest headaches I ever had." Judge Eugene L. Padberg ordered this remark struck from the record.

Under further cross-examination, Weinberg related that when he informed Otto Dickmann of his purchase he asked Dickmann to help him finance it. Subsequently, he continued, the Dickmann company borrowed $15,000 from the First National Bank for this purpose. Much of the collateral was put up by himself, Weinberg added, stating the loan was repaid in 5 days.

Weinberg testified he had used Oheim's name as straw party in a "good many" deals. Oheim has testified he acted as straw party for the Dickmann firm in numerous transactions over a period of six years. Oheim did not, however, testify specifically that he was straw man for the company in the purchase of the Kirkwood Trust properties.

Asked whether he had told Oscar Wibbing, who was liquidator for the bank, that Oheim was his straw party, he answered, "He should have known it—he knew I was the buyer." Wibbing's testimony for the State was that he had taken it for granted that Oheim was the buyer as his name appeared on the sales contract.

Through the accounting suit, an equity proceeding, the Finance Department seeks, for depositors of the closed bank, any profits or commission made by the Dickmann company in the Kirkwood Trust transaction.

HOUSE FOR U. S. SUPERVISION OF COMMUNIST PARTY, BUND

Passes Without Debate Bill Committee Says Will Accomplish This Object.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—The House passed without debate and sent to the Senate today legislation which the Judiciary Committee said would subject the Communist party and the German-American Bund to registration with and close scrutiny of the Justice Department.

The measure would require the registration of:

1. Organizations subject to foreign control which engage in political activity.
2. Organizations which engage both in civilian military activity and in political activity.
3. Organizations subject to foreign control which engage in civilian military activity.
4. Organizations any of whose purposes or aims is the establishment, control, conduct, seizure or overthrow of a government by the use of force, violence, military measures or threats thereof.

AVIATION CONTROL BACK IN COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Civil Aeronautics Authority, Which Was Independent, Becomes Civil Aeronautics Board.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—The Commerce Department regained today its former control over commercial and private aviation.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority, created by Congress two years ago as an independent agency, became the Civil Aeronautics Board within the framework of Secretary Hopkins' department.

Col. Donald H. Connelly is slated to become administrator of civil aeronautics, succeeding Clinton M. Hester, who is resigning to enter private law practice.

The Weather Bureau became a unit of the Commerce Department. The Food and Drugs Administration was placed under the Federal Security Administration, headed by Paul V. McNutt. The two agencies have been in the Agriculture Department.

President Roosevelt's reorganization order of last spring provided for the shifts.

HALLETTSVILLE, Tex., July 1 (AP).—Deaths in Texas floods mounted to eight today as rescue workers in Southern and Central Texas dug through the mud-smeared debris of river bank homes seeking additional victims.

Mayor J. G. Traxler estimated damage here would total $1,000,000. He said Red Cross relief workers were assisting several hundred homeless. Fears of epidemic dwindled as the city water supply cleared up. It was first believed it had been contaminated.

Several hundred persons were rescued from homes and the tops of buildings by boatmen in the Hallettsville and Cuero areas.

have the means to defend themselves."

Collapse as Military Power.

The full collapse of France as a military Power is just beginning to be realized in France itself. The destruction of the army left the nation stunned.

French leaders, including aged Marshal Henri Petain, whose tragic task it was to sue for peace, now admit that the collapse of the army was due to three causes:

1. Lack of equipment.
2. Lack of man-power.
3. Lack of determination.

The lack of equipment, which is emphasized as the outstanding reason for France's defeat, centered in aviation and tanks, Germany's main weapons.

Nazi Air Edge of 6 to 1.

In a radio speech to the nation, Petain admitted German air superiority was 6 to 1. Time and again I saw three or four French pursuit ships rise to attack massed squadrons of 60 to 80 German bombers protected by 40 to 60 chasers.

The Germans organized their attack aviation so as to make simultaneous use of dive bombers and machine-gunning hedge-hoppers. They were able to hurl 300 and 400 planes against a five-mile sector of the French front.

When the blitzkrieg started with a German attack against Holland and Belgium the entire French attack aviation numbered only 510 planes.

It was only in November, two months after the European war started, that the French began training attack aviation crews for the highly specialized types of aerial warfare.

6000 Tanks Against 2500.

In tanks, the German numerical superiority was less marked, although modern equipment and concentration of attack made the effect almost the same.

The Germans apparently used 12 armored divisions in the battle of France, each numbering at least 500 tanks. The most optimistic estimate of the French tanks was about 2500 and many of these were far from modern.

In Gen. Corap's Ninth Army, which was along the Meuse in the German's first main break-through, I saw 1918 vintage tanks in action.

The lack of communication and transport equipment in Corap's army was so pronounced that a member of his general staff told me two days before it was captured by the Nazis that there was only the flimsiest of liaison between army headquarters and the general staff.

French Tanks Strung Out.

While the Germans concentrated their tank divisions against narrow sectors to gain maximum effect, the French dispersed theirs all along the front, allotting two or three companies of four tanks each to strategically-located mechanized divisions.

The French armored division assigned to the highly important Rethel bridgehead across the Aisne near the Maginot line, for example, was compelled to rehabilitate captured German tanks to hold its positions as long as it did.

Many French divisions were incompletely equipped with anti-tank defenses. The General commanding a division holding a bend in the Chiers River, just east of Rethel, told me proudly two days before the Germans began their general offensive along the Somme-Aisne line, that "all my division has been completely installed except my anti-tank company."

Allies Lacked Man-Power.

The Allied armies' lack of man-power meant that the Somme-Aisne lines had to be lightly held. In some sectors German troops outnumbered the French as much as 5 to 1.

This was especially true in the Meuse-Argonne sector, where the Germans threw in most of their available fresh divisions on the third day of attack to split off the Maginot Line.

The Allied lack of man-power was due in part to the difference between 10 British divisions fighting in France in 1940 as against 85 in the critical phases of the last war, also to Italy's entry into the war on Germany's side.

The latter deficiency had a double effect, for the French not only were unable to count on Italian divisions to immobilize an equal number of German divisions; they themselves had to keep a full army at the Alpine frontier.

The basic reason for the lack of man-power, however, must be sought in the difference in populations: France 40,000,000, Germany 80,000,000.

Lack of Determination.

French lack of determination to fight completes the picture of collapse in only one month of "real" warfare.

Marshal Petain himself painted the best picture of this fatal flaw when he said that Frenchmen in 1939 failed to march to the colors with the same enthusiasm as in 1914 because they did not understand the reasons for the war.

Equally important was the feeling among Frenchmen that they were bearing the brunt of the fighting, with men of 48 in the front line while Britain had not yet mobilized its men of 28.

That is no reflection on the bravery of the French soldier. When the time came he took terrific punishment and died in his tracks. The long months of waiting, coupled with lack of men and equipment, however, had its effect on the quality of French resistance. All along, the French soldier much rather would have been back at home, tilling his fields or working in factories.

SIX-PAGE BRITISH PAPERS

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Morning newspapers were reduced from eight to six pages yesterday to save paper.

"And I alone escaped to tell the tale..."

"There once was a holiday called the 4th of July and every year people were in such a hurry to enjoy this holiday that they jumped into their cars and rushed out to bump into other cars and turn each other over — and run off of mountains and hit each other sideways until one year there were so many people in cars doing so many things they shouldn't have, that when the 4th of July was over and it was time for people to come back from the country and the mountains and the seashore there was nobody to come at all . . . . . and I discovered that I alone had lived to tell the tale!"

This 4th of July week end will be the longest in many years THURSDAY TO MONDAY which means that auto accidents will probably be the highest in many years. Care and courtesy could cut these accidents in half. Let's try.

BRITISH ARE READY TO DEFEND FRENCH MANDATED AREAS

London Says It Could Not Permit Syria or Lebanon to Be Occupied by Hostile Power.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—The Foreign Office news department, clarifying the British attitude on [illegible] following French Gen. Mittelhauser's cessation of hostilities, said today Britain "could not allow Syria or the Lebanon to be occupied by any hostile Power."

A statement said the British Government assumed that the action of Gen. Mittelhauser, commander of the French forces in the Near East, did not mean that if Germany or Italy sought to occupy Syria or Lebanon, which France has held under mandate, the French forces would not oppose them.

The statement follows:

"His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom understand that Gen. Mittelhauser, the commander-in-chief of the French forces in the Levant, has stated that hostilities have ceased in Syria.

"His Majesty's Government assume that this does not mean that if Germany or Italy sought to occupy Syria or the Lebanon and were to try to do so in the face of British command of the sea, no attempt would be made by the French forces to oppose them.

"In order, however, to set at rest doubts which may be felt in any quarter, His Majesty's Government declare that they could not allow Syria or the Lebanon to be occupied by any hostile Power or to be used as a base for attacks upon those countries in the Middle East which they are pledged to defend, or to become the scene of such disorder as to constitute a danger to those countries.

"They therefore hold themselves free to take whatever measures they may in such circumstances consider necessary in their own interests. Any action which they may hereafter be obliged to take in fulfillment of this declaration will be entirely without prejudice to the future status of the territories now under French mandate."

The Middle East countries — the term the British use where others would say Near Eastern — which Britain is pledged to defend are Turkey, Egypt, Palestine, Transjordan and Iraq.

Turkey Reported Cold to British Plan to Occupy Syria.

ANKARA, July 1 (AP). — Great Britain has sounded out Turkey and Iraq on possible British occupation of Syria, but Turkey has turned a deaf ear, informed political circles reported yesterday.

Turkey was said to have expressed interest only in defending its own frontiers, and in that connection it was learned authoritatively that it considers even the Balkan Entente—once a cardinal point in its foreign policy—to be dead as a result of the new situation in Europe.

GERMANS OCCUPY GUERNSEY, JERSEY OFF FRENCH COAST

"Two of the sunken steamers were torpedoed from a strongly protected convoy.

"Lieutenant-Captain Prien during recent days destroyed additional enemy merchant ships. Tonnage of steamers sunk by his boat as announced in the high command report of June 28 thus increased to 51,086 registered tons.

"German fighting planes last night again raided several ports on the Scotch east coast as well as the English west and east coasts.

"They obtained good results. A group of nine British Blenheim fighting planes, which were under protection of chasers, attempted to attack the airport of Merville-Lestrem near Lille at noon June 30, were dispersed by anti-aircraft while approaching and later engaged in hectic air fights with our chasers.

"In this action we succeeded in shooting down six Blenheim planes as well as three British chasers. Attacks of enemy planes against non-military targets in Northern, Western and Southern Germany in the course of last night caused little damage to property.

"On June 30 a total of 18 British planes were shot down, 11 of which were in air fights, seven by anti-aircraft.

"One German plane is missing."

Hitler at Maginot Line.

While French and German delegates were conferring on fulfillment of the armistice terms, Adolf Hitler made a tour yesterday of Maginot line defenses.

The French-German Commission held its first meeting at Wiesbaden, watering place on the Rhine.

Less than 175 miles to the south, Hitler visited "various heavily armed works" of the $500,000,000 defense system near Mulhouse and in upper Alsace which, said the Nazi high command, "were made incapable of resistance by new German weapons in the shortest time."

The Nazi command reported successful air attacks on Britain and asserted British raids on Germany were ineffective.

Sunday Communique.

"No special events in France or at sea.

"Last night German fighting planes attacked harbor facilities and munitions works in England and Scotland with bombs. Explosions and fires were observed at many places, especially so in the harbors of Cardiff and Bristol, where several tanks went up in flames.

"Air fields at Lincoln, Nottingham and York were the objectives of further successful air attacks.

"British planes bombed non-military objectives at several places in northern and western Germany by night. The damage was insignificant.

"In one city in western Germany a British plane machine-gunned a fire-fighting unit seeking to extinguish a flaming house.

"Four enemy planes were shot down by anti-aircraft. One of our own planes is missing."

A Cologne radio broadcast, listing 16 dead and 11 wounded as a result of a British raid at Wahn, 10 miles southeast of Cologne, on Friday night, said English flyers who appeared over Northwestern Germany Saturday night dropped their bombs with negligible results.

(A Reuters British news agency, dispatch to London from Clermont-Ferrand said Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain and the French Government had arrived there from Bordeaux, and later would go to Vichy, to be joined by the French Chamber of Deputies and the Senate.

(A broadcast on the Berlin wavelength intercepted by NBC in New York said:

("The French Government does not intend to remain in Clermont-Ferrand and Gen. Huntziger of France (member of the French armistice commission) is said to have raised the question of the eventual return to Paris of the French Government."

(Under the armistice terms, the French Government was to be permitted to return to Paris although the former capital now is in German-occupied territory.)

TWO ISLES UNDER CROWN SINCE NORMANDY'S DUKES BECAME ENGLAND'S KINGS

THE English Channel islands have ruled themselves under the English crown, last trace of the days when the Kings of England also were the Dukes of Normandy.

Jersey and Guernsey are the principal islands, Jersey with an area of 45 square miles and a population of 49,000 and Guernsey 24.5 square miles and 38,000 population. They became part of the French Duchy of Normandy in 933 A. D., under Duke William, who conquered Saxon Harold at Hastings in 1066 and became William I. of England.

The people still speak a French patois, but English is the language of business.

KING GEORGE VISITS COAST TO CHECK UP ON DEFENSES

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—King George accompanied by several army officers motored today to a southeast coast town and inspected defense preparations.

450 A F L ELECTRICIANS STRIKE FOR WAGE RISE

Demand 30-Cents-an-Hour Increase to $1.80; City Projects, 47 Firms Affected.

About 450 construction electricians, members of the AFL Electrical Workers Local No. 1, went on strike today in support of demands for a wage increase of 30 cents an hour, to $1.80.

The strike affects 47 firms, including 27 in the Electrical Contractors' Association, but does not involve maintenance or radio electricians. Electrical work on the new City Hospital addition, the Chippewa viaduct and several other large construction jobs was stopped.

A wage contract between Local No. 1 and employers, calling for $1.50 an hour, expired last night. The union is demanding a graduated increase to bring the scale for wiremen to $1.80 on next April 1. Associated contractors rejected the demand on the ground that conditions do not warrant higher wages. Union executives said several independent contractors had indicated a willingness to sign the new agreement.

Harry Brady, who succeeded the late Arthur Schading as business agent of Local No. 1, was defeated for re-election at a union election Saturday. The new business agent, who will take office next Friday, is James Morrell. Schading was shot and killed by unidentified gunmen at the door of the union hall, Boyle and Gibson avenues.

BRITISH JAIL WOMAN WAR WORKER WHO REPEATED A RUMOR

Air Force Telephone Operator Gets Three Months Because of Parachute Report.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Maureen Jacques, 25 years old, a member of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, employed as a telephone operator, was sent to jail for three months today for repeating a rumor that parachutists had landed in an English town.

The Ministry of Information today issued an official statement that "reports that German troops have landed on the British coast and by parachute in the West Midlands are untrue."

920 END CIO STRIKE AT GRANITE CITY PLANT

Wage Negotiations Continued — 42 A F L Machinists Still Picketing.

The 920 CIO steel workers at the National Enameling and Stamping Co. plant in Granite City, who had been on strike three weeks, went back to work today with the understanding that negotiations for restoration of a 7½ per cent wage cut, imposed in 1938, would be continued.

A strike at the plant was continued, however, by 42 members of the AFL machinists' union, who are seeking a 10 per cent wage increase besides restoration of the cut. The CIO workers had at first refrained from working when they refused to cross the AFL picket line. Later they made their strike official. They were not molested when they went through the AFL picket line today.

James Menzie, district representative of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, said there was no need to continue the strike, since the company had agreed to keep up the negotiations. He said that the union had already gained restoration of the closed shop and a promise of some vacation plan in the negotiations. The company manufactures electrical appliances.

HUNDREDS REPORTED KILLED IN RIOTING IN RUMANIAN CITY

Government Says Workers Returning to Bessarabia Revolted—Another Version Is That Jews Broke Out of Prison Camp.

By LELAND STOWE
The Chicago Daily News—Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1940.

SOFIA, July 1.—According to most reliable information, obtained directly from Bucharest at noon today, the aggressive nature of the Red army's occupation tactics has aroused serious concern among Rumanian Government leaders and a large proportion of the population and fears are accentuated by the disrupted situation of Rumanian troops which are being compelled to withdraw under extreme pressure. Chaotic conditions have also been increased, in many cases, by crowds of civilians who are trying to evacuate the ceded areas of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina. Under such circumstances, it would admittedly be extremely difficult for the Rumanian army if it should be obliged to turn now and try to hold up the Soviet advance. The intentions of the Moscow high command remain veiled but menacing.

Meanwhile, disorders have broken out in border areas close to Bessarabia and riots of obscure origin have provoked bloodshed on a large scale in the important lower Danubian city of Galati. Between 200 and 300 persons are said to have been killed when Rumanian troops intervened to restore order. Galati is a key city and controls traffic up the Danube. It lies just inside Rumania below the proposed new Bessarabian frontier. It is generally recognized that the Soviets would like to have control of Galati itself.

According to one report, 700 Jews broke out from a concentration camp yesterday, entered Galati and began pillaging shops. This version is discredited by observers who point out that Jewish refugees would scarcely attempt to invade a city of 150,000, heavily policed by Rumanian regiments. A second and much more credible version of the disorders attributes the riots to convicts who escaped from a nearby detention camp. Presumably the convicts were joined by Communists who may have been instructed to create conditions which might serve as an excuse for the occupation of Galati by Soviet troops.

(The Rumanian Minister of the Interior, in a communique issued today, said the disturbance occurred when 200 workmen revolted "while awaiting transportation to Bessarabia at their own request." The communique said Rumanian soldiers and police were forced to fire on the workers to re-establish order and that two soldiers and one policeman were killed. Casualties among the workmen were not given.

(DNB, official German news agency in Berlin, reported several hundred persons were killed at Galati when Rumanian troops put down an "armed Jewish uprising." The German radio estimated the dead at 600, with many more wounded.

(The German radio said about 2000 Jews who had gone from Galati to Reni to seek Soviet citizenship had been returned under guard of Rumanian soldiers. The group made a break for freedom, the radio declared, and Rumanian troops shot down many with machine guns in an attempt to round them up.)

Bulgarian authorities are reserved about the present turmoil which surrounds the Russian occupation of what was formerly Northeastern Rumania.

Bulgaria and Dobruja.

They also say that they have no information about a reported withdrawal of Rumanian detachments from Southern Dobruja, an area inhabited by 500,000 Bulgarians and claimed by Bulgaria. It is emphasized here in Sofia that Bulgaria has no desire to recover Southern Dobruja by force and that no Bulgarian forces have made the slightest advance along that disputed frontier.

There is no concealing the fact, however, that Soviet expansion down the coast of the Black Sea—and hence into the immediate political zone of the Balkan countries—has assumed a determined and dynamic character. The Red Army's high speed seizure of Bessarabia, still lacking in any indication that it intends to respect any fixed limits, seems greatly to increase the widespread Balkan conviction that Soviet Russia is determined to push its outposts as far as possible into the Balkans while Germany and Italy are still preoccupied with the war against Britain.

Moscow's present attitude also lends color to persistent rumors that the Soviets have their eyes on the Dardanelles and have even demanded that the Turks grant them naval bases or control of that vital exit into the Aegean Sea. Perhaps Russia has not yet put the screws on Turkey in regard to control of the Dardanelles, but Balkan observers now feel certain that this is the Kremlin's final objective and that action in that direction will only be a question of time.

NINE FRENCH PLANES LAND AT GIBRALTAR; SOME CRACK UP

One Is Fired On Crossing Over Spain; Twin-Engined Ship Shot Down Previously.

CADIZ, Spain, July 1 (AP).—Nine French airplanes, flown by army aviators at odds with the Petain Government, were reported today to have landed at Gibraltar, British Western Mediterranean stronghold.

Several were said to have cracked up in landing and one, which crossed over Spanish soil, was fired at by Spanish anti-aircraft batteries.

A French twin-engined plane was shot down at Gibraltar yesterday by fire from a Spanish frontier post. It crashed flaming into the sea. Two French airmen were pulled out, but died. Others were believed to have gone down with the plane which, apparently, infringed Spanish territory while preparing to land at Gibraltar.

Court Ends Prohibition in Bombay.

Does that sticky, hot, "steam bath" feeling hang over your kitchen when you cook a meal in summer? Do you sometimes think you can't cook another meal when it's so hot? If that's the case, the first thing to do is switch to an electric range. You'll be "turning the switch" to cooler, more enjoyable cooking not only in summer but all year 'round. Gone will be those insufferable daily heat waves in the kitchen. In their place will be a kitchen free from excessive heat — a kitchen in which cooking ceases to be a task.

An electric range will let you cook the meals you know the family wants but you have had to forego before because of the heat. You'll want an electric range, too, for preserving and canning fruits and vegetables this summer.

FIRE CAUSES $1800 DAMAGE TO ADJOINING BUILDINGS

Third Alarm When Flames Threaten Six-Story Furniture Warehouse Nearby.

Fire of undetermined origin caused $1800 damage last night to a one-story frame building and a two-story brick structure at the rear of the Meier & Pohlmann Furniture Co. warehouse, 1942 North Second street.

The fire was discovered in the frame Building at 9:50 o'clock and it soon spread to the adjoining buildng. When the flames threatened the large six-story warehouse, a third alarm was sounded. Five hook and ladder and 15 engine companies were sent to the scene.

The fire was confined to the two small buildings, which were empty. Flames broke out again briefly in the roof of the two-story building shortly after midnight, but they were extinguished quickly and no additional damage resulted.

BOY'S AUTO KILLS WOMAN ON ROAD IN COUNTY; HE FLEES

16-Year-Old Driver Arrested at Home After He Abandons Damaged Machine in City.

Mrs. William Holtmann, 60 years old, who had been reported missing from her home, 4109 Walsh street, was struck and killed by an automobile at Highway 66 and McKenzie road, St. Louis County, shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

The driver, 16-year-old Joseph Weber Jr., 2930 Tamm avenue, was arrested about two hours later at his home after his automobile was found damaged and abandoned in the 6700 block of Smiley avenue. Police said Weber admitted striking Mrs. Holtmann and said he fled because three boys riding with him refused to help him place her in the machine and one remarked, "You will get into trouble if you take her to a hospital."

Mrs. Holtmann was found by a motorist at 3:30 a'clock and was taken to St. Louis County Hospital, where she died an hour later of skull and internal injuries. A radiator ornament and the car nameplate, knocked off by the impact, were found in the road. Weber said he abondoned his machine when the motor faltered and he and one of his companions returned to the scene in another automobile, but Mrs. Holtmann had been taken away. He was placed under bond for the Coroner.

Mrs. Holtmann lived with her invalid husband. A relative reported her absence from home about two hours before she was struck. Police did not learn why she was walking on the highway.

Mother and Daughter Killed in Crash Near Edwardsville.

Mrs. Henry L. Gehner, 45 years old, and her 13-year-old daughter, Nadine, of Mount Olive, Ill., were killed and four other members of the family were injured when their automobile was forced off Highway 66, four miles northeast of Edwardsville, and collided head on with another automobile in getting back on the pavement at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mrs. Gehner died of a crushed skull. The girl, whose skull, legs and arms were fractured, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Granite City, last night. Gehner, a coal miner, his daughter, Adehyde, 17, and a son, Lemoine, 14, were cut and bruised. Another daughter, Roleen, 11, is in St. Elizabeth's Hospital with a broken shoulder.

Richard H. Johnson of Champaign, Ill., told highway police he was driving north and saw the Gehner machine, and a red transport truck coming toward him. The truck cut sharply in front of Gehner's car and sped on, Johnson said. Gehner was forced off the pavment and collided with Johnson's automobile when he swerved on to the roadway.

Dies of Injuries Suffered in Accident Which Killed Another.

George Benish, 50 years old, a freight clerk for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, died last night at St. Louis County Hospital of head injuries suffered Friday night in a head-on collision on Lindbergh boulevard in which the second driver, Ballard Richardson, was killed.

Richardson, a cook at Veteran's Hospital, was driving to County Hospital to call for his wife, a nurse. His machine grazed another automobile, then crashed into the Benish car. Benish, residing at 8747 Eulalie avenue, Brentwood, was accompanied by his wife and daughter, who were injured also.

Woman Killed When Auto Crashes Into Train.

Mrs. Catherine Hyland, 50 years old, 2023 Bryan avenue, Granite City, was killed when her automobile, driven by her 18-year-old son, James, collided with an Alton Railroad passenger train at the Twenty-second street crossing in Granite City at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The automobile was thrown into a ravine beside the tracks, where it was seen a few minutes later by a motorist. Mrs. Byland was dead of a fractured skull. Her son was unconscious, but was revived at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where he was found to have suffered cuts and bruises.

The train, with the crew unaware of the accident, continued on to Springfield, where a broken airline indicated the coach which was struck by the automobile. The crossing has no gates or electric signal.

Miss Miriam Printy Seriously Hurt in Auto Collision.

Miss Miriam Printy, 21 years old, 17 Vandeventer place, was injured seriously yesterday morning in an automobile collision at Highway 66 and Bellefontaine road.

She was riding with Lon Marlowe 5660 Kingsbury avenue; Burton Reavis, 5514 Pershing avenue, and Hoover W. Ray, 5455 Delmar boulevard, on their way to a country club for a golf game. Marlowe's machine and a car driven by Elaine Barr, 536 Scranton avenue, Riverview Gardens, collided. Miss Printy, Marlowe and Reavis were taken to St. Luke's Hospital, where she was found to have suffered a skull injury. Marlowe and Reavis were cut and bruised. Barr and his companion, William Reak, 427 Bluff drive, Riverview Gardens, are in St. Louis County Hospital. Reak with a skull injury andr fractured ribs and Barr with a skull injury.

Goering Tours Paris in Open Auto; Takes Up Quarters in Hotel Ritz

PARIS, June 28 (By airplane courier to Berlin—delayed.) (AP).—Smiling broadly, and resplendent in his white uniform, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi, rode into Paris in an open car today on the anniversary of the signing of the Versailles Treaty.

Cafe terraces were crowded, but there was little pomp about his visit, and no demonstration. After his tour of the grand boulevards, Goering took a suite at the Hotel Ritz.

The German military government proclaimed the application of German criminal law to Paris with penalties running up to death for offenses such as the possession of arms or broadcasting apparatus. The decree provided that violations of Nazi law would be judged by military tribunals or special courts.

Crimes listed included unauthorized relations with prisoners, issuance of anti-German tracts, participation in public gatherings or anti-German demonstrations, strikes or the discharge of workers, listening to non-German broadcasts and circulation of anti-German news.

Armistice terms by Germany and Italy were published for the Paris population.

"Although very serious for us, the conditions by the Reich do not sully French honor," said the Paris newspaper, Le Matin.

Another newspaper, Les Dernieres Nouvelles, said that disarmament and occupation of France has put the country "in a position of neutrality." It urged "absolute correctness in our relations with representatives of the country which has conquered us.

"Let us do justice to them; they have not made life hard for citizens who respect their rules," the newspaper added. "And to allay our grief let us work without respite for the recovery of old Gaul which has become suffering France."

German banking officials indicated to Paris bankers they would facilitate the return of normal financial measures as quickly as possible.

Paris bankers said they were asked by the German officials to reopen their banks as soon as they could muster their staffs, and expressed a hope the Bank of France would operate.

French control of credit export was declared satisfactory by the Germans, who said its measures would be continued. Import and export of merchandise will be facilitated.

German money will be interchangeable with francs at the established rate of 20 francs to the mark. (The nominal value of the mark is 40 cents.)

The German "Kreditkasse" which opened quarters in Lloyds Bank is primarily for German army requirements, but authorities said arrangements may be made to advance credits in currency until the French banks are in operation.

Golfer Killed by Lightning.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., July 1 (AP).—Edwin R. Weeks, 72 years old, of Binghamton, former president of the National Music Dealers' Association, and father of Barbara Weeks, one-time stage and screen actress, was killed by lightning yesterday when playing golf at the Binghamton Country Club.

JULY RELIEF GRANT LEAVES STATE $3932

$261,930 Allotted — Time Not Set for Convening Special Session.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 1.—The State Social Security Commission scraped the bottom of the State's appropriation for direct unemployment relief today with an allotment of $261,930 for Missouri during July.

This allotment will leave a balance of only $3932 at the end of July, from the original appropriation of $6,500,000 made by the 1939 Legislature for the biennial period of 1939 and 1940.

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark heretofore has said he would call a special session of the Legislature to appropriate additional funds for relief, before the present apporiation was exhausted, but he has not indicated the date for the call. It has been expected the session probably would be called for the latter part of this month.

The allotment of $261,930 for the entire State this month is designed to provide for an estimated relief load of 22,741 cases, each case averaging three persons. This is an average of $11.52 a case, the same average as for June, when $270,839 was alloted for 23,504 cases.

St. Louis' Share.

The allotment for St. Louis for the month is $109,000 for an estimated load of 6200 cases. The commission announced the average allowance per case in St. Louis would be $17.50 this month. This is the same as for June. The original allotment to the city last month was $110,000 for about 6200 cases, but the commission allowed the city an additional $3000 during the month.

Gov. Stark last month announced the special session would be called in time to provide additional funds and asserted there would be no gap between the exhaustion of the present appropriation and the convening of the Legislature.

At that time he said he would limit the special session, under his constitutional powers, to the one legislative subject of relief. While he may limit the purposes of the special session, as to enactment of legislation, the Governor has no control over the length of the session once convened.

It has been estimated that between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 would be required for relief during the remainder of the year, after July. Expenditures from the original appropriation for 1939-1940 have averaged slightly more than $340,000 a month for the first 19 months of the biennium, including the July allotment.

Pensions Delayed.

The commission was forced to withhold payment of July old age assistance payments today because Federal funds for the first quarter of the new fiscal year have been "temporarily delayed."

Administrator George I. Haworth said the checks to Missouri's 95,737 pensioners, 3705 more than the rolls carried last month, had been made out but could not be mailed until the Federal money is received, probably in a few days.

An appropriation of $9,000.00 for relief was recommended to the 1939 Legislature by Gov. Stark, after the Social Security Commission asked for $15,516,000 for the biennial period. In 1939, Gov. Stark authorized the commission to increase the monthly allotments, at a rate that would exhaust the appropriation before the end of the biennium, because of demands for more adequate allowances, particularly in St. Louis.

Movie Salaries Top All Others In Supplemental 1938 Tax List; Stars Paid More Than Bankers

Louis P. Mayer $688,000, and Shirley Temple $307,014, as Against $97,908 for Stettinius and $101,575 for Myron C. Taylor.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Movie executives, directors and stars far outstrip bankers and industrialists in a supplementary list, made public yesterday by the Treasury Department of about 250 individuals whose income from corporations for personal services exceeded $75,000 in the calendar year 1938 or the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939. Several hundred names in this category were issued in January. In most cases, the new list includes corporations which requested additional time for filing their income tax returns. No Missourians figure on the present schedule.

Shirley Temple, child movie star, shaded William S. Knudsen, who in 1938 was president of General Motors, but now is working without salary for the National Defense Commission. Her pay was $307,014 while Knudsen's was $303,400.

The highest income revealed is that of Louis B. Mayer of Loew's, Inc., whose salary of $147,250 and bonuses of $541,119.45 made a total income for the year of $688,369.45. In order among big money makers in the cinema industry ranked Wallace Beery, $355,000; Hunt Stromberg, $328,817.73; Joan Crawford, $305,384.43; Norma Shearer, $300,000; Mervyn Leroy, $300,000; Frank Capra, $294,166.67; N. M. Schenck, $275,673.13; Clark Gable, $272,000; Greta Carbo, $270,000; Fred Astaire, $266,837.36; H. B. Wallis, $260,000; Irene Dunne, $255,222.79; E. J. Mannix, $249,481.97; Sam Katz, $247,756.97; James Cagney, $243,000; Al Lichtman, $229,391.73; J. Robert Rubin, $218,423.10; Ginger Rogers, $218,767.67; Pandro S. Berman, $213,773.93; Spencer Tracy, $212,000; and Robert Montgomery, $209,750.

Industrialists' Incomes.

In contrast to these figures are $97,908 paid to Edward R. Stettinius Jr. and $101,575 to Myron C. Taylor as board chairman and chief executive officer respectively of the United States Steel Corporation. As president of the Coco-Cola Co., Robert W. Woodruff received $163,050. Arthur C. Dorrance was paid $90,875 as president of the Campbell Soup Co., and the late Henry L. Doherty got $100,000 as president of Henry L. Doherty & Co., Inc.

The largest earning credited to any individual outside the movies was $277,185.37 for Edward C. Stone of Boston, president of the United States branch of the Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, Ltd.

Some of the other figures are as follows: Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, $109,999.92; Sydney G. McAllister, president of the International Harvester Co., $83,368.72; Henry W. Phelps, board chairman of the American Can Co., $151,600; George W. Davison, board chairman of the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., $100,000; Percy H. Johnston, board chairman of the Chemical Bank & Trust Co., $103,000; William C. Potter, chairman of the Guaranty Trust Co., $105,774.05; Leroy A. Lincoln, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., $125,000; and Thomas A. Buckner, board chairman of the New York Life Insurance Co., $99,999.84.

$104,000 for Walt Disney.

Earnings of other famous figures connected with the movies are listed as follows: Walter E. Disney, $104,111.11; Leopold Stokowski, $80,000; Joe E. Brown, $165,000; Oliver Hardy, $116,850; Walter Connolly, $82,500; Cary Grant, $181,250; Katharine Hepburn, $75,000; Lionel Barrymore, $136,584.82; Freddie Bartholomew, $118,166.66; Fanny Brice, $166,500; Claudette Colbert, $125,000; Nelson Eddy, 146,416.37; Anita Loos, $87,500; Myrna Loy, $140,666.64.

Ernst Lubitsch, $91,969; Jeanette McDonald, $125,000; Edward G. Robinson, $100,000; Margaret Sullavan, $78,000; Franchot Tone, $94,416; Charles Boyer, $84,227; Douglas Fairbanks Jr., $194,270; Chico, Harpo and Groucho Marx, $83,333 each; W. C. Broker's Wife Asks for Alimony, Custody of Two Children.

Suit to divorce G. Alex Hope, an investment broker, was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton today by Mrs. Katherine Foster Hope, 6300 Waterman avenue, University City. She alleges general indignities.

Her petition asks for alimony, custody of their two children, George, 12 years old, and Elizabeth, 10, and money for support of the children. They were married in 1925.

NICK, WESTON RACKETEERING CASE ARGUMENTS JULY 17

Defense Counsel Given Until July 10 to File Motions; Trial May Be Aug. 5.

Settings in the case of John P. Nick and Clyde A. Weston, indicted under the Federal anti-racketeering act in connection with their activities in the Motion Picture Operators' Union, were made today by United States District Judge John Caskie Collet.

Defense counsel was given until July 10 to file motions, which will be heard July 17. If they are overruled, the trial will be Aug. 5, before Judge Collet. The Judge rejected the plea of Sigmund M. Bass, defense attorney, that the settings be deferred to permit further study of the anti-racketeering act, passed in 1934.

Father Ryan Receives $1000 Purse.

The Rev. William J. Ryan, S. J., general secretary of the St. Louis University alumni association, received a $1000 purse yesterday from members of the association at a breakfast at Hotel Coronado celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination as a priest. The breakfast followed a jubilee mass at St. Francis Xavier's (College) Church. About 350 persons attended.

CZECH ATHLETES CELEBRATE FOUNDING OF SOKOL SOCIETY

4000 Persons See Drills, Folk Dances at Auditorium; Speakers Include Truman, Dickmann.

Athletes of the American Sokol Union, Czech-American gymnastic society, performed group calisthenic exercises and Central European folk dances at Municipal Auditorium yesterday in celebration of "All-Slav day" and the founding of the American branch of the Sokol society in St. Louis 75 years ago. About 4000 persons attended the celebration.

Sokol members from many parts of the United States and Canada—men, women and children—performed precision drills and exercises in uniformed teams. Slav songs were sung by the Lyra Singing Society of Chicago, men's chorus.

Speakers included Dr. Jar. Zmrhal of Chicago, president of the Czecho-Slovak Society of America; Senator Harry S. Truman, Excise Commissioner Lawrence McDaniel and Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann.

Yesterday's celebration opened with a parade of marchers in native costumes from Czech National Hall, 1701 Allen avenue, to the auditorium. Slav members of the American Legion headed the line of march.

U. S. TO BUY BRITISH RESERVE RUBBER, TIN

London Announces Agreement —RFC Creates Two Corporations.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—An agreement for the purchase by United States Government organizations of British reserve stocks of rubber and tin was announced tonight by the British Colonial Office.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—To store up strategic raw materials, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has created two corporations to buy 150,000 tons of rubber and 75,000 tons of tin.

Jesse H. Jones, Federal Loan Administrator, said that on Friday the RFC set up the rubber reserve company and the metals reserve company, each with a capital of $5,000,000, under authority of an act approved last Tuesday by President Roosevelt.

The Rubber Reserve Co., Jones said, has agreed with the International Rubber Regulation Committee, that it will buy a reserve of 150,000 tons at a price range between 18 and 20 cents a pound. The market price today is around 22.

The Metals Reserve Co. has agreed with the International Tin Committee to buy 75,000 tons of tin at 50 cents a pound. The company also will acquire and carry a reserve supply of other critical and strategic materials, including manganese.

Jones said it was believed that the rubber and tin purchasing program "will get all the rubber we need and all the tin we need without disturbing the market." He would not estimate how long the proposed reserves would suffice for American industry, but he said, "You will be able to get an automobile tire for some time."

The purchasing program, he added, will supplement the purchasing of strategic and critical materials by the Treasury.

Finds Daughter Dead in Wreck.

NAZIS CALL CHAMBERLAIN 'SNIPER'; SAY THEY'LL GIVE ANSWER WITH ARMS SOON

BERLIN, July 1 (AP).

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN has earned the title of "Sniper" by his radio address last night, so far as Germany is concerned, authorized sources said today.

"We certainly are going to remember his assertion that the civilian population constitutes a part of Britain's armed force," these sources said. They said Chamberlain had spoken of people shooting from their houses at German troops.

The answer to Chamberlain, they said, soon will be given by German arms.

TWO SONS, DAUGHTER TIE MAN IN DESERT, LEAVE HIM TO DIE

Son-in-Law Also Involved in Death of Westerner From Hunger and Exposure.

SHOSHONE, Idaho, July 1 (AP).—A Coroner's jury held that Charles Sanders, 48 years old, of Burley, was taken to the desert six miles north of Kamima, tied and left to die by two sons, a daughter and her husband.

Sanders was found dead Saturday—from hunger and exposure, the jury decided. He had been missing since June 21.

Sheriff G. M. Brown said George Sanders, 16, one of the sons, admitted that he, his brother Joe, 20, his sister, Mrs. Flossie Phillips, 18, and her husband, Chester Phillips, 22, had placed the elder Sanders in the rumble seat of an automobile and taken him to the spot where his body was found.

George Sanders said the father had mistreated his children. The four were held in the county jail here.

Injured in Fall Off Back Porch.

Forrest Claggett, 52 years old, a laborer, suffered internal injuries and fractured ribs early yesterday when he fell over the railing of a second-floor porch at his home, 4176A Manchester avenue, and dropped 15 feet to a concrete sidewalk. He was taken to City Hospital.

DEMOCRATS 'MUST BE PEACE PARTY,' WHEELER INSISTS

Says Anti-War Group Will Be Formed If Pledge Against Sending Troops Abroad Is Not Adopted.

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, predicts that should the Democratic party follow the action of the Republican National Convention and refuse to include in its platform a pledge not to send American soldiers "to a foreign shore," a "new and great anti-war party" will be formed.

Speaking at a "Keep America Out of War" mass meeting last night, Wheeler asserted that the Democratic party "must be a peace party" and have in its platform the peace plank rejected by the Republican convention.

"Despite all its lip service to the idea of keeping the United States out of war, the Republican party calmly and carefully refused to pledge itself that no drop of blood of an American youth shall be spilled on a foreign shore for the purpose of interfering in any European or Asiatic conflict," Wheeler said.

"If neither party is willing to give this pledge to the American people—then a new and great anti-war party will arise to challenge both the old parties."

(The national defense plank in the Republican platform said in part: "The Republican party is firmly opposed to involving this nation in foreign war. . . . The Republican party stands for Americanism, preparedness and peace. . . . We declare for the prompt, orderly and realistic building of our national defense to the point at which we shall be able not only to defend the United States, its possessions, and essential outposts from foreign attack, but also efficiently to uphold in war the Monroe doctrine.")

Possible Candidate.

Wheeler has been mentioned with John L. Lewis, CIO chief, in political speculation in connection with the possible formation of a third party and also is regarded as a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Wheeler repeated his statement that he would oppose any attempt to "make my party the war party," and would "disavow any candidate who I believe may lead this country down the road to war." He also said he would oppose confirmation of President Roosevelt's appointments of Col. Frank Knox and Henry L. Stimson as Secretaries of Navy and War, respectively, because "both of these gentlemen are publicly avowed proponents of American intervention. They ought to be members of Mr. Willkie's Cabinet."

Wheeler termed Willkie "an acknowledged Wall street lawyer and one who openly espoused the policy of American intervention in Europe's blood baths—until a few weeks—if not days—ago."

"Today people are not interested in whether you are a Republican or a Democrat—witness Wendell Willkie, a Democrat, capturing the Republican nomination," he asserted.

He said that "the war-makers have captured one party" and "are feverishly working" on the Democrats, who will hold their convention here July 15.

Tweedledee and Tweedledum.

"Between a Republican tweedledee and a Democratic Tweedledum—the issue of war or peace will be deliberately hidden in a smoke screen of oratory—buried under an avalanche of extraneous issues."

Wheeler quoted President Roosevent as saying in his Chautauqua address in August, 1936: "I have seen war—I hate war."

"I hated war then—and I haven't changed—I hate war now," Wheeler commented.

"I welcome the idea of a coalition cabinet in time of emergency, but if we are to have a coalition, let it be a coalition of peace-makers—not war-makers."

Wheeler spoke in the Auditorium Theater at a public meeting billed as "part of the American anti-war crusade of the Keep America Out of War Congress," a federation of six national organizations.

Wheeler to Address St. Louis Rally Tomorrow Night.

Senator Wheeler will address a Stay-Out-of-War Rally tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at Municipal Auditorium. Tickets are being distributed by church organizations and the Peace Action Committee, 1101 Syndicate Trust Building.

BOY SAID TO ADMIT SHOOTING, KILLING FATHER FROM AMBUSH

Quoted as Saying He Lay in Wait and Fired Because Parent "Was So Mean."

HOUGHTON, Mich., July 1 (AP).—Authorities scheduled a court hearing today for a 14-year-old boy who they had said confessed shooting and killing his father from ambush yesterday.

Sheriff J. G. Salmi said Albert J. Fountaine Jr. admitted waiting in ambush near his farm home, and firing from close range as his father returned home from a fishing trip. Another son, Telesphore, 16, and a daughter, Alice, 13, witnessed the shooting, the Sheriff said.

Salmi quoted the boy as saying: "He was so mean to the family I couldn't stand it any longer."

A .22-caliber rifle bullet struck the boy's father in the head, Coroner E. J. Schumaker reported.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP MOVIES AMUSEMENTS

Sights and Sounds

By Harold Heffernan

HOLLYWOOD, July 1.

SIGHTS and sounds: A new interpretation of the famous "act of God" defense introduced several years ago when Helen Hayes, despite a "run-of-the-show" contract, left a Broadway play high and dry to give birth to a child, may soon be brought to light in the case of Alice Faye, suspended by Twentieth Century-Fox, allegedly for undergoing an operation without first obtaining studio consent.

Miss Faye, one of the 10 leading money making stars on last year's official tabulation, is reportedly "off pay" for failure to appear "able, willing and ready" for the star role in "Down Argentine Way," a failure which necessitated the substitution a few days ago of Betty Grable.

The studio, it is understood, feels Miss Faye could have postponed the surgery and that she used it as a means to escape a role she did not relish. Whatever the results of this oddest of all studio-actor altercations, it does open up many new possibilities and problems in future employer-employe relationships hereabouts. The studio claims its first news of Miss Faye's illness came after she had undergone the operation — on the day she was scheduled to appear for rehearsals.

An early settlement is predicted, for Miss Faye is the very best feminine star on Twentieth Century-Fox's card and is badly needed at this particular time in as many pictures as it is possible for her to produce. Meanwhile, the blonde star is reported recuperating rapidly and will be ready for work—if there is work—within a few weeks.

PARAMOUNT is bending every effort to borrow Robert Montgomery from MGM, so he may be costarred with Madeline Carroll in a timely story dealing with an ambulance driver's experiences behind the French lines. Montgomery returned to this country a few days ago after completing such a voluntary assignment and Miss Carroll, who reported herself safe "somewhere in France," is expected to arrive shortly. . . . All the war and fifth column movies are dying dismal deaths at the box office and producers are changing titles on others that even hint of the strife abroad. "It Happened in Paris" is a domestic comedy, but it's name will be switched. "I Married a Nazi" has become "The Man I Married." . . . Eastern financiers are closing in on practically every major lot and a demand for wholesale adjustment of fat star contracts is reportedly one condition on which money will continue to flow westward. With the labor situation fairly quiet, this is looked upon as a likely time for heart-to-heart talks with players above the $2,500-a-week class. . . . Director George Marshall, a dead shot with a rifle, does his own sharpshooting on the "When the Daltons Rode" set. At 75 yards, he sent a bullet crashing into a bank window, the missile speeding between the faces of Brian Donlevy and Frank Albertson, who asked and received invigorating refreshment after the ordeal.

ALICE FAYE . . . SHE'S REPORTED "OFF PAY."

—o-o—

NOW THAT "Boom Town" has been finished MGM is speeding preparations for "30,000 Horses," to star Clark Gable. Reason for the rush is that Gable must be in the clear by Sept. 1, when that clause in his new contract which reads, "Three months off for hunting," becomes operative. . . . Now that producers with their limited market and narrowed cycles are in the dark as to what American fans will pay to see, our old friend sex is the subject of much discussion in writing departments. It is likely to come thundering down in a large portion of next season's product. For one thing, the Hays office has been asked to lift the ban on "Shanghai Gesture," a stage play dismissed many years ago as "too hot."

Former Bank Clerks In Forthcoming Film

HOLLYWOOD.—All but one of the principals in Warners' story of a bank, "Money and the Woman," have had previous banking experience.

John Litel served as an assistant manager before joining a stock company. Brenda Marshall worked in a Texas bank as a stenographer during a summer vacation while attending college.

Dialogue Director Hugh Cummings, unit manager Bob Ross and Actor Bill Marshall were tellers. Bit player Mary Louise Smith's father is manager of a local bank. Big Boy Williams once was a bank messenger. Roger Pryor worked in a bank for one day—during boys' week when he was in high school.

Rhumbas Way Into Job

HOLLYWOOD — Katharine Aldridge, featured player, won one of the prize supporting roles in the Technicolor production, "Down Argentine Way," on the strength of her ability to rhumba.

The young actress, a former New York model, is one of the most accomplished amateur dancers in Hollywood and particularly at the rhumba. As the part requires a good deal of such dancing, Lew Schreiber, casting chief at Twentieth Century-Fox, who had seen Katharine in action on the dance floor, selected her for the part.

Marjorie Weaver in "For Beauty's Sake"

HOLLYWOOD — Marjorie Weaver has been assigned to the romantic lead of "For Beauty's Sake," Associate Producer Lucien Hubbard announced today.

Miss Weaver's last picture was "Charley Chan's Murder Cruise," and she recently completed a six weeks' personal appearance tour which sent her fan mail report soaring.

She plays opposite Ted North, while Ned Sparks and Joan Davis will provide comedy support.

YUGOSLAV, ASLEEP SEVEN DAYS, WON'T RECOGNIZE BALKANS

BERLIN, July 1 (AP, by Radio).—The German radio broadcast this item yesterday:

"Belgrade—Judge Bruno Nimkijevitch in the small Yugoslav town of Banja fell asleep seven days ago and has not yet awekened.

"In vain doctors have tried to waken him.

"He is sleeping peacefully, especially so as he is the only Balkan inhabitant who has not yet heard of the changes of the Balkan frontiers.

"He is being fed with milk and lemonade so that he will be sufficiently strengthened to hear news of the change in the status quo when he awakens."

ITALIAN BOMBERS KILLED 218 AT TWO TOWNS IN FRANCE

Dates Not Given in Delayed Announcement — 5 U. S. Ambulance Men Escape From Nazis.

MARSEILLE, June 29—(Delayed)—(AP).—Italian air raids killed 145 pesons at Poitiers and 73 at Gueret, according to a belated official announcement here today. Poitiers is 58 miles south and slightly west of Tours, first pre-armistice provisional seat of the French Government, and Gueret is 100 miles southeast of Tours.

The dates of the Italian raids were not given, but presumably they took place before the French-Italian-German armistice went into effect June 25.

Five young American ambulance drivers caught by the rapid German advance were able to escape and have arrived here hopeful of obtaining service elsewhere.

They are: Charles Fawcett, Washington; Norman Jefferys, Williston Park, N. Y.; William Holland, Englewood, N. J., and James Allen and Lawrence Ball, both of New York.

They reported others in their section were safe near Villeneuve.

Others taking refuge here and hoping to get to the United States by way of Spain are the daughter of Joseph E. Davies, former United States Ambassador to Belgium, and her Belgian husband, Robert Grosjean, and Dr. Serge Voronoff, surgeon and director of the experimental laboratory of the College of France.

Safe at Toulouse is the son of Count Robert Van Der Straeten Ponthoz, Belgian Ambassador to Washington. A lientenant in the tank corps of the Belgian army, he and other Belgian officers reached Toulouse after an adventurous retreat through France.

ANTI-SMOKE ROLL of HONOR

APPENDED is the twenty-second list of firms, institutions and individual business men giving written assurances to Smoke Commisioner Raymond R. ANNENBERG GETS THREE YEARS ON TAX EVASION PLEA authority to "compromise a criminal liability."

"Tax evaders," he added, "should understand that they may not make a compromise with the Treasury Department and then expect to receive from the courts consideration in criminal cases which the executive officers of the United States will not assum ethe responsibility of granting. . . .

"To grant the plea of the defendants in this case would be to say to business men: 'You may organize your affairs in a network of corporations and avoid the payment of your just taxes, and when called to account by the Government for what you really owe, nothing worse will happen to you than to be compelled to pay what you should have paid long ago.'"

Campbell asked that Annenberg's original bond of $100,000 and Hafner's of $25,000 be allowed to stand pending consideration of the defense plea for a suspended sentence.

No Fine Assessed.

Annenberg, defendant in the largest individual criminal tax case in Government history, was not fined. His plea of guilty made him liable to a maximum of five years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

Ten minutes before the hour set for passing of sentence, Annenberg and his son, Walter, entered the courtroom.

Both seemed nervous. The elder Annenberg changed his chair several times before Judge Wilkerson appeared, toyed with a large ring on his finger and chewed at his fingernails.

When the sentence was pronounced, Annenberg slumped in his chair. His son put an arm about him. Then both moved to a window and gazed out at the city where the publisher began his climb in the business world.

A half hour before the time set for the sentencing, spectators began arriving.

Molasky on Hand.

The first of Annenberg's close associates to arrive was William Molasky of St. Louis. Molasky, president of the Consensus Publishing Co., one of Annenberg's many racing news affiliates, is one of the defendants in Annenberg cases who was not dismissed in the settlement.

Under the sentence imposed, Annenberg can build up seven days a month time off for good behavior. He will be eligible for parole in a year, when one-third of the sentence is completed.

A year ago Annenberg was a financial giant. The Government's tax fight against him, his attorney said, has shrunk his fortune.

Before the Government campaign Annenberg's racing news wires criss-crossed the continent, carrying track results to elaborate wagering places in fashionable resorts and to poolrooms in shabby neighborhoods. To the immense wealth from this source was added the incomes from various racing publications and concerns supplyng betting materials.

The Government reported that Annenberg's own financial statecimbed from $7,858,343 in January, 1930, to $19,496,308 in June, 1938, a net gain of $11,637,965 in eight years.

Hobart Bosworth Has Anniversary.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 1 (AP).—Friends gave Hobart Bosworth, veteran of hundreds of motion pictures and numerous stage productions, a surprise party last night to celebrate the anniversary of his first appearance on the stage in San Francisco 55 years ago. He is 72 years old.

EX-SENATOR BROWN NAMED TARIFF COMMISSION MEMBER

Resigned Comptroller-General Nominated for Term Expiring June 16, 1941.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—Former Senator Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire, who resigned recently as Comptroller-General because of ill health, was nominated today by President Roosevelt to be a member of the Tariff Commission for the remainder of a term expiring June 16, 1941.

The nomination was sent to the Senate without comment from the White House.

HIGHER TRADE-IN? Time to be CAREFUL

When you buy a car on time!

SURE, it's nice to get a high allowance on your trade-in. But sometimes this is offset by service fees, "extras," or hidden overcharges in the time financing costs. To be safe, it's wise to figure your own "deal"—before you buy! On the convenient General Motors Instalment Plan it's easy to figure the costs yourself. Ask your dealer for a GMAC Payment Chart today. You'll see that you get low cost financing and insurance—with needed protection!

SON OF FORMER GOV. EARLE TO JOIN BRITISH AIR FORCE

U. S. Minister to Bulgaria Says Youth Will Leave Sofia Friday for Egypt.

SOFIA, July 1 (AP).—George H. Earle IV, eldest son of the American Minister to Bulgaria, will leave Friday for Egypt to accept a commission in the British Royal Air Force, his father, George H. Earle III, former Governor of Pennsylvania, announced today.

Young Earle, 23 years old, is holder of a civilian pilot's license in the United States. He has been his father's secretary.

HAVERFORD, Pa., July 1 (AP).—Hubert Earle said today he was "quite sure" his mother was unaware that his brother, George H. Earle, had decided to accept a commission in the British Royal Air Force.

Informed of their father's announcement in Sofia, he said: "Then it's not too late to stop it."

Mrs. Earle could not be reached immediately.

UNITED DEFENSE OF IRELAND URGED BY HORE-BELISHA

Ousted War Minister Calls for One Policy for Ulster and Eire Lest Nazis Get Ports.

DEVONPORT, England, July 1 (AP).—Leslie Hore-Belisha, former War Secretary, urged the British Government today to strive for a "united defense policy" for Ulster and Eire.

"The question may be who is to get the ports of Ireland first," said Hore-Belisha at a political meeting. "Is it to be Hitler? This can be prevented only by a united policy in Ireland. Surely in such circumstances a united policy in Ireland is not beyond the wit of the Government to achieve."

He added that "a diplomatic success in Ireland would have a profound effect in the United States." He did not outline specifically what he meant by a "united policy."

Hore-Belisha, who was ousted by former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, urged the calling up of more men, the training of citizens to shoot, keeping the French fleet "out of the enemy's grasp," and maintaining a "virile and vocal Parliament.

8,624,000 JOBLESS IN MAY, RESEARCH GROUP ESTIMATES

National Industrial Conference Board Says This Is 3.8 Pct. Decline From April.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP). — A preliminary estimate by the division of industrial economics of the National Industrial Conference Board placed the May total of jobless at 8,624,000, a 3.8 per cent decline from April. The board is a research organization supported largely by industry.

The usual seasonal rise in agricultural employment accounted for 314,000 of the decline during the month, the finding stated, and the seasonal trend in manufacturing made that industry the only other major employer showing a decline in unemployment.

"The construction industry did not show its usual large employment increase from April to May," said the report.

"The emergency labor force, which is included in the unemployment total, decerased 173,000 from April to May as a result of decreases in WPA rolls. The May total of the emergency labor force was 2,214,000."

Elmer Dawson, Injured in Forced Landing at Farm Near Carrollton, Succumbs in Hospital.

WHITE HALL, Ill., July 1. — Elmer Dawson, 28 years old, died in a hospital here today of injuries suffered yesterday, when a plane he was piloting hit a farm fence in a forced landing near Carrollton and overturned. He suffered a skull fracture.

Dawson lived in White Hall until recently, when he moved to Springfield, Ill. Harry Stine, 30, Carrollton, a passenger, suffered a fractured right leg and arm.

Discovery of Incendiary Missiles Reported by Farmers at Jura, Near French Border.

BERN, Switzerland, July 1 (AP). —Swiss farmers at Jura, near the French frontier, reported today they had found incendiary bombs that appeared to be of British make in their fields.

The bombs were described as the same type as 24 dropped early yesterday on peat bogs and forests in the foothills of the Alps in Central Switzerland.

SEVEN YANKS BICKED FOR GAME HERE ON JULY 9

Rip Radcliff, Tied fo American League Batting Lead, Is Overlooked by Selectors.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—No matter who makes the selections surprises never cease in the annual choosing of teams for baseball's big all-star game.

The major leagues took the task away from the fans and turned it over to the managers, but the National and American League squads announced today for the eighth annual spectacle July 9 at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, are bound to make a lot of the fans wonder why.

There is no question but that Bill McTechnie and Joe Cronin, the respective pilots, will have capable crews to send into action as well as adequate reserves.

But some of the people who have been steamed up about Bobby Doerr, of the Boston Red Sox, and Don Heffner of the St. Louis Browns, being the best second basemen in the game at present are going to be disturbed by their absence.

George McQuinn, star first sacker, will be the Browns' reprsentative, while Terry Moore, star centerfielder and Johnny Mize, first sacker, of the Redbirds, will be on the National League's team.

Seven Yankees Named.

The American League managers, who evidently ignored both the club standings and the batting averages, selected seven of the faltering New York Yankees for the squad. They overlooked Rip Radcliff of the St. Louis Browns, who as of Saturday was tied for the league lead in batting, and Barney McCosky of Detroit, who is playing magnificent ball in the Tigers' outfield and is third among the league's hitters.

The National League managers passed over the senior circuit's three leading pitchers, rated on won and lost records, Outfielder Dixie Walker of Brooklyn, who is second among the hitters, and all of the loop's rookie talent. All eight managers in each league participated in the selections.

The National League re-elected 15 of the 25 players who represented it unsuccessfully a year ago in Yankee Stadium, chose four stars who had been named in other seasons but missed out last year, and gave a half dozen players their first assignments to the big attraction.

This latter group included pitchers Hugh Mulcahy and Kirby Higbe and Third Baseman Merrill May

That the Cowboy is a wrestler seems significant. . . . The affair looks like a one-fall fight, with the Cowboy and Jack taking a fall out of the public.

The peak of the week will come when the 31year-old Max Baer battles Scar-face Tony Galento, now in his thirty-first year, in a 15-round encounter that ought to be judged by the homicide squad. . . . It will take place at the Jersey City baseball park, under the mantle of charity and the protection of Boss Frank Hague.

As a climax to the week for the aged, Lew Feldman, once a pretty fine lightweight scrapper but now, at 32, in the sere and yellow, will battle Carmine Fatta at New York, with nothing at stake but a few ham sandwiches.

SLAUGHTER HITS A HOMER WITH ONE ON IN THE 3RD INNING

By Herman Wecke

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 1.—Lonnie Warneke pitched for the Cardinals this afternoon in the first of a two-game series with the National League Champions, Cincinnati Reds. He was opposed by Lloyd (Whitey) Moore.

Not more than 1000 were on hand when play began.

Magerkurth, Stewart and Barr were the umpires.

After a night game with the Reds tomorrow in which Bill McGee and Paul Derringer will be the pitchers, the Redbirds have an open date Wednesday before opening with the Cubs in a July 4 doubltheader.

It was announced that Eddie Lake, young infielder of the Cardinals, has been released to the Cardinals' Sacramento farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Yesterday at Pittsburgh, the Cardinals engaged in two pitching battles, winning the first by a 1-0 count and losing the second, 2 to 0.

The game:

FIRST INNING—REDS — Werber doubled to left. The Cardinals argued that the drive had landed foul, but it did no good. Frey flied to Koy. Goodman singled off Warneke's glove, Werber going to third. F. McCormick forced Goodman, Orengo to Marion, Werber scoring. Lombardi flied to Slaughter. ONE RUN.

SECOND—REDS — Craft fouled to Mize. Arnovich popped to Orengo. Joost struck out.

THIRD — REDS — Warnecke knocked down L. Moore's liner and threw him out. Werber flied to Koy. Orengo threw out Frey.

CARDINALS—Warneke walked. S. Martin fouled to Lombardi. Slaughter hit to Grand boulevard for his third home run of the season nad scored behind Warneke. Koy bunted and was safe on L. Moore's fumble. Mize flied to Craft. T. Moore singled to right, sending Koy to third. Orengo struck out. TWO RUNS.

Kennedy One-Punch Victor Ovre Tebbetts in Dugout Encounter

Detroit Victim, Eye Closed by Blow, Seeks Return Fight in the Browns' Clubhouse, Later.

By W. J. McGoogan.

Vernon Kennedy, Browns' pitcher, and George Tebbetts, Detroit catcher, who engaged in a fist fight in the Tigers' clubhouse before yesterday's doubleheader, appeared to have little to fear in the way of punishment today as neither plans to request a penalty for the other.

Kennedy, incensed at remarks he said Tebbets made to him and about him during Saturday's game, walked into the Tiger lair before practice and after a few words punched Tebbetts in the left eye, inflicting a slight cut and causing the eye to swell until it was almost closed.

Kennedy

Other players stopped the fracas and Kennedy walked to the Browns' dugout, while Tebbetts retired for first aid.

But George wanted some more and went to the Browns' bench and chose Kennedy again.

"Where's my fine friend?" he asked the assembled players, and, spotting Kennedy at the far end of the bench said, "There you are, how about you and me going some place where we can get something done?"

Move to Browns' Clubhouse.

"Go some place where you can stand up," one player advised, and the belligerents decided upon the Browns' clubhouse.

"You came into mine, now we'll go to yours," remarked Tebbetts, and they trudged up the stairs and into the room.

They pulled off their shoes and started pushing the benches back against the wall when players from both teams streamed in.

Manager Del Baker of the Tigers was one of the first in and he stepped between the battlers. As everybody began milling about in the crowded room, the fight was just called off, apparently by mutual understanding, if not agreement.

Tebbetts said he had been riding Kennedy Saturday about the time he was Vernon's battery mate on the Tigers. It seems that Kennedy got the idea that he was not liked in Detroit because he figured in the deal which sent Gerald Walker, a very popular Tiger, to the White Sox.

So Tebbetts declared that he reminded Kennedy about the world being against him.

Pitcher Refuses to Talk.

Brownie players, however, asserted that Tebbetts' remarks were not nearly so mild, but contained references to Kennedy's past, present and future and were of such a nature as to make the pitcher boil. Hence the altercation.

Kennedy would not talk about the matter.

"It's a closed incident," he said. "What happened is between Tebbetts and me."

Baker, when asked if he planned to report the matter to President Will Harridge of the American League, said he did not, and Tebbetts volunteered:

"You can't say anything about his coming into our clubhouse because I went in to his."

The second half of the episode happened so quickly that those who had not heard of the first round didn't know what was going on.

Fans in the stands couldn't understand why the players went flying off the field, and those under the stand stood at the foot of the stairs in bewilderment.

It could have been a nasty brawl though, if all concerned had started swinging in the clubhouse.

Tebbetts was unable to take part in the doubleheader as he held a piece of beefsteak against the injured left eye. So Billy Sullivan had to catch both contests.

Browns Play Indians in Night Game

THE Browns open a long trip in Cleveland tonight where they oppose the Indians. Eldon Auker is expected to pitch for the Browns against Joe Hobson. The Browns return home July 23.

Yesterday the Browns closed their home stand by splitting a double-header with the Detroit Tigers, winning the first game, 7-6, in 11 innings and losing the second, 10 to 1, in seven innings. The last game was called by agreement to permit the Tigers to catch a train.

Roy Cullenbine was the big star in the opener. He hit a home run with three on in the seventh then, with the score tied, he doubled in the eleventh and brought home the winning run on McQuinn's single.

The attendance of 10,560 included 9492 paid.

Players of Both Teams Rush to Battleground and Second Setto Is Prevented by Del Baker.

Badminton Play Opens.

The Greater St. Louis Badminton Tournament for novice players will begin today and last for a week at the Winter Garden Recreation Center, 520 DeBaliviere. There will be play every afternoon and evening. About 75 players are entered.

Dempsey Will Spot Rival 15 Pounds in Go Tonight

ATLANTA, July 1 (AP).

EIGHT years out of the legitimate pugilistic business in which he became a world idol, William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey returns to the ring here tonight to settle a grudge with a rough and tumble wrestler from Texas.

The opponent of the 45-year-old Manassa Mauler, over a scheduled 10-round distance in the local baseball park, is Clarence (Cowboy) Luttrell, with whom the former heavyweight king has traded blows in his role as a wrestling referee on three occasions.

Some 15,000 fans are expected to jam the park for what is whispered inside Dempsey's camp as his second "comeback" attempt. Dempsey will enter the ring weighing 205, his opponent 220.

Old Folks Week In the Fight World.

YOU might call this Old Folks week in the fight world. . . . Jack Dempsey, age 45, is the keynoter. . . . He opens up tonight at Atlanta. . . . His opponent in their 10-round venture one Cowboy Luttrell of Texas. . . . That the Cowboy is a wrestler seems significant. . . . The affair looks like a one-fall fight, with the Cowboy and Jack taking a fall out of the public.

The peak of the week will come when the 31year-old Max Baer battles Scar-face Tony Galento, now in his thirty-first year, in a 15-round encounter that ought to be judged by the homicide squad. . . . It will take place at the Jersey City baseball park, under the mantle of charity and the protection of Boss Frank Hague.

As a climax to the week for the aged, Lew Feldman, once a pretty fine lightweight scrapper but now, at 32, in the sere and yellow, will battle Carmine Fatta at New York, with nothing at stake but a few ham sandwiches.

Galento, Cut by Glass, Says He's O. K. for Bout With Baer

Tony Hurt By Brother In Dispute

Examination Discloses Wound in Boxer's Chin Is Superficial, Commission Physician Declares.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 1 (AP).—Abe Greene, New Jersey State Boxing Commissioner, said today Tony Galento would fight Max Baer tomorrow night despite a cut on the chin received when hit by a beer glass early this morning.

Tony suffered the injury in his bar room when during a dispute, his brother, Russell, was said to have pitched the glass at him.

The cut, from a quarter to half-inch in length, is not serious, Greene said.

"In fact, Tony said he didn't know he was hurt until several minutes later when a friend drew his attention to the blood," he added.

"We have just concluded a physical examination of Tony Galento," Commissioner Greene said. "He was examined and treated first by his personal physician, Dr. Joseph C. Migi of Orange, and re-examined by Dr. Max E. Stern of Newark, a physician of the New Jersey State Athletic Commission.

"The physicians report the abrasion sustained by Galento is in the fleshy part of the chin and will not present any difficulty, even if it may be reopened in the course of the contest.

"Their official description of the abrasion is that: 'It is a straight, clean, superficial incision.'

"Galento, himself, declared that he is in the best condition of his career and insisted vigorously that the abrasion is inconsequential, would have no affect on him and would only spur him on to speedier victory."

Tony's brother was taken to Orange police headquarters last night and released. No charge or complaint was made against him.

Warneke Picked For Batting Drill

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—Bill McKechnie, manager of the National League all-stars who will meet the pick of the National League at St. Louis July 9, today announced the selection of Milburn Shoffner of the Reds and Lon Warneke of the Cardinals as batting practice pitchers.

Hank Gowdy, Cincinnati coach, will be the batting practice catcher and Dr. Richard Rohde, also of the Reds, the trainer.

Forcade Stars in Casting Tourney

Nearly four thousand persons viewed the various exhibits and contests comprising the second annual sportsmen's show, sponsored by the Missouri Wildlife Organization, which closed yesterday at Dillman's Grove.

In the morning, members of the St. Louis Bait andFly Casting Club dominated the casting tournaments. Clem Forcade, with two firsts and a second, was the individual star. Once again, in the wet fly contest, Forcade missed a perfect score by one point. It was the third time this season he has climbed to the 99 class.

Dem's Molly, female beagle hound, owned by George De Menil, was awarded the trophy for being the outstanding sporting dog of the show. In addition to the bench show, rettriever exhibitions and obedience tricks were shown under the direction of Sam Sparks.

Mrs. Zaharias Rallies to Win Western Golf Title

MILWAUKEE, July 1 (AP).—The mighty Babe Didrikson Zaharias has captured her first major golf title—the Women's Western Open crown—to add to a collection of records and trophies amassed during a career that earned her the title of the "world's most versatile woman athlete" in the early 1930's.

Mrs. Zaharias, representing the Los Angeles Brentwood Club, won the western championship yesterday by gaining a decisive 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee (Wis.) women's champion, in the 36-hole final at the Blue Mound Club.

Mrs. Zaharias was one down to Mrs. Mann at the end of the morning round when she shot an 81, six over women's par, to her opponent's 80.

The new champion, greatest distance driver in women's golf, succeds Helen Dettweiler of Washington, D. C., who lost in the quarter-finals to Dorothy Foster, Springfield, Ill. Mrs. Zaharias conquered Miss Foster, 3 and 1 in the semis.

Girls' Team Named For Title Meet

dash, in which she placed third last year.

Miriam Melton, baseball and javelin thrower; Edna Gustavson, 200 and 50 meter sprinter; Angela Mica and Virginia Noles, javeline and baseball throwers, and Virginia Voelker, sprinter, are others expected to go to the national.

Crystal City Star Absent.

These will be the c·· girls representing the Ozark Association which this year has not provided any financial assistance for the team to go to the National. Thelma Lalumondier, Crystal City sprinter who went last year and had little success, is reported out of training.

Mrs. Kinnard, who won the recent Ozark district 75-yard dash over a muddy track at Salem, Mo., in 8.4 seconds, should be able to place again at the national as she has been running the 100 meters in 12.4 and thereabouts, her husband said.

Last year's winning time for this race was 12.6.

Miss Melton and Miss Mica also have a good chance in their events, Kinnard said. Miss Melton has been throwing the javelin 124 feet in practice (130 feet 9½ inches won it last year) and Miss Mica captured the baseball throw at Salem with a 225-foot throw. Last year the winning distance in the national baseball throw was 233 feet 3.1 inches.

There is a possibility Miss Mica and Miss Noles will not be able to go to the national because they are members of a softball team that is scheduled to play Saturday,a team that is sponsored by the firm that employs them.

Miss Gustavson, who has been running since 1936, did not compete in the national last year. She won the recent Ozark 50-yard championship in 6.1 she is expected to have a better chance in the national 200 meters.

Second in the baseball throw at Salem was Miss Noles, while Miss Voelker was a fourth place finisher in the 50-yard dash in the district meet.

Belleville Entries Close.

Entries for the Belleville open tennis tournament will close tonight. They may be made with Ellar Daab, telephone Belleville 385.

St. Louis Bike Riders Win Race

Riding with the wind, seven St. Louis bicycle riders defeated 14 Kansas City boys in the cross-state race in which the teams rode in opposite direction toward their respective cities yesterday.

It took the St. Louisans 12 hours and three minutes to cover the approximate distance of 275 miles. Eight minutes later the Kansas City "anchor" man crossed the finish line.

St. Louis was represented by only half a team when the St. Louis Cycling Club withdrew its seven men because it failed to receive expense money.

The other St. Louis riders, members of the Century Road Club of America, were Norman Kebo, Andy Baum, George Wuchter Jr., Russ Busch, Ray Snak, Ro... Dietsch and Dale Edsell.

M'Neill Is Collegiate Champion

HAVERFORD, Pa., July 1 (AP)—Don McNeill added the national intercollegiate tennis crown to his national clay courts title today, defeating Joe Hunt of the United States Naval Academy in straight sets, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1.

Hunt, blood streaming down his right leg from a cut received in a fall on the deciding shot of the second set, faltered badly in the final set, while his Kenyon College opponent pressed in for the kill.

Favored before the match started, McNeill quickly took a 4-1 lead. His lobs, smashes at the net and low-flying cross-court volleys were too much for the faltering Navy player to handle. Hunt obviously was nettled by his rival's deadly accuracy.

Brownie Notes.

Improved play by the Browns has been attracting much better crowds this season. They have already surpassed their 130,000 of last season by between 20 to 30 thousand and yesterday's crowd of 10,560 included 9493 paid.

Tom Moore—made for enjoyment—has plenty of tasty, mellow long Havana rolled into its center. Yet mellow-mild as a day in June!

of the Phillies, Pitcher Larry French of the Chicago Cubs, Second Baseman Pete Coscarart of Brooklyn and Outfielder Max West of the Boston Bees.

One choice certain to meet with approval was Carl Hubbell, the southpaw star of the New York Giants, who was named to every All-Star squad except last year's.

The National League will have no member who has appeared in every game. Gabby Hartnett, who was one of the catchers for the first six years and the manager last July, dropped out this time.

Foxx on Every Team.

The American League still will have one charter player, durable Jimmie Foxx of the Boston Red Sox on first base.

On the National League team will be no fewer than four players who have participated in every all-star game except the first—Bill Herman of the Cubs, Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, Joe Medwick of the Dodgers and Mel Ott of the Giants—while the American League will have just one seven-year man, Bill Dickey of the Yankees.

The American League turned to new faces this time, dropping Lefty Grove of the Red Sox, Lefty Gomez of the Yanks and Charley Gehringer of Detroit for the first time since the game was conceived.

The junior circuit will have nine players making their All-Star debut, four of them from the Cleveland Indians. The rookie infield sensations, Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack, were named along with Pitcher Al Milnar and Ken Keltner from the Tribe. The other newcomers will be Pitchers Dutch Leonard of Washington and Monte Pearson of the Yanks and Outfielders Charley Keller of the Yanks and Lou Finney and Ted Williams of the Red Sox.

The American League will have a big edge in pitching strength on the basis of games won and lost. The composite record of its staff of seven pitchers is 56 and 27 while the National League hurlers have a combined mark of 50 and 39.

East Wins Over West In Tennis

SEWICKLEY, Pa., July 1 (AP).—Frankie Parker whipped Francis L. Kovacs in three straight sets today to clinch the thirty-seventh renewal of the East-West tennis tournament for the Eastern team.

The score was 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

The victory gave the East three matches to one for a certain victory over the Western contingent regardless of the outcome of one remaining singles match.

Displaying the same methodical stroking which gained him the No. 2 American ranking, Parker came from two games behind in the second set to win.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Oldtimers, the public is uncertain whether longevity in the ring spells improvement in the race or decline of boxing.

If we judge by the fact that a 36-year-old fighter (Jack Roper) was thought good enough to fight Joe Louis for the title, we might for a moment believe we are physically advancing. . . . But when we note the result—a one-round knockout—we feel like casting our vote for the decadence of the heavyweights.

Thirty, Not the Boxers' Deadline.

BUT let's not be so cock-sure about that. . . . Consider ring history. . . . John L. Sullivan won a 75-round fight from Kilrain when he was 31. . . And he was still champion at 34. . . . Jim Corbett fought the mighty James J. Jeffries for the title at the age of 37, but was kayoed. . . . Bob Fitzsimmons knocked out Corbett for the title at 35, lost it to Jeffries at 37 and fought his last important fight at the age of 47 years, when he met and lost to Bill Lang in Australia. . . . Jack Britton was a great champion up to 37 years of age, when he lost a 15-round decision to young Mickey Walker.

Mere age, therefore, hasn't always indicated complete decadence of fighters. . . . And perhaps we are bearing down too hard on these scrappers of today. . . . But we'll know more about it by tomorrow night.

It's for Charity So Be Charitable.

THAT Dempsey affair at Atlanta seems to have puzzled the fourth estate columnists. . . . Some commentators seem to take the matter seriously. . . . But it appears to be just a little horse play, all under the cloak of charity. . . . And the "fight" is a fine tribute to the drawing expectancy of promoters who use Jack Dempsey's name. . . . The Red Cross probably will benefit accordingly.

The idea developed after one of those manufactured wrestling dramas. . . . The scenario on that occasion called for an attack on the referee (Dempsey) by an irate wrestler (Luttrell). Result—stretcher for Luttrell.

After that came the feud build-up by an enterprising promoter in behalf of charity. . . . Luttrell and Dempsey signed for a 10-round battle. . . . Jack went into training. . . . Note that Jack (in the picture) is letting his whiskers grow. . . . His training will consist of a shave and a haircut. . . . Just to show that he's in shape, he recently "boxed" two rounds with Arturo Godoy, before that South American was extinguished by Joe Louis.

So, make what you want of this show. . . . Jack will make what he can. . . . And charity will take the rest. . . . But charity or not, the arrangement of this affair is no help to boxing. . . . It tends to put fighting in a class with wrestling. . . . Which soon will cause commentators to haul out that old one: "Birds of a feather flock together."

This One Will Be No Soft Touch.

THE battle of middle-aged athletes at Jersey City tomorrow night, however, will be no soft touch. . . . The Baer-Galento fight has all the elements of crowd-pleasing brawl, sanguinary from the opening blow. . . . Not only is there something important at stake—a chance at Joe Louis in September—but the principals, in important fights during the past two years, have shown all the battle lust of a couple of drink-crazed stevedores.

Both men probably have worked harder to condition for this fight than for any in years, since a small fortune will accrue to the victor. . . . A shot at Louis represents the last big bankroll either can expect to fight for. . . . With what they'll get tomorrow night, the total would mean independence for the victor.

As to the winner, we have an opinion from Wilbur Wood, sports editor and boxing specialist for the New York Sun, a conservative and capable observer. He writes:

"I expect Baer to wilt after four or five rounds. . . . Both men are in as good shape as possible after what they've been through. . . . But I think Galento is sounder physically and a better bet from a mental standpoint, as well as in a knock-down-and-drag-out battle."

Although this might be called a fight for the championship of boxers knocked out by Joe Louis, it should prove more nearly worth a ringside ticket price than many a Louis "title defense."

And as for either being a fit candidate for a return match with Louis, if you could compress all the best features of both fighters into one personality, it still would not be enough to whip the Bomber.

Missouri Grid Star Is Buried

BROOKFIELD, Mo., July 1 (AP).—A crowd that overflowed the Christian Church attended funeral services yesterday for Ronald King, University of Missouri sophomore football standout last fall.

The Rev. C. W. Cornn, Moberly, assisted the Rev. W. Hillson, Brookfield, in conducting services. Coaches Don Faurot and Chauncey Simpson and members of the Tiger football team acted as pallbearers. King died in Utah last week of an infected tooth.

TWO ENGLISH VESSELS REPORTED TORPEDOED

British, Canadian Freighters Attacked in North Atlantic, Radio Message Says.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—The American cargo-passenger ship Excalibur reported to Mackay Radio last night that a British and a Canadian freighter have been torpedoed about 300 miles southwest of the Irish coast.

The message said: "British steamer Guido, position latitude 48.03 north and longitude 11.11 west, also Canadian Zarian, torpedoed at 6:30 p. m.

The Excalibur is en route from Naples to New York and is believed in the vicinity of the Straits of Gibraltar with 250 American refugees aboard.

The Guido, 3921 tons, is owned by Ellerman's Wilson Line. Its home port is Hull. The Zarian, 4871 tons, sails out of Freetown, Africa.

Mackay Radio said the Zarian radioed that it "needs tugs immediately."

Two nights ago Mackay Radio received a message from the Excalibur, then less than a day out of Naples, reporting that it had intercepted a distress message from a vessel identifying itself as the "American ship Edgehill."

The message said the Edgehill had been torpedoed about 500 miles off the Irish coast.

No confirmation of the reported torpedoing could be obtained from Washington or London naval sources, and no American vessel named Edgehill is listed in Lloyd's register of shipping.

A Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent in Berlin said that German radio announcers charged that the Edgehill message had been sent by the British station GYW at Gibraltar and that the incident was "just another propaganda trick of the British to fool the Americans."

TEXTILE MARKET

NEW YORK, July 1.—Dry goods: Cotton goods dealings were slow, with converters and printers checking prices. Trading in woolen fabrics continued active and as stocks of finished goods dwindle buyers were reported to be eager to cover fall requirements. Rayon fabrics more active with a good demand for pigment taffetas and spun rayons. Turnover small in the silk market as trade awaited new fall lines of dress goods to be presented next week.

MONTREAL, July 1 (AP).—Security and commodity exchanges throughout Canada remained closed today in observance of "Dominion day."

WHEAT CLOSES UP AFTER NEW LOW SINCE SEPT. 1

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP).—Increasing flow of new wheat to market helped to depress wheat values during most of the session today but after the lowest quotations in 10 months had been recorded prices recovered all of the loss and pushed upward to gains of almost a cent a bushel.

Government flour purchases and the fact that large quantities of new wheat were being stored for Government loans tended to support the market and when selling diminished prices rallied easily.

Wheat closed ⅝@⅞ cent higher than Saturday, July 74⅞@75, September 75½@⅝; corn ¼@¾ up, July 60½, September 58@57⅞; oats ¼@⅜ higher.

Increased marketing of new grain and favorable weather conditions accounted for much of the weakness. Cloudiness was forecast for the spring wheat zone with showers probable. Five important wheat terminals in Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas received 3434 cars compared with 1396 a week ago and 3128 a year ago.

Some buying that helped to steady the market was credited to mills removing hedges against sales of flour to the Government relief agency. Pit brokers estimated this buying may have equaled 500,000 bushels.

Most of the market's weakness was attributed to increased movement of the new crop in the Southwest, although traders said hedging sales were not particularly heavy. The crop movement is about two weeks later than a year ago and most of the new wheat is going into storage inasmuch as Government loan rates range from 7 to around 15 cents a bushel above current market prices at some terminals. Floor sales at Kansas City Saturday amounted to about 20 per cent of the total arrivals.

Wheat rallied fractionally at times, due partly to lifting of hedges against flour sales to the Government.

The Santa Fe Railroad crop report indicated the harvest in principal producing regions of the Southwest will total somewhat larger than the most recent Government estimates suggested. Private crop reports will be issued Wednesday with one or two released possibly sooner. Harvesting weather was regarded as favorable.

December corn, representing the new crop, dipped about a cent a bushel, due to favorable crop conditions and prospects of a large carryover, although most of the supply will be under Government control. The early low of 53¾c was the lowest for the season on December corn and was only 4 cents higher than the price of this contract a year ago. Old crop corn contracts, however, displayed firmness, due to the unrestricted movement of available supplies and fairly liberal shipping sales from here.

September and December oats sold at new lows for the season and July and September rye equaled the previous low prices.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, July 1.—In the cash grain section of the market today wheat was steady to ½c lower and corn ½c lower.

CORN—No. 1 yellow, 65c.

Kansas Wheat Comeback.

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP).—The monthly crop report of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway said Kansas wheat progressed steadily in June, and with harvest off to a good start, it was evident production would exceed previous estimates, probably reaching 85,000,000 bushels. This is one of the most remarkable comebacks in the history of the State, the report said.

The report indicated Nebraska may have a crop of 25,000,000 bushels or better and that the last official estimat of 23,867,000 for Missouri may b exceeded.

STOCK TRADE SLOWEST IN YEAR; PRICE DRIFT LOWER

Slowness of Proceedings Due to Many Traders Standing Aside to Await Clarification of War, Political and Business Developments.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—Stocks generally drifted lower in today's market as traders lightened commitments pending clarification of war, political and business developments.

It was one of the slowest sessions in the past year or longer, transfers for the five hours, totaling 272,920 shares.

The ticker tape was idle for a minute or so at a time during the greater part of the proceedings.

While nothing was particularly weak, declines of fractions to around a point or more were well distributed at the close. Modest plus signs were to be seen here and there.

Such optimism as was engendered bylthe Willkie nomination last week appeared to have faded a bit, with Wall Street stepping softly in the matter of election opinions pending the Democratic convention the middle of this month.

The outstanding confusing element marketwise was the Russian stab at Rumania and the inability of finaicial quarters to determine whether this meant a break with the Nazis or was just another chapter in the axis plan book.

New Tax Move.

The tax question again came into the market limelight as the President recommended to Congress enactment of "steeply graduated excess profits" levies to be applied to "all individuals and all corporate organizations without discrimination."

A decrease in this week's estimated steel mill operations of 12.3 points at 74.2 per cent of capacity, due to shutdowns for the holiday Thursday, was hardly surprising to speculative quarters, but steel shares were under water from the start.

Announce emntfo large naval awards for war vessels helped such stocks as Electric Boat and N. Y. Shipbuilding, although these were far from buoyant.

Principal laggard. were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Westinghouse, Texas Corp., Phelps Dodge American Smelting, Consolidated Edison and Eatsman Kodak. Rails and Rubbers were narrow.

Bonds were mixed, with Italian dollar loans weak. Commodities were shaky, although grains rallied. Wheat at Chicago was up ⅝ to ⅞ of a cent a bushel and corn gained ¼ to ⅜. Cotton, in late transactions was off 20 cents to up 10 cents a bale. "Free" sterling steadied after an early slip.

News of the Day.

One market commentator pointed out that the domestic trade picture for the last half of 1940 may be determined mainly on whether the European conflict continues. It was also suggested that, despite protestations to the contrary of British chieftains Churchill and Chamberlain, rumors that some sort of a peace move is under way abroad still persist.

If the war keeps going, it was predicted, heavy exports of armaments, superimposed on our own huge defense program, should swing industrial production to high levels. A nearby armistice, though, it was thought, could bring a severe letdown, with cutting of foreign military purchases touching off a rush by manufacturers to reduce inventories.

Over Week-end Developments.

The survey of the magazine "Steel" said accumulation of mill backlogs under present active buying is indicated by the steady advancement of delivery dates which are now several weeks in the future on some products.

The review found buyers adding to inventory partly as a safeguard against expected curtailment of supplies as defense measures bring tonnage to steel centers with perhaps priority provisions. Railroad purchasing, it was added, has become an important factor, with cars, locomotives and rails being booked in unusual volume at this season.

Notice was taken of a sharp year-to-year drop in security financing during June. The month's total of $96,508,041 compared with $109,119,689 in May and $509,226,176 in June, 1939.

GENERAL RISE IN STOCK MARKET VALUES AT LONDON

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Sharp advances in British Government bonds accompanied a general rise in stock prices in the market today. Demand for tobacco and brewery shares was strongly accented, as the broad upswing in the industrial division continued. New gains appeared for domestic rails and oils threw off opening hesitancy to push forward. Kaffirs moved listlessly, but mining stocks held steady to firm.

LIVERPOOL, July 1 (AP).—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 7 points lower today, in the wake of declining Bombay and New York markets. Trade centered on evening-up in the spot month.

Report on Failures.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—Commercial and industrial failures in the United States numbered 286 for the week ended June 27, compared with 296 in the previous week and 264 in the like period last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

INTERNATIONAL SHOE 6-MO. NET $2,891,335

Equivalent to 86c a Share Against $2,824,612 or 84c a Share in 1939.

International Shoe Co. reports net income for the six months ended May 31 of $2,891,335, equivalent to 86 cents a share. In the corresponding period a year ago net income was $2,824,612, or 84 cents a share.

Net sales for the period amounted to $42,297,782, against $40,525,983 for the first half of the preceding fiscal year. Subsidiary plants produced materials amounting to $22,100,618, which, combined with sales, made a total business transacted of $64,398,400.

Current assets at the end of the six months totaled $64,357,145 and current liabilities, $3,956,164.

A letter to stockholders stated that a substantial decline in retail sales occurred this spring and was accompanied by a reduction in output of shoe manufacturers in general, and that the company's increase in dollar shipments was accounted for by army, navy and CCC shoes made for the U. S. Government.

The break in hide prices which occurred in the middle of May necessitated considerable markdown in establishing conservative inventory values as of May 31. It is stated that under present uncertainties, it was deemed advisable to continue the reserve of $550,000 which was established on Nov. 30, 1939, for possible market decline in raw materials.

ST. LOUIS STOCKS

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, July 1.—It was a waiting market on the local board today—waiting for an order. Only three little fellows came in the morning.

A little business developed in the afternoon, but market was narrow.

Stock sales amounted to 330 shares compared with 15 shares Saturday. Bond sales were $1000.

STEEL MILLS CUT RATE 12.3 PTS. FOR JULY 4TH

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—The nation's steel mills will curtail production schedules to 74.2 per cent of capacity this week, a decline of 12.3 points from 86.5 per cent in the preceding week, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated today. A month ago the rate was 80.3 per cent of capacity and a year ago 38.5.

Steel circles said the sharp decline reflected suspension of activity for the Fourth of July holiday, a recess widely observed in the industry.

Lower Rate for Local Area.

Steel ingot production in the St. Louis area is reported estimated at 65 per cent of capacity, 5½ points lower than last week. The drop was reported due mainly to the pending Independence day holiday.

Heavy melting scrap steel was quoted 50 cents a ton lower at $15@15.50 a ton.

CLEVELAND, July 1 (AP).—Without benefit of expected heavy steel requirements for national defense, steel mill production continues at a rate within reaching distance of practical capacity, the magazine "Steel" says today.

Delivery dates are being advanced under the accumulation of mill backlogs. Buyers are adding to inventory as a safeguard against expected curtailment of supplies as defense measures bring orders to the mills, with perhaps priority provisions.

Production of French contracts, taken over by the British, already is under way. Other export tonnage is appearing following drying up of the usual sources of supply. Railroad buying has become an important factor, with cars, locomotives and rails being booked in unusual volume for this season.

Structural and concrete reinforcing steel inquiries and bookings bear striking evidence of growing industrial preparations for defense measures by private enterprise and Government agencies.

Advance of $1 per ton in pig iron prices by the Utah furnace has not been reflected in the Eastern market and no indication has been given as to future prices. Most melters are covered for third quarter and buying is light but shipments are increasing steadily. Foundries in some cases are adding to stocks as protection against possible future shortage.

Scrap prices have weakened under pressure of heavy supplies and return of some tonnage bought for export and now diverted to domestic channels since shipment is interfered with. "Steel's" composite price of steelmaking grades dropped 75 cents last week, to $19.04, the first decline since the second week in April.

Steelworks operations last week advanced 1 point to 89 per cent of capacity. Chicago dropped 1 point to 92 per cent and Cincinnati 4½ points to 81 per cent. Unchanged rates held at Birmingham, 88; Wheeling, 90; Buffalo, 90½; Eastern Pennsylvania, 83. Detroit gained 3 points to 92 per cent, St. Louis 2½ points to 70½, Cleveland 1 point to 85½, Pittsburgh 1 point to 82, New England 15 points to 85 and Youngstown 2 to 80 per cent.

POLL OF MAIL TO SENATORS SHOWS PEOPLE'S DESIRE TO ARM BUT KEEP OUT OF WAR

Most Writers for Aid to Allies; Many Want Congress Kept in Session; Alarm Over President's Stab-in-Back Speech—Effect of Lindbergh's Radio Address.

By RICHARD L. STOKES
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 1.

DURING the past eventful month, the offices of 96 Senators and 429 Representatives have been swamped by hundreds of thousands of letters and telegrams bearing on the war situation in Europe. Their nature was determined somewhat by the political party to which each recipient belonged, and the views he was known to entertain. But by and large, this huge correspondence offers a significant cross-section of national thought.

In an effort to sample that reservoir, the Post-Dispatch has polled information at the offices of 30 Senators of all parties, from every section of the country, on the volume and general tenor of their war mail. As a result, the following generalizations may be ventured:

Only a month ago, first place in American public sentiment was held by an almost unanimous desire to grant every possible aid to the Allies, short of sending troops and ships to Europe.

That sentiment is still professed by a majority of Americans, but the percentage reveals a rapid and decided falling off.

First place in the public mind has changed to the issues of keeping out of war and national defense. The alteration rose partly from the fall of Holland, Belgium and France.

Many Senators, however, noted a sharp turning point in the national attitude as to aiding the Allies in consequence of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's latest radio address, and in particular of President Roosevelt's "stab in the back" speech at Charlottesville, Va.

Distrust and alarm over the administration's war policies have taken the form of a stampede in favor og keeping Congress in session, and a demand by 95 per cent or more of all correspondents that the United States should at whatever price stay out of the European war.

Reports from the various senatorial offices are marked by a wide variety of opinions. The range is from that of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, 99 per cent of whose mail is said to demand immediate declaration of war against the Axis Powers to that of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, who declares that his 15,200 war letters, with the exception of 450, all oppose giving any aid whatsoever to the Allies. Summaries of the data obtained follow:

Senator Arthur Capper (Rep.), Kansas, receives 200 or 300 letters a day. Two per cent advocate that the United States enter war, 98 per cent are for preparedness to defend our own shores, but unalterably opposed to sending armed forces abroad. Distinct reaction noted against Charlottesville speech, taking form of demanding Congress stay in session because writers do not think Roosevelt can be trusted to keep us out of war. They mostly think Lindbergh was right, and that Roosevelt came next door to a declaration of war. A large proportion of correspondents favor sending Great Britain as many planes and munitions as we can.

Overwhelmingly Pro-Ally.

Senator Carter Glass (Dem.), Virginia. Virginia is overwhelmingly pro-Ally. Glass has been receiving an average of 25 letters or telegrams a day. Ninety-nine per cent of them demand the repeal of the Neutrality Act and immediate declaration of war. The only criticism of the Charlottesville speech is that the President didn't go far enough.

Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. (Prog.), Wisconsin, receives 200 or 300 war letters a day. Only three weeks ago they were 3 to 1 in favor of extending aid to Allies. A decisive turn came with the Charlottesville speech. The percentage against helping the Allies rose to be 6 to 1 and then 10 or 12 to 1, and widespread concern was expressed as to the administration's foreign policy. There has been scattered criticism of the Stimson and Knox appointments. Virtually all correspondents demand that the country be kept out of war.

Senator Charles L. McNary (Rep.), Oregon, now the Republican vice-presidential nominee, has received a "tremendous" war mail, which was sharply divided into two sections by the Lindbergh speech. The "stab in the back" address apparently had little effect. At first great majority of the writers advocated all possible aid to the Allies. Now the sentiment has changed to "keep us out of war." Nearly everyone demands that Congress stay on the job.

Missourians Oppose War.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri has received from 500 to 1000 letters a day for the last month. About 95 per cent of them protest against any possible involvement in the war. The other per cent are mixed, including those who wish the country to declare war and those who would give every aid to England. Temperature of protests against involvement rose markedly after the Charlottesville speech. In the main, these communications demand observance of neutrality. A considerable proportion ask that Congress remain in session.

Senator Sheridan Downey (Dem.), California, has received about 15,000 letters from constituents on the subject of war in the last month, sometimes as many as 1000 a day. At first the overwhelming majority urged all possible help to the Allies. A distinct change came after Lindbergh's address and the President's speech at Charlottesville. Since then nearly all the letters have pleaded that we keep out of war at all costs. Many expressed worry over extreme language used by the President with regard to Italy. All but a few urged national defense, and the tally was about 50-50 on the question of compulsory selective service. The tone during the last two weeks has been: "We'd like to help the Allies if we can, but for God's sake don't get us into the war."

Senator James M. Slattery (Dem.), Illinois, has received from 500 to 1200 letters a day, 80 per cent of which demand that the United States keep out of war. At first there was widespread sentiment for sending all possible material aid to the Allies; that has virtually died away, and has given place to advocacy of national armament and pleas that Congress remain in session. There has been a large mail from young men opposed to compulsory military training. Some criticism, but not much, of the President's war policy and Charlottesville speech was noted.

Volunteer to Pay Extra Taxes.

Senator Pat Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, has been receiving about 400 letters a day. Two weeks ago all emphasis was on sending aid to the Allies. That has given place to stress on national defense. Many correspondents volunteer to pay extra taxes, and ask if they are available for armed service. Resolutions passed by scores of Mississippi communities demand Congress remain in session. Virtually all letters oppose our entry into the European war.

Senator Homer T. Bone (Dem.), Washington, receives 150 to 200 war letters a day. Nine out of 10 demand "in drastic terms" that the United States keep out of war at all costs. A lesser number, but still a majority, favor sending all possible aid to Great Britain. A large and increasing demand appears that Congress remain in session. A marked unfavorable reaction was noted in the correspondence against the Charlottesville speech.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, says that out of 15,200 letters received at his office all but about 450 not only urged that the country keep out of war but opposed giving aid to the Allies on the ground that it is unneutral. Nearly all demanded that Congress remain in session. The correspondence showed a widespread reaction against the President's "stab in the back" speech, and also against the appointment to the Cabinet of Stimson and Knox, who were charged by the writers with being interventionists.

Senator John E. Miller (Dem.), Arkansas. Four or five out of some 50 war letters a day call for declaration of war against the Axis. More than half are for peace at any price. The others want to help England if we can do so without getting involved. A few favor compulsory military service; the great majority oppose it. All want Congress to remain in session, but there is little criticism of the President.

Own Preparedness First.

Senator Josiah W. Bailey (Dem.), North Carolina, has been receiving 300 or 400 letters a day. At first a great majority of the writers urged that the United States go to the limit short of war to help Great Britain and France, and send them all available planes and supplies. But now the overwhelming majority stress our own preparedness first, urge that the country keep out of war and that we help England as far as possible

DOROTHY THOMPSON WRITES "ON THE RECORD"

Appeals for Swift Campaign to Cut Through Governmental Red Tape and Open Millions of American Homes to French and British Refugee Children.

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.

IN this heart-breaking world millions of Americans are wondering what they can do to uphold the banner of freedom, democracy and humanity. These people include those who think we should give more material aid to Great Britain, whether for ideological reasons, humanitarian reasons or plain reasons of self-interest. But they also include millions who want us to have no part of the war going on in Europe.

It is very dangerous for the human soul to have a sympathy that does not express itself in action. We have to express in behavior the things we believe; otherwise, by and by, we cease to believe them. To observe human suffering and do nothing about it results eventually in becoming humanly callous. And if the people of this country become humanly callous, by and by that callousness will express itself in all our relations toward one another; and then we shall be in a very bad way indeed.

Now, there is one thing we could do immediately, and if we did it with sufficient drama and grandeur it would be by itself a comment on what is happening in Europe. In this world of loot-and-grab it is very necessary that a great democracy like our own, that stands for human rights, if it stands for anything, that stands for the superiority of men over machines, if it stands for anything, should make a gesture that represents giving rather than taking. And we could make that gesture.

Mr. Gallup's poll, published in Wednesday newspapers, shows us what we can do. A survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion indicates that 5,000,000 American families might be disposed to take British and French refugee children into their homes and care for them until the war—and the worst results of the war—are over.

Fifty-eight per cent of those polled thought that we should let the children come in, and a quarter of those polled said they would be willing to take one or more of the children, while 21 per cent more said that they would consider it. That means that there are something like 5,000,000 homes available in this country; even if you cut that number radically, it still adds up to a great many homes.

There is every possible reason, including the most hard-boiled ones, why we should do this. This column has pointed out before, and does so again, that there is an actual shortage of children in the United States at this moment. We are becoming an old people. Ask any eugenist, ask any one concerned with vital statistics, whether or not this is true and he will support my statement. This means that, if all of these children never went back to Europe, it would be an unmitigated God-send to the United States.

Now what is holding this up? One thing that is holding it up is the usual red tape. Each of these children has to have a passport and an affidavit. This business of making out affidavits is difficult and complicated. After all, if a person is willing to take a child in his home, that ought to constitute a good enough affidavit, and it would not be difficult at all to get a huge sum of money posted as a blanket bond that these children would not be thrown back on the Government.

Then, if we were using our intelligence instead of a lot of legalisms, we would have set up in France and Britain, and quickly—and by quickly I mean in a matter of days, not months—medical boards which would give quick examinations to the children, to see that we get the best and not the worst. It is essential that we try to save the brightest and the healthiest.

The quota system doesn't need to bother us, for the time being, because these children can come in under students' visas, which are outside the quota. This is a form of visitor's visa. It doesn't let them in permanently, but we can deal with the rest of the problem later on. In any case, this country must revise the quota system of immigration and must make a selective system. All that needs to be done now is to make every public school in this country an educational institution, and call these children students. And I greatly hope that they will be students, to whom we can make the democratic ideal something real, in human terms.

We women of America can accomplish this, and accomplish it quickly, if we really want to do so. We can accomplish it by besieging Congress with telegrams, demanding that it be done. We can do it by mobilizing our own organizations, our Federation of Women's Clubs, and our churches. We can set up, right away, in every village and community and city, committees that will canvass everybody with an income of more than $3000 a year, and thus find the homes. We can find them through the radio, providing there are local committees to which to report.

We should try to avoid placing any considerable number of these children in the city of New York, which is too big already. But we should make an appeal to people with country homes unused for more than three or four months of the year, to country clubs which are closed in winter. We shall need funds for nurses and social workers and volunteer workers who can look after children when they are placed in large groups. We can put some of the children into boarding schools.

I made a suggestion like this on the air a few weeks ago, speaking for the Red Cross, and a great many letters and telegrams came into my office immediately, from people offering to take children. I will take four for my own home immediately and I can make place for more.

There is such a wealth of good will in this country, of warm emotional energy, that could be used. Why does it stand idle? Let's put it to work in a big way for suffering Europe and for the sake of our own future.

Details of Balbo Death Unknown, Rome Now Says

Belief Is That He Died in Combat—Graziani Named Libyan Chief.

ROME, July 1.

AFTER the official statement in London that no British planes were engaged over Tobruk on Friday, when Marshal Italo Balbo's plane fell in flames, authorized Italian quarters today amplified Saturday's cryptic communique in which Balbo's death was announced.

The details of how the air marshal met his death are not known and may never be known, it was said, because those who were in the plane with him are dead and can never tell their story.

"All that is known," said a spokesman, "is that Balbo, with a group of aids, was en route to Tobruk on a mission in connection with his duties. They arrived at a moment when there was an air attack over Tobruk. The defense had entered into action both with anti-aircraft fire and fighting planes. Exactly what happened is not known. Probably Balbo, seeing the fight in progress, characteristically entered in and was shot down."

Marshal Balbo generally traveled in a fast plane which would scarcely be maneuverable in a fight, but what kind of a ship he flew that day and what type of enemy action was encountered was either not reported to Rome as yet, or is being withheld.

Marshal Balbo's command in Libya was taken over today by Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, chief of staff of the Italian army. Thus Graziani returns to Africa where he first made his fame in the reconquest of Libya after the World War. Later during the Ethiopian war, Graziani commanded the southern armies, advancing northward from Somaliland, but, during that campaign Marshal Pietro Badoglio kept Graziani on the defensive in the main.

White-haired, Graziani is, nevertheless, youthful in appearance and vigor. He is a big man, standing over six feet, and prefers the life

Leopold as Disliked Boy Refugee In England Learned to Hate British

Unpopular Prince of World War Days Was Bullied by Schoolmates—His Animosity Led Him to Pro-German Bias, Refusal to Co-operate with French on Defense.

Today M. W. Fodor, correspondent of the Chicago Daily News and the Post-Dispatch, begins the detailed narration of the collapse of the Low Countries, which he personally witnessed.

Prevented by the censorship from telling the real story of what happened, Fodor has returned to the United States.

By M. W. FODOR
Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright, 1940.

NEW YORK, July 1.

THE foundations for Belgium's utter failure to check the initial onslaught of the Nazi invaders and for King Leopold's final ignoble surrender were laid 25 years ago—in the schools of England.

For there the boy Leopold, timid from infancy, unhappily spent the World War years as a refugee.

Disliked by his schoolmates, he was forced to endure such constant bullying that its effects have been apparent for the rest of his life—and have been manifested particularly in a bitter hatred for the English and indirectly for the French.

Because of Leopold's nature, his Flemish aid-de-camp, Gen. J. Van Overstraten, found it an easy task to direct him into pro-German channels. Moreover, a wealthy German Baroness, who visited Leopold twice weekly in recent years, contributed notably toward the encouragement of his Nazi sympathies.

And, finally, a powerful "fifth column" element within the Belgian population lent added support to Nazi efforts to undermine the nation.

Leopold himself flatly refused to permit extension of the Maginot line into Belgium or to co-operate with the French and British general staffs.

In the absence of such co-operation, there was no Allied air force on hand to meet the initial German attack; Belgium itself had no adequate anti-aircraft defenses, and the Belgian troops were almost immediately demoralized.

The story of their officers' treachery in failing to blast bridges in the retreat has already been told. There were three important spans left standing on the Meuse and the Albert Canal, over which the Germans were able to cross. The Belgians at first contended that the officers involved were killed by bombs before they could give the necessary orders or that refugees pouring across the bridges made it impossible to blow them up. Subsequent investigations have shown, however, that bribery was the larger factor.

In the face of the hordes of mechanized invaders and under the devastating fire of bombing planes and Westwall artillery, Belgian nerves failed and the Germans penetrated almost 60 miles on the first day.

Once the defenses had cracked, the Nazis were able to stampede through a nation which "fifth columnists" for months had been preparing for their coming.

This "fifth column" was made up of (1, the Flemish extremists of Staf Declerq, (2) the German National Socialists of the ex-German territories of Eupen and Malmedy, and (3) the Rexists of Leon Degrelle.

In addition, there were 350,000 "foreigners" scattered through Belgium, of whom almost half were either German citizens or German secret agents.

In a pitiful gesture to slow the invaders, Belgian military authorities ordered all direction signs removed from the country's highways. It had no more effect than if the signs had never existed. Aaerial cameramen had been photographing the whole countryside for months, and German officers had memorized its every detail.

British Agree War Must End In 'New Order'

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN

LONDON, July 1.

AS dukes and and butchers' boys, viscounts and garbage men, prepare themselves to defend England, or to die in the process, the minds of thinking Englishmen are once again turning to the "new order to come."

As one man, they agree that victory for England, no matter how overwhelming, or how indecisive, that victory may be, must result in a new order for the European community of nations, and for this country itself.

The London Times today prints an editorial which a year ago would have been regarded as blood red by most of its readers, but which now simply seems to state axiomatic truths.

Discussing post-war Europe as a whole, it comes to two conclusions: First, that small, weak and unarmed European states will not be allowed to practice that obstructive neutrality which so many of them enjoyed with such dismaying results during the early stages of the present conflict; secondly, that "some measure of pooled resources and centralized control is necessary for the survival of European civilization.

It proceeds to cite attacks of dictators on "pluto-democracy" as a retminder that the "problem of the new order is social as well as international" and that England itself must put its house in order by the destruction of national class and individual privilege.

"Attacks of dictators on 'pluto-democrats' are an effort partly to exploit the improverishment that they have created and partly to conceal its causes," it writes. "The plea is grotesque enough, especially in the conclusions which the dictators seek to draw from it. But the persistence of these attacks and

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Willkie Electrifies 'Em.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN a land where millions are enamored of Charlie McCarthy—a stick of wood dressed up—let no one be surprised that the Republicans picked Wendell Willkie as their standard-bearer. Win or lose in November, he is the first political mushroom to be nominated for the presidency and the first dark horse to carry a high-powered arc taillight.

Yesterday, Mr. Willkie was as intangible as Cupid or the Lady of the Lake. Today, he is as real as a brass band, including a bazooka. Delegates who assembled in Philadelphia to jeer the name of Willkie remained to cheer in tears.

Whence came this political windcharger is, perhaps, inconsequential now, but it was reported that a group of plug-hatters sponsored his coming-out party. Concededly, he is the pampered pet of the gentry with money sacks on their backs, German goiters under their belts and whose arches give under the strain.

As Mr. Willkie had been a New Dealer and had contributed to the campaign fund of the great magician, salubrious Harold Ickes blessed his campaign. Then it was reported that the views of Willkie on foreign affairs coincided precisely with the Roosevelt policy, the specific Willkie plank being: "Are we or ain't we?" This, a noted commentator wrote, made Willkie the logical man for the Republicans to nominate.

Every propagandist, every commentator, newspaper as well as radio, was a Willkie press agent. The world was told that everybody—from plug-hats to plug-uglies—were charged with the Willkie-for-President uplift, and his defeat would short-circuit the world.

At the given moment, Mr. Willkie appeared before representatives of the press. Turning on the current, he electrified them. In a terse statement that exuded sparks, he let it be known that he was partial to Herr Adolf's technique, and that he would do a blitzkrieg at Philadelphia. None other than "Old Bill" White, the sage of Emporia, enlisted as parachutist.

Arriving at the Quaker capital, Mr. Willkie hurried into the headquarters of his Committee of Ladies. Amid the rustle of silk, he quaffed tea and sniffed the sweet-scented ozone. Refreshed, he emerged to inform the press, "I will win, and that damn quick." That was round one, and the scorers were obliged to give it to Mr. Willkie on points and for being the aggressor.

From that time on, it was just a matter of so many kilowatt hours. A cheering committee of thousands, according to Taft supporters, was planted in the convention hall galleries to shriek at the mention of Willkie's name.

It proved as effective as a web of live wires. Block after block of delegates swooned and came to on Willkie's bandwagon. By midnight, candidates throwing in sponges had littered the premises.

It was the biggest homecoming since Esau took Jacob unto his bosom. And with the same buildup and high-pressure tactics, the Republicans should and would have nominated King Boreas for the presidency.

Wheat No Cure for Farmer's Jitters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THURSDAY you reprinted an article from the Oklahoma City Times, entitled "A Cure for War Jitters," suggesting that war jitters could be cured by the soothing sight of the long shadows from the shocks of cut wheat.

The author of that article evidences complete ignorance of the man who drilled that wheat, cut it with a binder, shocked it and whose livelihood depends on it. That man could hardly allay his war jitters by looking at it because right now his biggest problem is: "How much will I get for this wheat, and how will the war affect its price by the time I have it threshed?"

Possibly the farmer should go to the city and stand on Twelfth and Olive and look down the canyon and relieve himself of his war jitters with a pleasant contemplation of the long shadows from the tall buildings on Olive street.

J. A. T. HAMILTON.

For Downtown Commuters' Depot.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

TO state a platitude, St. Louis is almost the only large city of the United States which does not have coaches and coaches of suburbanites, arriving and departing daily from its railroad station. This despite the fact that the population of St. Louis County has and is increasing at a phenomenal rate.

It is good news indeed to read that an unofficial committee of progressive, leading citizens has suggested that suburban trains, instead of making Union Station their terminus, should use the railroad tunnel and discharge their passengers at stations to be set up in the basement of the Arcade Building or of the old Federal Building.

Also, it is a long ride by motor bus, automobile or street car to the northern section of St. Louis County and railroads, because of their own right-of-ways, can expeditiously convey passengers to downtown districts.

Could not the old Main Street station at Eads Bridge be utilized? The Wabash has a station at Rosedale. Why not an express service for citizens living in that vicinity to Eighth and Olive streets? And Lambert Airport—it would seem that the Wabash could convey passengers to and from it in much less time than now required by auto. COUNTIAN.

WHERE LABOR STANDS TODAY.

For five years preceding the Hitler blitzkrieg, the advances and the tribulations of the American labor movement were Page 1 news. Today accounts of skirmishes between the CIO and AFL have given way to the cabled reports of bloodier battles in Europe.

Unfortunately, the high hopes of the great organizing drives of 1937 and 1938 are only half-realized. Too much was made of the war between John L. Lewis and William Green, and too little attention was paid to the building of sound machinery for collective bargaining.

As a result, the unions have lost many friends—people who saw in them an instrumentality for bringing about that economic democracy without which political democracy must remain only a half-fulfilled promise. Labor could use these friends, now that some feel the reverberations of Europe's war offer an opportunity to put the unionists "back in their places."

There would be less indifference today toward some of the more outrageous proposals to amend the Wagner Act if the labor leaders had displayed a brand of statesmanship commanding real respect. As affairs now stand, they can prepare to meet some serious opposition—and sincere opposition, too.

No matter what blindness may be charged to John L. Lewis and his followers, they never conceived organized labor as a movement for the sifted few. They set out to organize not only the highly skilled mechanics, but also the white-collar workers, the sailors and even the sharecroppers and migratory farm laborers. And the AFL has perforce followed suit to a considerable degree.

As a result, even a divided labor movement today is engaged in an effort to raise standards for the many and not for a few. And that must be the goal for all of us if the American way is to retain its meaning. Collective bargaining in this sense is one way of making democracy work.

It is unfortunate that intransigence on the part of a few threatens to perpetuate the rift between the two labor factions. Such an attitude sets at naught the efforts of a Sidney Hillman or a Dan Tobin, and it smooths the way for the Bioffs and Scalises.

New efforts are under way today to consolidate the labor front. David Dubinsky, for example, has taken his International Ladies Garment Workers back into the AFL on condition that the federation drop its anti-CIO war chest—the special assessments that caused the International Typographical Union to sever its AFL connection. This has been done, but the AFL has not yet taken any steps toward making good its promise—also given to Dubinsky—to cleanse its ranks of racketeering. Nor did William Green make a move toward peace with his last-minute indorsement of the proposed Smith amendments to the Wagner Act. Internationals and central trades unions in all parts of the country are filling the Congressional Record with protests against his stand.

Just as long as these differences remain purely inter-union matters, the public will show little interest in them. The average citizen is tired of the unionists' bickering. He has decided to let the labor leaders look after labor's interests. However, if those differences should threaten to impede our national defense program, they will immediately become a public issue. They will not be tolerated when united effort is the order of the day. The sooner labor leaders get this through their heads, the better.

A HUMILIATION FOR THE LAW.

The crime wave in Kansas City, Kan., must be getting acutely embarrassing for Chief of Police W. H. Stone. Last night's outbreak, in particular, was downright humiliating. There he was, peacefully working away with mortar and pestle at the prescription counter of his drug store, intent only upon compounding the soothing medicinals that would relieve an infantile colic or an adult toothache. Enter two entirely disrespectful law breakers, who hold up the store manager, seize $15 from the cash register and dash out the door, allowing the astounded pharmacist-Chief only a fleeting glimpse of their persons. This was adding insult to injury, since it's the fourth time the Chief's drug store has been held up in his seven years as head of the force.

It is indeed a disheartening episode for law and order, but a question arises: How does the Chief of Police of the Sunflower State's largest city, a metropolis of 121,000, find time to carry on as a druggist as well?

DRUG LAW REFORM FULLY IN EFFECT.

Today, July 1, years of endeavor for food and drug law reform are consummated as the sweeping law passed in June, 1938, at last becomes fully effective. The delay of more than a year in the beginning of complete enforcement was a concession to cosmetic and drug interests that asserted they needed more time to arrange for compliance with the labeling provisions. Congress acceded to their demands and delayed enforcement for a year. After that lengthy period of grace there can be no further excuses for any concern's failure to obey the law.

The purposes of the revision are quickly stated: to close the many gaping loopholes in the 1906 law, to insure truth-telling in manufacturers' claims, to protect the public from fraud and injury in its purchases of food, drugs, appliances and cosmetics. Penalties now are heavy enough to insure compliance. Instead of the former $100 fine (sometimes regarded by unscrupulous manufacturers as merely a license fee), penalties ranging up to a fine of $10,000 and a prison term of three years are provided.

The Food and Drug Administration now has ample authority to head off and prosecute any manner of deception upon the consumer. Its previous record of unbending enforcement gives assurance that the long, and sometimes lonely, fight for drug law reform will be of genuine benefit to the health and the pocketbook of the nation.

AXIS VS. SOVIETS IN THE BALKANS.

Russian advances into Rumania are being watched by the outside world with intense interest. Much more than Balkan issues is at stake here, it is widely felt; perhaps a turning point in the war will develop from the episode. Will the Nazis tolerate extensive Soviet penetration into their chosen sphere of influence? Will Italy, for that matter, let the Balkans fall under Bolshevik dominion? What are the prospects for an Axis attack upon Stalin as a result of his Rumanian adventure?

The picture of Hitler calling off his war in the West, and turning around to wage a mutually destructive war upon his Soviet ally, is an alluring one, but it exceeds the bounds of immediate likelihood. Maj. George Fielding Eliot, in a discussion of the immensely complicated Balkan situation, said yesterday that "this (Rumanian) situation holds the possibility of a German-Russian clash, but it is only a possibility, on which already too many specious hopes have been built in London and elsewhere."

Future struggles between Teuton and Slav for control of the Balkans are assuredly in prospect. Such struggles have been going on for centuries. With both peoples in the militaristic and aggressive mood produced by their dictators, the feud will doubtless be resumed ultimately with redoubled fury. The dictators are canny men, however. Stalin continues to grab while the grabbing is good, building up his defenses for any move Germany may later attempt. Hitler has some pressing business on hand just now, the attack upon England, and it would be out of character for him to drop it for a campaign in the East.

But the future is another story.

MIDSUMMER DREAM IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis is now enjoying the privilege of a closeup view of a system which "will set in motion the financial processes whereby easy access to all the desirable material things that make for human comfort and happiness can be had by all."

This happy day is to be ushered in by the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc., which is holding its annual convention here. The description is from a speech Dr. Townsend delivered before a banquet of admiring Congressmen in Washington.

The new plan, received with appropriate applause by such statesmen as Senators Ashurst of Arizona, Downey of California and some 40 vote-hungry Representatives, is simplicity itself. It abandons the old Townsend scheme of a 2 per cent transaction tax and substitutes instead a schedule of increased taxes on individual and corporate incomes.

Conscientious perusal of the Townsend National Weekly fails to disclose an estimate of the annual revenue necessary to supply the proposed pensions of $200 a month to our senior citizens. But with the aid of Treasury reports and census abstracts, we are able to supply the information which Dr. Townsend tactfully withholds.

There are in the United States nearly 12,000,000 men and women above 60, which the Townsend Plan makes the age of eligibility. The rules of eligibility are extremely liberal, but let us modestly assume that only half of those of eligible age would receive pensions. The annual cost of pensions of $200 a month would then be $14,400,000,000.

Our Federal taxes on private and corporate incomes yield about $1,950,000,000 a year, not counting the increases recently voted for national defense. So, in order to pay these pensions, we would merely have to raise these peacetime taxes an average of a little more than 700 per cent—provided people didn't get so scared at the prospect that all business closed down and everybody became idle.

The Townsend plan is unquestionably a valid scheme to bring everybody to a level of economic equality—the dead level of universal bankruptcy.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH IN ST. LOUIS.

The plans for St. Louis' Independence day observance in Forest Park have all the makings of a thumping old-time celebration, with 1940 trimmings. There will be marching and drills by military units, police and firemen. There will be music by the Municipal Opera chorus, and a rousing community sing. Private fireworks displays now are barred in St. Louis, for safety's sake, but the Mayor and the Chamber of Commerce promise that the gorgeous, dazzling pyrotechnics of this occasion will more than take their place. At a moment in American history when people are thinking seriously about what true patriotism means, the great crowd's united pledge to the flag will be a thrilling moment.

In past years of complacency, the civic Fourth of July celebration had faded from the picture in large cities. Now, with Americans in a mood to remember and cherish their blessings of liberty as never before, it will be reassuring to see the nation's birthday celebrated by a great outpouring of citizens. The Spirit of '76 has come alive again. Independence day is once more the Glorious Fourth. Art Hill on Thursday will see a re-dedication to Americanism.

SENSELESS DISCRIMINATION.

The bill which President Roosevelt signed over the week end providing that the 3,500,000 aliens in this country be registered and fingerprinted is a plainly incomplete and grossly discriminatory measure.

A law of this sort is either needed or it isn't. If the danger from fifth column activities is so great as to demand such a sweeping measure, then the law should cover everybody. It should apply to full-fledged citizens as well as to citizens-in-the-making.

In signing the bill, President Roosevelt said it did not carry "any stigma or implication of hostility" toward aliens. This may be true as far as the President and Congress are concerned, but the people affected will inevitably feel that they are being singled out and subjected to treatment usually reserved for persons suspected of crime.

In the circumstances, we see no objection to a universal registration and fingerprinting law. Tens of thousands of citizens have voluntarily filed their fingerprints with the Department of Justice as a protection in case of amnesia or of accidents.

If we are going to fingerprint 3 per cent of the residents of the country, we should fingerprint everybody. It has been abundantly demonstrated in every country which has been taken over by Germany that fifth column crimes are not limited to aliens. If the guilty aliens had not had native accomplices, they would not have been much of a menace, anyway.

A realistic approach to the problem of preventing espionage and sabotage, as well as a minimum regard for the sensibilities of the aliens who are citizens-to-be, demands that we either drop the fingerprinting idea altogether or make it all-inclusive.

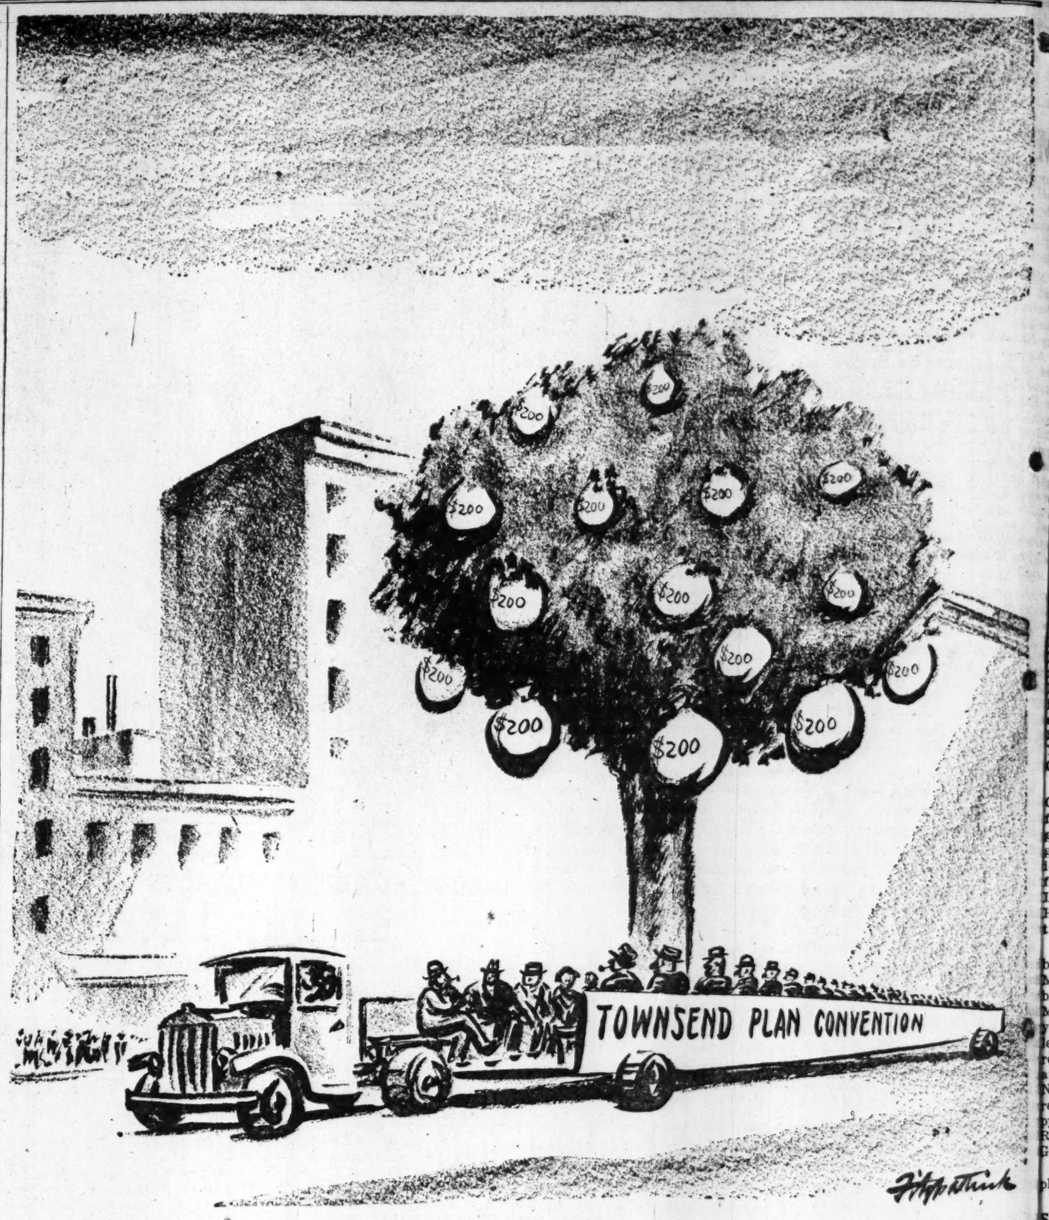
NO MEASURE OF GOV. STARK.

The vindictive treatment of the Governor at the organization meeting of the Missouri delegation to the Democratic national convention could have been no surprise to Mr. Stark. Everyone else expected it.

The Clark followers and the remnants of the Pendergast crowd hate the Governor for his outstanding part in the liberation of Missouri from rapacious bossism. They hate him for restoration of the ballot. They hate him for many other good works.

And so they made Bennett Clark, who sat on the sidelines in the battles against Pendergast, chairman. They chose Harry Truman, Pendergast's hand-picked Senator, as Missouri's representative on the Resolutions and Platform Committee. To Gov. Stark they wouldn't give even the altogether minor post of honorary vice-chairman.

Such conduct is no measure of the Governor, but it is an accurate scaling of the little men who run the courthouse ring machinery of the State.



SO MANY THINGS HAVE HAPPENED WE HAD ALMOST FORGOTTEN.

An Appeal to America's Reason

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Build up the national defenses, and keep country out of European wars, book publisher urges; dictatorship is certain if the United States becomes a belligerent, he fears; says that widespread sympathy for England should not blind people to dangerous hysteria.

A Statement by J. H. Gipson, President of the Caxton Printers, Ltd., Caldwell, Ida.

WAR hysteria, the like of which no American has ever known in times of peace, has swept this country. Unreasoning fear and blind hatred have apparently taken full possession of many in high quarters, and America, swayed by emotionalism, is moving step by step toward active participation in this war.

My sympathies, and the sympathies of the American people, are overwhelmingly and logically with the Allies. Germany has ruthlessly trampled upon the rights of small neutrals.

Even had Germany not done this, Americans generally, as I do, hate and distrust the Nazi form of government, with its absolutism, its regimentation and its treatment of religious and racial minorities.

Most of us are drawn close to the English by many ties. Our culture is very largely inherited from them. We like the English people and we like the type of government that they have developed.

The plea of the interventionists is that this is a war between the dictatorships and the democracies, and that we should go to war to save democracy. I cannot accept this theory. What it amounts to is a plan that in order to save democracy in the world, we must destroy it at home.

Make no mistake, the opening gun fired by America in this war will mark the end of the American Republic. There will never again be, in this country, the liberty, freedom, peace, prosperity and plenty that we have known in the past.

When war is declared, the country will go under a dictatorship as absolute in many respects as that which obtains in Germany and Italy and Russia today. We will never, in our time, recover our liberties.

I would not sacrifice America to save any foreign country, even if I felt our entry into the war would protect England.

The facts are that any aid that we could render will, in all probability, come too late, and only involve ourselves in the general destruction which now seems certain to overwhelm Europe.

I realize that nothing I can say or do will have any great influence on the march of events here in the United States. It has been my theory, however, and I have tried consistently to follow it all during my life, that good government can only come to a republic, such as our own, through active participation in public affairs by every thinking man and woman.

I am sending this letter, in what I regard as the darkest hour of the American Republic, to all of those with whom my interest has put me in touch, begging that each of you give the last ounce of energy and the last ounce of effort to the country we all love so well.

I believe that those who have whipped up this war madness and blind and unreasoning fear in America have done so with ulterior motives.

I think that we should proceed calmly, carefully, to build up the national defense to the point where a declaration of war against us by any Power or combination of Powers that can be foreseen would be an act of national suicide on the part of such aggressive Powers.

Above all, however, we must keep America out of participation in this war. We must preserve our neutrality.

I hope each of you who receives this letter will, if you feel that my position is sound, write your Representatives and Senators in Congress, and your friends, urging them to write to their friends and communicate with their Senators and Representatives. A mighty movement of the American people is necessary if we are not to get into it.

Bart Howard's Suspended Education

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

WHEN Bart Howard, editorial writer of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, was proclaimed a Doctor of Humane Letters at the Williams College commencement the other day, he was described in routine language as "of the class of 1894."

Back in St. Louis, the Post-Dispatch, rejoicing in the new honor that has come to this member of its editorial staff (already a Pulitzer Prize winner), discloses that there is more in the phrase than meets the eye. Despite a certain facetiousness in presenting historical facts, Mr. Howard's own newspaper must be accepted as unimpeachable authority for the statement that he "left college a year ahead of schedule—at the direction of the college authorities."

Mr. Howard is quoted (perhaps to his own surprise) as attributing his premature departure from Williams to an argument with a Latin professor over some highly erudite subject about which the professor had knowledge and the student had none.

However, a more prosaic version is appended. There may have been, it is admitted, some kind of a melee in a railroad station involving college discipline. If this is true, Mr. Howard belongs to a fairly large company of well-known or successful men.

This enforced interruption of education has overtaken even some men whose whole lives have been devoted to academic pursuits and have attained high distinction. The career of the late William A. Dunning, Columbia professor of history, was an instance.

Dunning entered Dartmouth College as a freshman in 1877. Taking part in a raid on certain sophomores, he was expelled, along with several other freshmen. The next time Dunning saw Dartmouth was in February, 1916, when he went there to deliver the Phi Beta Kappa address. In June of that year, he attended commencement to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Harlan F. Stone, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, transferred to Amherst College from the Massachusetts Agricultural College (now Massachusetts State) after he had been invited to leave the latter institution for participating in a fracas in the college chapel.

College discipline in the nineteenth century was often administered with little tact and a deficient sense of proportion. On the other hand, the college authorities could not outgrow all at once a system that had developed when student disorders, at least in the realm of physical force, were more menacing than they are today. There was often need to protect both property and the peace of the community.

The mistake of the authorities was that they did not always distinguish between trivial offenses and willful misconduct.

An Independent Air Force

From the New York World-Telegram.

FOR several years, Maj. Al Williams, famous speed champion and aviation writer, warned day in and day out that the axis Powers were building a mighty air machine which threatened the destruction of Europe.

Even though he made trips through Europe, inspecting airplane plants, fields and methods, he could not convince the Generals, Admirals and statesmen of this country and the Allies that familiar methods of warfare were about to be revolutionized.

Now, to their horror and dismay, his predictions are materializing in catastrophe. There is danger that the truth has been realized too late to save the British and French empires, and this country is frantically starting to arm with a prayer that we may yet have time.

In view of this record, there is every reason why the Government and the public should give thoughtful attention to another warning which Maj. Williams voiced at the concluding dinner of the aviation forum conducted in Washington by the National Aeronautic Association.

"It is the sheerest folly," he said, "to paint a vision of adequate defense until we have, as the first essential, a separate and independent air force which can plan, develop and operate real American air power without interference and restraint from the army and navy."

There can no longer be doubt of Maj. Williams' declaration that "air power dominates the European war, and spells the difference between victory and defeat." None but those who will not see could refuse the prime lesson—that air power must be taken out of the stepchild class in our scheme of national defense.

While Hitler and Mussolini were developing independent air forces, Maj. Williams pointed out, "Naval and military blocs dominating England's rearmament period—from 1936 to the outbreak of this war—went overboard in buying battleships and the wrong kind of tools and in throttling the development of British air power."

Assembled aviation people cheered wildly as Maj. Williams said "The complete answer, as I see it, is (and I can almost feel the gallant spirit of Gen. Billy Mitchell at my shoulder as I say these words) the United States must have a separate air force under a three-way department of national defense—army, navy and air.

"The development of true American air power can no longer be left in the jealous hands of the land army and the sea navy and politicians. To do this is to court the present plight of England, and eventual disaster."

NEW YORK CITY'S LAST FARM.

From the Pittsburgh Press.

NEW YORK CITY is getting to be quite an up-and-coming community. The last farm in Manhattan has finally been surrendered to become a parking lot.

Vincenzo Benedetto held out as long as he could at Tenth avenue and 214th street. Practically every year, he was good for a story in the papers about "the last farm in Manhattan." In fact, Benedetto himself wearied of this. "Go 'way," he would say. "I am sick and tired of talking about the farm."

Well, he needn't talk any more. Beneath the spreading cherry trees, the clustered autos park.

This climax of urbanization came just in time. For the present census is almost sure to show a trend toward semi-rural living. Vincenzo Benedetto may prove to have been a fleck of foam on the very crest of a wave of urbanization which now begins to recede.

St. Louisan in Wedding.

GLEN RIDGE, N. J., July 1.

PINK snapdragon and white lilies decorated the living room of the home of Mr. and and Mrs. Theodore F. Keer for the marriage Saturday evening of their daughter, Miss Kathleen Keer, to Brewster Chapman Breeden, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Harris Breeden, also of Glen Ridge. Dr. Clarence Wilson performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a simple gown of white marquisette, fashioned along princesse lines, with long sleeves and a V neckline. Her veil of tulle was caught with a cap of lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Henry Nicolaus McCluney, the former Miss Carolyn Lansing, St. Louis, attended the bride as matron of honor. Mrs. McCluney wore a pale blue organdie gown with a full skirt and fitted bodice. She had a spray of delphinium in her hair and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of blue delphinium. Other attendants were Miss Dorothea Black, Montclair, and Miss Susan Hildreth, Winchester, Mass. They were gowned in pale pink organdie cut similar to the matron of honor's gown, and wore sprays of pink sweetpeas in their hair. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of pink sweetpeas. The bride and Miss Hildreth were attendants at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. McCluney, Feb. 10, in St. Louis.

John David Wiggin, Essex Falls, was best man. Ushers included David Nelson, Chicago; Edgar Porter Sackett, Buffalo, N. Y.; Everett Black, Tilton, N. H.; Edward Gosselin, New Haven, Conn., and William Spruance, Wilmington, Del.

The bride attended Miss Beard's School in Orange, the Emma Willard School and was graduated last month from Smith College. Her father is a well known art collector. Mr. Breeden prepared at Exeter for Yale, from where he was graduated in 1939, and is now a student at McGill Medical School. In the fall the couple will make their home in Montreal.

RUSSIAN CHARACTER ACTOR IN EMIL JANNINGS ROLE

Akim Tamiroff Satisfactory in "Way of All Flesh," Although Better in Comic Field.

Akim Tamiroff, the Russian actor who has been getting more and more important character roles in Hollywood films since he played the General in "The General Died at Dawn," has the weighty leading role in "The Way of All Flesh," which opened at the Fox Theater Saturday, and plays it satisfactorily. It is perhaps, however, a little too lugubrious for one of Tamiroff's genuine comic talents, which he has employed to good advantage on many occasions.

The story in general outline is like that in which Emil Jannings appeared 13 years ago, with some changes in locale, some in events. Tamiroff is most winning in the more or less comic sequences near the opening of the picture, where he is the bearded bank messenger in the city. Muriel Angelus, Gladys George and William Henry are in the cast.

"Sialor's Lady," the other new arrival at the Fox, is a comedy about sailors ashore and about the presence of a baby girl stowaway with the Pacific fleet. Particularly faithful to detail, the picture creates a realistic story of brawls, romances and discipline. Joan Davis and Wally Vernon handle the comedy angles, with Jon Hall and Nancy Kelly as the pair to be wedded at the conclusion.

PAUL D. CRAVATH, CHAIRMAN OF METROPOLITAN OPERA, DIES

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., July 1 (AP).—Paul D. Cravath, chairman of the board of the Metropolitan Opera Company and for many years one of New York's outstanding corporation lawyers, died at his home here today. He was 78 years old.

Cravath's firm for years represented J. P. Morgan & Co., and other important banking and business corporations.

Charles Evans Hughes was one of his associates in his early legal career. His later firm of Cravath, De Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood acted in the reorganiaztion of a number of railroads, among them the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Missouri Pacific.

In 1917, President Wilson made him a member of the mission headed by Col. E. M. House, sent abroad to represent this country at an inter-Allied conference regarding the conduct of the war. The Inter-Allied Council on War Purchases and Finance, with Cravath as one of the two United States members, developed from the conference. Gen. John J. Pershing awarded him the Distinguished Service Medal in 1919.

31 CHILDREN SWALLOW SALES TAX TOKENS

St. Louis U. Doctor Reports on Successful Removal in Each Case.

Thirty-one cases in which the zinc Missouri sales tax tokens were swallowed by children, and had to be removed by physicians with special instruments, are reported by Dr. William A. Marmor of St. Louis University Medical School faculty, in the July issue of the Journal of the State Medical Association.

"I am happy to report," Dr. Marmor writes, "that all 31 cases resulted in the safe removal of the foreign body without mishap, and in complete recovery." He gives a large part of the credit to Dr. Chevalier Jackson of Philadelphia and his co-workers in endoscopy and laryngeal surgery, who have taught physicians generally to save cases formerly considered hopeless.

"From a public health viewpoint," Dr. Marmor continues, "selection of the present zinc tokens with regard to size and shape was unwise, because people are careless with coins of such small value, and give them to children to play with. Previously, the smallest coin requiring removal by endoscopy was a quarter, and few children in these times get their hands on a quarter.

"From an endoscopist's point of view, the sales tax token should be smaller than a nickel if round, or smaller than a dime if any other shape.

"It is imperative that we acquaint mothers with the danger of allowing small children to play with any object that might become harmful if the child were to swallow or aspirate it."

The 31 cases were reported by hospitals throughout the State, and occurred up to July 1, 1939. It is thought that more have occurred in the last year. The average age of the children in the cases reported was 3 years and 5 months.

Funeral of Mrs. Kathryn McAuliffe.

The funeral of Mrs. Kathryn McAuliffe, widow of Florenc McAuliffe, a former St. Louis builder and contractor, will be tomorrow at 9 a. m. at St. Margaret's Church, 3868 Flad avenue, with burial in Calvary Cemetery. Mrs. McAuliffe, 88 years old, died Saturday of infirmities of age. She resided with a daughter, Mrs. Albert F. Schulenburg, at 4229 Flora boulevard. Also surviving are two other daughters and a son.

'RIO RITA' TO BEGIN WEEK'S RUN TONIGHT

Last Appearance of Season for 3 Leading Players at Municipal Opera Theater.

"Rio Rita," tuneful Ziegfeld operetta, will be revived at the Municipal Theater in Forest Park for a week's run beginning tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Rosemary Brancato and Lansing Hatfield, who will play the romantic leads, and Cass Daley, comedienne, will make their final appearances of the season at the outdoor theater.

Bobby Jarvis, comedian and a graduate of The Principia here, will take the part he played in "Rio Rita" in 1935, his first appearance with the Municipal Opera. Other principals will be Audrey Christie and Jack Good, comedians who appeared in last week's production; Joseph Macaulay, Bob Lawrence, Karen Lynd, Al Downing, Frederic Persson and James Gillis.

The plot centers in the romance of a Mexican senorita with a Texas ranger. Songs in the production include "Rio Rita," the title number; "If You're in Love, You'll Waltz," "Following the Sun Around," "River Song" and "Kinkajou."

Latest in Latin-American dance routines, featuring the rumba, tango and Conga, will be presented by the opera's dancing chorus. Principal dancers will be Thalia Mara and Gisella Caccialanza.

The final performance last night of "Apple Blossoms," the third production of the season, was viewed by an audience of 8300, bringing attendance for the week to 60,000.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Loretta Duggan; a son, Thomas Duggan, and three brothers. Funeral services will be Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary Magdalene's Church, 4917 Sutherland avenue. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Comedian Dead

BEN TURPIN

BEN TURPIN DIES AT 65; COMIC OF EARLY FILMS

Cross-Eyed Slapstick Comedian Last Appeared in 'Hollywood Cavalcade.'

HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (AP).—Ben Turpin, old-time movie star famous for his crossed eyes, died today. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Turpin, who was born in New Orleans, was one of the screen's first slapstick comedians. Before that, he played burlesque for Sam T. Jack in Chicago and spent 11 years in vaudeville.

He made scores of one and two-reelers in the old days. He topped off his career with "Swing High," in 1930, came back in 1935 for an educational short, then made an appearance last year in "Hollywood Cavalcade."

Mr. Turpin had been ill for some time. He was discharged from a hospital June 23 and apparently was on the road to recovery, doctors said. Early today he was stricken and died in a hospital to where he was hurriedly taken.

Turpin retired in the early days of talking pictures, reputedly with a fortune. He invested his movie earnings, which were considerable, in real estate. He lived quietly in Beverly Hills.

When he did return to occasional talking picture parts, he demanded $1000 a week for his services. If a producer thought that was too much to pay, the actor would say he didn't have to work—"take it or leave it."

Last year, when reports circulated that he was down and out, he purchased two business buildings for $50,000 cash, announcing:

"That will let 'em know I still am able to take care of myself."

His own biography said he was born Sept. 19, 1869, which would make him 71, but most screen files list him as 65.

His cross-eyes trick was first used about 40 years ago when doing an imitation of the then-popular comic character, Happy Hooligan. It brought down the house.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BUYS SITE FOR NEW BUILDING

Structure at Warson and Ladue Roads Planned to Care for Expanding Congregation.

Purchase by the Second Presbyterian Church of a six-acre tract at the northeast corner of Warson and Ladue roads, near Mary Institute, was announced at church services yesterday by the Rev. John W. MacIvor, pastor. A church will be built on the site, Dr. MacIvor said.

There will be no change in the status of the present church at Taylor avenue and Westminster place, the pastor said. Both buildings, as well as that of Greeley Church, 2240 St. Louis avenue, owned by Second Church, will be maintained by an expanded congregation.

Lithographer F. O. Sullivan Dies.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 1 (AP).—Frank O. Sullivan, 69 years old, of Roselle Park, widely known lithographer, who pioneered in use of the offset process, died yesterday after a short illness. Known to his friends as "Offset Sullivan," he operated his own lithographing business in Cleveland prior to his retirement in 1932. Since then he had lectured extensively on offset printing.

NORMAN THOMAS CALLS ROOSEVELT AND WILLKIE TWINS

Asserts They Think Alike —'One Chance to Make Democracy Work Is Lost if U. S. Enters War.

MILWAUKEE, July 1 (AP).—Norman Thomas, the Socialist party's presidential candidate, pictured Franklin D. Roosevelt and Wendell Wilkie, the Republican presidential nominee, as political twins yesterday and predicted that Willkie had a 50-50 chance to be elected even if Roosevelt ran for a third term.

Thomas called Willkie "the wonder boy of the Republican party" but described him as "a representative of the political fall of man—from spiritual Socialist to Democrat to Republican."

The white-haired Socialist said he expected Willkie's popularity with the public would grow swiftly and by election time would rival that of Roosevelt.

Thomas drew numerous parallels between Willkie and President Roosevelt and said that if the men had exchanged positions in 1932, each probably would have followed the identical course the other has charted since.

"America has one last chance to make democracy work," Thomas said. "If, instead, America goes into this war, that chance will be lost, and in losing it America will have left neither power no wisdom to save Europe.

"The talk now is that we will be in war without a declaration before the election rolls around. If the people are to fight a war, then let them vote on it."

He spoke at a State Socialist party picnic.

LIMIT TO CIVIL LIBERTIES, LEGION COMMANDER SAYS

Time to Stop Coddling Subversive Elements, Deport Those Who Don't Like U. S., He Asserts.

QUAKERTOWN, Pa., July 1 (AP).—National Commander Raymond J. Kelly of the American Legion said yesterday that it was time this nation stopped coddling subversive elements.

He asserted that civil liberties have a limit and advocated deportation of those who oppose the country's form of government.

Urging a strong national defense program, he said: "We today are faced with a situation as we have never been before, and if our Government is to continue, it will mean the utmost sacrifice of every one of us in payment of taxes and other personal efforts."

COURT PROCEDURE BILL SIGNED BY ROOSEVELT

Federal Judges to Regulate Criminal as Well as Civil Cases.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed legislation today, empowering the Supreme Court to regulate criminal procedure in Federal Courts.

A statement issued by the Whtie House, describing the legislation as a "far-reaching and important step in the reform of the law," follows:

"tI was announced at the White House that the President today signed a bill to confer on the Supreme Court the power to regulate criminal procedure in the Federal courts. This legislation is a far-reaching and important step in the reform of the law.

"It is hoped that this grant of power will result in introducing uniformity and simplicity in the administration of criminal justice in the Federal courts and eliminating some of the archaic technicalities which at times hamper or delay the progress of cases through the courts.

"In 1934, similar authority was conferred on the Supreme Court in respect to civil cases. The Supreme Court thereupon appointed an advisory committee of eminent members of the bench and bar and teachers of the law, which drafted a set of simple rules of procedure.

"With some modifications, these rules were adopted and promulgated by the Supreme Court. They have met with general acclaim and have made an important contribution to reducing law's delays and diminishing the cost of litigation.

"It is reasonable to expect a similar result in criminal cases from the legislation just enacted."

The President also signed into law legislation prescribing a 3½ per cent interest rate for Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans until July 1, 1942.

Under previous law the 3½ per cent rate on Land Bank loans would have increased to 4 per cent today. The old law also provided a 4 per cent rate on commissioner loans, which the new measure now reduces by half of one per cent.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mrs. Janet Tourtelotte of Spokane, president of the Washington State chaper of Pro America, national Republican women's organization, will speak to a meeting of the St. Louis chaper at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. George R. Throop, 6510 Ellenwood avenue.

The Democratic organization of the Twenty-sixth Ward will sponsor an open air meeting at 8:15 o'clock tonight at Kingshighway and Wells avenue, at which candidates for office will speak.

RADIO WAVE ECHO TRIED AS WAY TO PREDICT WEATHER

Narrow Beams Shot Upward and Reflected to Study Atmosphere.

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—The echoing of radio waves from the upper reaches of the atmosphere was reported today as the newest development in making improved weather predictions.

The system, developed by Professor R. C. Colwell of West Virginia University and Dr. Albert W. Friend of Harvard, consists of shooting narrow beams of short radio waves directly upward and receiving them by reflection about 200 yards away from the sending station.

The same method has been used by the Carnegie Institution of Washinton to measure the heights of the radio reflecting layers which range from 50 to 200 miles above the earth's surface. These electrified layers are caused by the bombardment of particles of air by radiations from the sun.

The West Virginia and Harvard scientists reported in the Journal of the Aeronautical Sciences that the method makes it possible "to measure directly the altitudes of air mass boundaries and all other atmospheric discontinuities"—changes sufficient to alter the radio reflecting layers.

At present the Weather Bureau and various universities are exploring the upper air with sounding balloons which, with automatic radio sending sets, report back the temperature and humidity of the air and altitude of the balloon.

The balloon and radio echo records have agreed closely in tests. With a network of radio sounding stations scattered at Weather Bureau stations, Dr. Friend added, it should be possible to follow the path of a storm or other changing weather conditions much more closely than is now possible.

FOURTH OF JULY GOOD TIME TO ENTERTAIN CHILDREN

The Fourth of July is an ideal time to entertain the youngsters of the neighborhood who don't go away for the holiday. Invite them to gather on your front porch just before dark for a cool drink and something solid to nibble on.

Refreshments should be simple because the gathering will be shortly after the dinner hour. That is why a punch served with cookies and candy mints is suggested.

Pineapple Apricot Punch.

One one-pound can apricots.
Two one-pint 2-ounce cans unsweetened pineapple juice.
One-half cup lemon juice.
One quart pale dry ginger ale.

Rub apricots and their syrup through a fine sieve. Add pineapple and lemon juices. Chill well. Just before serving pour fruit juices over ice cubes, add well-chilled ginger ale last. Stir well. Serve. Yield, 10½ cups.

Sandwiches may be trimmed of crust or not, whichever is preferred. Although very seldom seen on a tea table, crusts add just that much more nourishment to a tailored family sandwich.

RASPBERRY DESSERTS MAKE PLEASANT SUMMER MEALS

Raspberries have a flavor all their own. Serve them often for the season is short. And be sure to include the following as one of your raspberry presentations.

Frozen Raspberry Dessert.

Four cups raspberries, one-half cup sugar; one-fourth cup water, one cup canned pineapple juice, one package raspberry-flavored gelatin, one and three-fourths cups cream, whipped.

Crush two cups raspberries, add one-fourth cup sugar and water, let stand ten minutes, then force through sieve. Combine one cup of this raspberry juice with pineapple juice and heat. Dissolve gelatin in hot juices. Chill. When cold and syrupy, place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. To remaining two cups raspberries, add one-fourth cup sugar and let stand 10 minutes (do not crush). Fold into whipped gelatin, then fold in whipped cream. Turn into freezing trays of automatic refrigerator and let stand three to four hours, or until frozen. Or turn into two-quart container, cover with waxed paper, press cover tightly down over paper, and pack in equal parts ice and salt for three to four hours. Makes two quarts.

Muffin Cases.

Remove centers from left muffins and you have little cases which are suitable to hold cream foods.

Very fresh bread can be made firm for cutting by putting it in the refrigerator for an hour or a

JOINT HOUSE-SENATE FINANCE GROUP URGED

Brookings Report Says Plan Would Promote Judicious Action on Appropriations

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—The Brookings Institution recommended yesterday that a joint congressional committee on appropriations be established to consider revenue legislation, because, it said, such a group would "tend to promote a more judicious determination of financial policy."

The present system of consideration by separate committees of House and Senate, a report of the private research organization contended, frequently resulted in compromise.

Such a committee, it was argued, could provide technical and professional aid and maintain direct contact with the Budget Bureau and the general accounting office. If a joint committee is not established, the report recommended that clerical staffs of the House and Senate committees be increased "to enable them to study budget estimates more thoroughly."

The report also suggested:

That political appointees in the customs and internal revenue bureaus be replaced by permanent civil service employes.

That both these bureaus should be taken from the Treasury Department and placed under bi-partisan commissions.

That the Federal accounting system should "provide accountability for officers who handle public funds.

That reliable accounting statements covering the Government financial condition be consolidated for presentation to the public.

BOARD AGAIN DEFERS DECISION ON STATE PRINTING CONTRACT

Members Said to Be Evaluating Bids of St. Louis and Jefferson City Firms.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 1.—Award of the State printing contract for a two-year period again was delayed by the State Public Printing Commission after a meeting today, in which commissioners conferred with representatives of the two bidders, the Hoffman Press of St. Louis and the Midland Printing Co. of Jefferson City.

Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown, chairman of the commission, said it might require several days to complete the evaluation of the bids, which were received last Tuesday, and to determine legal questions involved. He and the other members of the commission, State Auditor Forrest Smith and State Treasurer R. W. Winn, said they had not determined which was the lowest and best bid.

The contract, which covers printing for all State departments, amounts to more than $400,000 a year. The last contract, which expired yesterday, was held by the Midland Printing Co., which has handled State printing for the last six years.

RUSSIA TO FLOAT 8-BILLION-RUBLE LOAN; PART FOR ARMS

20-Year, 4 Pct. Issue Also to Be Used for Economic, Cultural Development, Moscow Says.

MOSCOW, July 1 (AP).—The Russian Government announced today it would issue a 20-year, 4 per cent 8,000,000,000 ruble loan, part of which will be used for defense costs.

(Nominally, the ruble has a value of 19 cents in foreign trade, but special conditions pertaining to purchase power make accurate conversions into dollars impossible.)

Tass, official news agency, said the loan was approved by the Council of People's Commissars to "extract the savings of the population for the purposes of economic and cultural development under the third five-year plan . . . and for the consolidation of the defense of the country."

JOINT HOUSE-SENATE FINANCE GROUP URGED

Brookings Report Says Plan Would Promote Judicious Action on Appropriations

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP).—The Brookings Institution recommended yesterday that a joint congressional committee on appropriations be established to consider revenue legislation, because, it said, such a group would "tend to promote a more judicious determination of financial policy."

The present system of consideration by separate committees of House and Senate, a report of the private research organization contended, frequently resulted in compromise.

Such a committee, it was argued, could provide technical and professional aid and maintain direct contact with the Budget Bureau and the general accounting office. If a joint committee is not established, the report recommended that clerical staffs of the House and Senate committees be increased "to enable them to study budget estimates more thoroughly."

The report also suggested:

That political appointees in the customs and internal revenue bureaus be replaced by permanent civil service employes.

That both these bureaus should be taken from the Treasury Department and placed under bi-partisan commissions.

That the Federal accounting system should "provide accountability" for officers who handle public funds.

That reliable accounting statements covering the Government's financial condition be consolidated for presentation to the public.

BOARD AGAIN DEFERS DECISION ON STATE PRINTING CONTRACT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 1.—Award of the State printing contract for a two-year period again was delayed by the State Public Printing Commission after a meeting today, in which commission members conferred with representatives of the two bidders, the Von Hoffman Press of St. Louis and the Midland Printing Co. of Jefferson City.

Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown, chairman of the commission, said it might require several days to complete the evaluation of the bids, which were received last Tuesday, and to determine legal questions involved. He and the other members of the commission, State Auditor Forrest Smith and State Treasurer R. W. Winn, said they had not determined which was the lowest and best bid.

The contract, which covers all printing for all State departments, amounts to more than $400,000 a year. The last contract, which expired yesterday, was held by the Midland Printing Co., which has handled State printing for the last six years.

SERVE SNOWBALLS WITH TALL FROSTY GLASSES OF COOL DRINK

SNOWBALLS with tall frosty glasses will double the coolth of the drink. These are dipped in boiled frosting and rolled in shredded coconut.

Snow Balls.

One-fourth cup shortening.
One-half cup sugar.
Two egg yolks.
One cup sifted cake flour.
One and one-half teaspoons baking powder.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-third cup milk.
Two egg whites.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.

Cream shortening thoroughly; add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, and beat well. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; add alternately with the milk, mixing well after each addition. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry and fold into the batter. Add flavoring. Bake in 12 oiled custard cups of muffin pans in moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 minutes. When cool dip in seven minutes or boiled white frosting and roll in shredded coconut.

Sliced Beef in Spiced Tomato Sauce

Sliced roast beef.
Two tablespoons butter.
Two tablespoons flour.
One-fourth cup tomato ketchup.
One-half cup cold water.
One teaspoon prepared mustard.
One tablespoon vinegar.
One tablespoon brown sugar.

Blend flour and butter. Add the other ingredients and cook until boiling, stirring constantly so that a smooth sauce will be made. Reheat the sliced roast beef in this sauce and serve on steamed rice.

BRITISH CRUISER AT KEY WEST

Warship Puts in to Land Sailor With Appendicities.

MIAMI, Fla., July 1 (AP).—The British cruiser Diomede put into Key West last night to land a seaman, J. G. Galloway, ill of acute appendicitis, confirming a rumor that a foreign warship was in the vicinity of the Florida coast.

Galloway was removed to the United States Naval Hospital, accompanied by a surgeon from the British ship. The vessel remained in port.

ICE CREAM RETAINS SUMMER POPULARITY

Freezer of Refrigerator May Be Used to Make This Dessert.

For those who like variations in ice creams, candy ice creams are decidedly different. These began rather modestly with peppermint ice creams and now include chocolate chip, butter crunch, to say nothing of cinnamon candy and brittle ice creams.

Chocolate Brittle Ice Cream.
(Refrigerator Method)

Four tablespoons sugar.
One cup milk.
One cup cream, whipped.
One-half cup crushed peanut brittle.

Combine ice cream powder and sugar. Add milk very gradually, stirring until dissolved. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, setting control for coldest freezing temperature. Stir when frozen one-fourth inch thick on sides and twice more at 20-minute intervals, adding peanut brittle with third stirring. Freezing time, about three hours. Makes about seven-eighths quart.

For about one and three-fourths quarts, double recipe above, using full contents of package. Freeze in one or two trays three to six hours.

Peppermint Ice Cream.
(Freezer Method)

One quart milk, or three cups milk and one cup heavy cream.
One package vanilla ice cream powder.
One-half cup crushed peppermint candy.

Add milk very gradually to ice cream powder, stirring until dissolved. Freeze in freezer until thick but not hard; add peppermint candy and continue freezing. Makes one and one-half quarts ice cream.

Butter Crunch Ice Cream.

One can vanilla liquid freezing mixture.
One-half cup (one can) milk.
One cup cream, whipped.
One-half cup crushed butter crunch candy.

Empty can of freezing mixture into bowl. Fill can with milk, and add gradually to mix, stirring until blended. Fold in cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, setting control for coldest freezing temperature. Stir thoroughly once after first half hour of freezing, adding candy while stirring. Freezing time, two and one-half to three hours. Makes about one and three-fourths pints ice cream.

Cinnamon Candy Ice Cream.
(Refrigerator Method).

One can vanilla liquid freezing mixture.
One-half cup (one can) milk.
One cup cream, whipped.
One-fourth cup red cimmamon candies.

Empty can of freezing mixture into bowl. Fill can with milk and add gradually to mix, stirring until blended. Fold in cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, setting control for coldest freezing temperature. Stir thoroughly once after first half hour of freezing, adding candy while stirring. Freezing time, two and one-half to three hours. Makes about one and one-half pints ice cream.

Peanut Brittle Ice Cream.
(Freezer Method).

One quart milk.
One package vanilla ice cream powder.
One cup peanut brittle, finely crushed.

Add milk very gradually to ice cream powder, strring until dissolved. Freeze in freezer until thick but not hard. Add one cup peanut brittle, finely crushed, and continue freezing. Makes one and one-half quarts ice cream.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SHORT SEASON OF GOOSEBERRIES

Gooseberry pie is almost as old as the pie tradition. Since the season is so short it is a good idea to be prepared to take advantage of these delicate berries when they are in the markets.

Delicious Gooseberry Pie.

Four cups prepared gooseberries.
Two tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca.
One and one-half cups sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon grated orange rind.
Two tablespoons melted butter.
One recipe pie crust.

Remove stem and blossom ends from gooseberries, wash thoroughly and cut in halves. Add tapioca, sugar, salt, orange rind and butter and let stand 15 minutes. Line a nine-inch pie plate with one-half of pastry rolled one-eighth inch thick. Fill with gooseberry mixture. Moisten edge of pastry with cold water and adjust top crust, cutting several slits to permit escape of steam. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 15 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350 degrees) and bake 30 minutes longer, or until filling is cooked.

Chilled Fresh Fruits.

Two cups sliced pineapple, one cup berries, one cup cherries (seeded), one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice.

COOL DRINKS PROVIDE SUMMER INTEREST

Fruit Beverages and 'Floats' in Tall Frosty Glasses Make Weather Pleasant.

Cool drinks and hot weather have been pairing off for a long time. They are part of the program that make the summer heat enjoyable.

If your home includes a cool screened porch or a shaded garden you will be doing more than the usual amount of entertaining. Cool drinks in frosty tall glasses, and crisp cookies are ideal for the casual caller and the invited guest.

With so many fruit juices and syrups on the market now the hostess need never be at a loss for an interesting iced beverage to serve. If sherbets or ice creams are available it is a simple process to make a "float" out of a plain fruit drink. A few berries, a sprig of mint, a bit of cinnamon or a clove, to say nothing of a dash of almond, rose or mint extract and you have a drink that will find few equals.

Mint-Citrus-Ade.

One-half cup sugar syrup.
Six stalks fresh mint.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.
One cup grapefruit juice.
One-half cup water.
Two cups ginger ale.

Remove tips from the mint; crush the stalks in the hot sugar syrup (made by stirring one-half cup sugar and one-half cup water in a saucepan over direct heat until sugar is dissolved). Let tips stand one-half hour; strain. Add lemon juice, grapefruit juice and water if necessary. Chill and just before serving, add ginger ale. Garnish with additional mint and serve cold.

Strawberry Malted Milk.

One quart milk.
One-half cup chocolate flavored malted milk.
One-half pint strawberry ice cream.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One-half cup chipped ice.

Place the milk, malted milk, strawberry ice cream, salt and chipped ice in a shaker. Shake vigorously until thoroughly blended. Pour into tall glasses and serve. Serves four.

Ice Cream Punch.

One quart orange juice.
One quart orange sherbet.
One quart vanilla ice cream.
One quart chilled ginger ale.

Cherry Punch.

One package cherry-flavored gelatin.
One pint warm water.
One-fourth cup sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
Three cups water.
Juice of two lemons.
One-half bottle ginger ale.

Dissolve gelatin in warm water. Add sugar and salt and stir until dissolved. Add water, lemon juice and ginger ale. Pour over cracked ice. Serves six.

New England Coffee Punch.

Three and one-half cups double-strength, freshly-made coffee.
One-half cup maple syrup.
Cracked ice.
One-half cup heavy cream, whipped.

Combine the double-strength, freshly-made coffee with the maple syrup. Pour over cracked ice in tall glasses. Top with whipped cream. Makes six servings.

Orange Cooler.

Two cups boiling water.
Eight teaspoons jasmine tea.
One and one-half cups sugar.
Five cups orange juice.
One cup lemon juice.
Two quarts of ice water, ginger ale or charged water.
One quart orange sherbet.
Orange slices for garnish.

Pour boiling water over tea. Steep five minutes. Strain and dissolve sugar in warm liquid. Cool. Add chilled fruit juices. Put in punch bowl. Just before serving, add ice water or carbonated beverage. Garnish with orange slices. Float sherbet on top. (Makes one gallon —fills an ordinary punch bowl—30 small punch glass servings.)

Orangeade Supreme.

One package orange-flavored gelatin.
One pint warm water.
One orange, thinly sliced.
One pint water.

Dissolve gelatin in warm water. Add orange slices while gelatin is still warm; then add water. Let stand 10 to 20 minutes. Pour over cracked ice. Serves four.

A size 10 stocking should be worn with 6½ to 7½ shoes, if the feet of the wearer are not abnormally wide or narrow.

ALL YOU DO IS FIND FAULT WITH ME!

① SHE: Here I stand over a hot stove all day, and what do I get for it? Not even a kind word. And, Jim, I really do try so very hard to please you.
HE: I'm sorry. But that ham you served just didn't have any real flavor to it. Why don't you find a butcher who sells ham that's both tender and full of real ham flavor?

② SHE: Do you have tender ham that is really tasty?
BUTCHER: I certainly do! It's Morrell E-Z-Cut Ham! It's cured by a secret formula that makes it as tender as any ham you ever tasted. And every bite is full of real smoked ham flavor. E-Z-Cut is already thoroughly cooked for you, too, by a special, slow, dry-heat method.

③ HE: M-m-m-m! That ham is delicious. Whose is it?
SHE: It's Morrell E-Z-Cut Ham. All I had to do was heat it through. And do you know, Jim, I have to heat it for such a short time there is very little shrinkage! I can also make the most delicious sandwiches by slicing Morrell E-Z-Cut Ham cold just as it comes.

④ SHE: Well, Mr. Fuss-budget, I guess your wife doesn't serve such bad meals after all, does she?
HE: I'll have you know that my wife is the finest cook in town. I never tasted such a grand ham in all my life. From now on, we're "specializing" on Morrell E-Z-Cut Ham!

E-Z-CUT HAM AND NOODLES

Butter a deep baking dish and place in it alternating layers of cooked noodles and Morrell E-Z-CUT HAM (minced), with the last layer of noodles. Pour over this 1 to 2 eggs (depending upon the size of the dish) beaten with 1 to 1½ cups of milk. Dot the top with butter and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes, or until top is crisp.
If you prefer, you may substitute a can of cream of mushroom soup for the eggs, diluting it with the 1½ cups of milk.

MR. HAM GOES TO TOWN
Order Morrell E-Z-CUT HAM from your dealer. It's your assurance of more real baked ham flavor and less oven shrinkage. You can also get boneless Morrell E-Z-CUT HAM in cans, or rolled in cellulose casing.

MORRELL PRIDE
TENDER HAM
... is the ham to order when you want to do the cooking yourself. Tender and delicious —with a hearty, smoky tang that pleases everyone.

COOKIES SHOULD BE PLENTIFUL IN SUMMER

The old saying goes that you can't have too much of a good thing. Certainly this seems to refer to cookies in summer. Here is a recipe for Coconut Ice Box Cookies.

Four cups sifted cake flour.
Three teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One and one-fourth cups softened butter or other shortening.
One and one-half cups sugar.
Two eggs, unbeaten.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Three cups shredded coconut.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Combine butter, sugar, and eggs, beating thoroughly; then add vanilla and coconut. Add flour gradually, mixing well after each addition. Divide dough in four parts. Place on waxed paper and shape into rolls, one and one-half inches in diameter; roll each in waxed paper. Chill overnight, or until firm enough to slice. Cut in one-eighth inch slices; bake on greased baking sheet in hot oven (400 degrees) five to seven minutes. Makes 12 dozen cookies.

In the picnic basket for sandwiches and potato salad.

FIRST SHIPLOAD OF BRITISH WOMEN LEAVES HONGKONG

000 Families of Army and Navy Men Sail for Manila Because of Threat of Japanese Blockade.

HONGKONG, July 1 (AP).—A gray Canadian Pacific liner, carrying the first of some 4500 British women and children being removed from this colony, nosed out of Hongkong harbor this afternoon. Other outgoing ships also were immed. Among their passengers were a few Americans, although the majority preferred to remain until ordered to leave.

The American liner President Coolidge was in port on order from Washington, and Americans were prepared for the possible necessity of removing their women and children.

The exodus, authoritative sources said, is a precaution against possible Japanese enforcement of a land and sea blockade of the colony to enforce demands for the closing of the Burma route to the Chinese government.

Bound for Manila.

The unidentified Canadian Pacific liner, bound for Manila with a naval escort, carried 1000 families of British military and naval personnel. The ship was expected to reach Manila Wednesday and return immediately for more refugees.

(The vessel might have been any of four "Empress" liners—Empress of Britain, Empress of Australia, Empress of Japan or Empress of Canada.)

Meanwhile all boats bound for Macao, Portuguese colony on the Chinese mainland, were crammed with Chinese leaving on advice, not compulsion, and at their own expense.

Hongkong banks had an unusually large number of withdrawals.

To conserve foodstuffs, the Government barred exports of flour, soybeans and soya bean products. It also prohibited export of motor vehicles.

Fear of Japanese Action.

A Government spokesman hinted strongly that the British feared the possibility of action by the Japanese army without Tokyo's approval.

"There is no danger we anticipate, but we have seen how it was brought into the war when things were going badly for us," he said. "We also have seen instances of army men taking affairs into their own hands against the wishes of their governments. We are simply taking precautions."

Besides the British women and children who already have left, 3000 more are to leave by July 6.

Katsuo Okazaki, Japanese Consul-General, said: "I am going to tell Japanese men, women and children in Hongkong to stay, as there is no cause for worry." He estimated there are about 700 Japanese here.

Okazaki, whose wife and children recently have returned here from Tokyo, gave a practical demonstration of confidence by buying an automobile from a British firm.

U. S. Ship Ordered Back.

The President Coolidge returned to Hongkong today, on orders from Washington, after it was 100 miles out en route to Manila.

United States Consul-General Addison Southard advised the State Department the situation at present does not warrant holding the liner here for the removal of the few Americans in the colony, but the liner is standing by pending word from Washington.

The United States gunboats Wake, Tulsa and Asheville also were in port.

The removal of British women and children this week was ordered last Saturday in preparation for the threatened crisis with Japan. Netherlands officials followed the British example with preparations to send 150 Dutch women to the Netherlands East Indies.

(Official quarters in Manila said about 1900 British evacuees from Hongkong were expected there Wednesday. The Red Cross, British consular authorities and representatives of the United States High Commissioner will take charge of housing them.)

Japanese Accuse British.

A spokesman for the Japanese army in South China meanwhile charged the British with a b

(Official quarters in Manila said about 1900 British evacuees from Hongkong were expected there Wednesday. The Red Cross, British consular authorities and representatives of the United States High Commissioner will take care of housing them.)

Japanese Accuse British.

A spokesman for the Japanese army in South China meanwhile charged the British with a breach of confidence in alleging that information given under a November, 1938, agreement to notify the British 24 hours in advance of operations on the Hongkong border had leaked out to the Chinese.

As a result, he said, the Japanese in the future would not give the advance notice.

He reported that the Japanese had seized Chinese documents proving that Generalissimo Criang Kai-shek gave Chinese troops in the vicinity of Hongkong orders on the strength of the alleged British breach of confidence.

The original understanding for advance notice of operations to the British had been reached, the spokesman said, "in a sincere desire to prevent unnecessary disputes."

The Japanese army last week established positions along Hongkong's 20-mile mainland border and have set Wednesday as the deadline for passage of Chinese refugees from Hongkong. Local Chinese leaders have urged all their countrymen who can to leave the British colony.

Inspectors Reach Indo-China.

The French agreement to halt traffic in war suppplies for China through Indo-China faced an immediate test tonight with the arrival at Hanoi of Japanese officers to check ports, roads and railroads in the French colony for goods potentially valuable to the Chinese armies.

Such goods include American fuel oil, trucks and machinery, it was said.

London Denies Charge Information Leaked Out to Chinese.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—A Japanese charge that information concerning Japanese troop movements furnished the British authorities at Hongkong had been permitted to reach the Chinese army was asserted to be "completely untrue" here today.

The departure of women and children from the British colony was described here as a "precautionary measure related largely to the food situation, planned for a considerable time."

LEE BAKER IN WORKHOUSE FOR 30 DAYS AS WIFE BEATER

The status of Louis Lee Baker at City Workhouse was changed from employe to prisoner today, when he was sentenced to 30 days on a peace disturbance charge on testimony that he beat his wife. Baker, Negro witness in the Izzy Londe bombing case, works in the Workhouse barber shop.

His bodyguard, Patrolman James Wintersmith, testified before Police Judge James F. Nangle that he was in the front yard of Baker's home at 2809 Spruce street Saturday night, when he heard Mrs. Odessie Baker screaming. He said he went upstairs and found Mrs. Baker on the floor. "He beat me, knocked me down and kicked me in the stomach," the officer quoted her as saying. She was taken to Homer B. Phillips Hospital and treated for cuts on the head and body. She refused today to request that Baker be freed on probation.

Mrs. Baker told the Judge her husband had mistreated her since last November, six months after their marriage. Baker said both had been drinking and an argument started when a neighbor gave his wife a bottle of beer.

Baker received a purse of $2367 from individuals, organizations and firms in 1938, as a fund to reward him for his courage in testifying against Londe, after he had been shot in the head to silence him. He has since had a bodyguard, provided by the Police Department.

Coroner Found Fatally Shot.

EMINENCE, Mo., July 1 (AP).—Dr. G. B. Houston, 69 years old, Coroner of Shannon County, was found dead in his room here yesterday, a pistol lying nearby. He was wounded in the mouth. Dr. Houston, a dentist, was appointed several months ago to fill out an unexpired term.

Refugees Pour Into Old Rumania From Areas Occupied by Russians

55,000 Said to Have Passed Through Jassy, Carrying Bedding and Furniture, Meeting Soldiers Going Other Way.

JASSY, Rumania, July 1 (AP).—A flood of human misery poured into this city today from Bessarabia as spike-capped Russian troops took control at the frontier bridgehead 14 miles north of Jassy at 4 p .m. (8 a .m. St. Louis time).

The refugees carried their bedding and a stick or two of furniture on their backs, while barefooted children trudged alongside their homeless elders on many country roads.

It was estimated that at least 55,000 peasants and townspeople, uprooted from the land of their birth, have passed through here since the Red army began on June 28 to occupy Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina.

This provincial capital overnight assumed the aspect of a vast refugee camp, as well as a vital military garrison. Trains from the interior brought additiona lconscripts to bolster Rumania's hand in any future negotiations or trouble with the Soviets, while long trains of flat cars and box cars left for Bucharest with refugees cramped into every inch of the rain-soaked space.

Soldiers rubbed shoulders with men, women and children whose homes have been lost and whose worldly possessions have been seized by the Russians.

Every second man is wearing a uniform, with a rifle over his shoulder.

Big posters in the shop windows announce the continuance of mobilization. Other posters signed by the Royal Governor of the province appeal to all citizens to show hospitality to Bessarabians, whom they described as "victims of superior force."

Additional notices were posted warning the population of "foreign agents circulating in military clothing and spreading alarming and false rumors."

The Rumanian army command salvaged many tons of steel and other materials which were to have been used in fortifying the Dniester River frontier—now deep in Soviet territory.

G.O.P. SPENT $12,000,000 PHILADELPHIA ESTIMATES

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP).—The $200,000 Philadelphia business men put up to get the Republican national convention here has been repaid about 60 times, preliminary estimates indicate.

When the convention was obtained, George Elliott, general secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, predicted $12,000,000 would be spent here. Elliott reports business during the five-day meeting was "fully up to expectations."

If complete reports confirm his estimate, Republicans will have spent about $2,000,000 more than the Democrats when they met here four years ago.

Estimates of convention appetites produced these figures: 90,000 hot dogs, 140,000 bottles of soft drinks, 30,000 cups of coffee, 20,000 meals, 108,000 packages of cigarettes and 16,250 cigars.

J. Fred Vollmer, president of the Philadelphia Restaurant Association, said eating places "handled 15 per cent more business than they did at the Democratic convention of 1936."

HIRTH INDORSES M'KITTRICK IN ISSUE OF HIS FARM PAPER

Backs Attorney-General for Democratic Renominaton and Re-election for Third Term.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 1.—William Hirth of Columbia, president of the Missouri Farmers' Association and prominent farm leader, indorsed today Attorney-General Roy McKittrick, Democrat, for renomination and re-election for a third term.

The indorsement was contained in today's issue of Hirth's publication, the Missouri Farmer.

Hirth, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1936, has been a bitter opponent of the Pendergast Democratic machine in Kansas City, heretofore has indorsed three other Democratic candidates, Gov. Lloyd C. Stark for United States Senator, Senator Allen McReynolds for Governor and State Auditor Forrest Smith for renomination and re-election for a third term.

HELD ON CHARGE OF KILLING TRAIN BRAKEMAN IN ARKANSAS

Bronzell K. Foster, St. Louis Musician, Denies Hitting Man With Pipe, but Waives Extradition.

Bronzell K. Foster, musician living in the 5000 block of Washington boulevard, is being held by police here for North Little Rock (Ark.) authorities on a warrant issued there, charging him with the murder of D. C. McCullough, Missouri Pacific Railroad brakeman, Sept. 12, 1933.

Foster, 37 years old, denies the charge, but has signed a waiver of extradition for his return to Arkansas. McCullough was killed when struck on the head with a pipe. Another man, under arrest at North Little Rock, accused Foster.

4 U. S. AMBULANCE DRIVERS, REPORTED MISSING, ARE SAFE

Said to Have Passed Through German Lines in France to Brussels.

PARIS, June 26 (delayed)—By Courier Plane to Berlin (AP).—Four American Field Service ambulance drivers reported missing May 22 are safe in Brussels.

The drivers are Donald Q. Coster, 33 years old, of Montreal and New York; John Clement, 26, Wayside, Mass.; George F. J. King, 31, New York, and Gregory Walt, 39, Shelburne, Vt.

They went safely through the German lines in Northern France, according to Hallam Tuck, an American resident of Waterloo, and Capt. John Gade of the American Naval Reserve.

Poll of Senators' Mail Shows Desire to Keep Out of the War

without impairing our own defense. Almost no criticism of the President's policies.

Senator John H. Bankhead (Dem.), Alabama, has been receiving about 100 letters a day, mostly urging that the United States keep out of war, help the Allies as far as possible, and promote national defense with all speed. Two letters criticised the President's policies as tending to involve this country in war. The letters are said to have been 100 per cent behind his preparedness program.

Senator J. Warren Barbour (Rep., New Jersey, receives about 100 letters a day demanding we keep out of war, and 25 to 50 urging aid to the Allies short of war. In the last few weeks a change of emphasis has been noted at to rearmament, showing the country is awake to the fact it is unprepared. Nearly all ask that Congress remain in session. Little criticism of the President is noted, and almost no reaction to his Charlottesville speech.

Senator Prentiss M. Brown (Dem.), Michigan, has in the last four weeks received 6500 communications from Michigan constituents. About 2 per cent demanded that the United States declar war on the Axis Powers. Another 36 per cent urged that the United States give the Allies all possible aid short of military participation. But 60 per cent resulted from the President's speech at Charlottesville, and showed alarm that he might have gone too far. The writers pleaded that the country keep out of war, that Congress remain in session, and that it build up its own defense first of all.

Three Per Cent for War.

Senator James F. Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, has received on an average 15 war letters a day. Approximately 3 per cent of the total advocate declaration of war against Germany and Italy. The remainder urge that the United States remain at peace, but send all available material aid to England. Only two or three letters denounced the Charlottesville speech.

Senator Alben W. Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky has received more than 500 letters a day for the last month, virtually all of the same tone—namely: "Help the Allies if possible but keep us out of war." Virtually no criticism of the President's policies or utterances has been noted.

Senator Robert A. Taft (Rep.), Ohio, has received an average of 200 war letters and telegrams each day in the last month, showing a distinct falling off of demands for extending aid to the Allies, following the Charlottesville address, which a large number of correspondents feared was perilously strong. Almost all communications since then stress keeping out of the European war at all costs.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan. Out of 300 letters reaching his office each day during June a great majority opposed not only America's entering the war but sending supplies to the Allies. Severe criticism of President Roosevelt's war policy characterized the correspondence as a whole. Nearly all writers urged prompt and vigorous national rearmament.

Texas for Aid Short of War.

Senator Morris Sheppard (Dem.), Texas. In a volume of mail averaging 300 letters a day, almost all correspondents urged a decisive policy of aid to the Allies, short of war. Many denounced Col. Lindbergh and most indorsed the Charlottesville speech. The sentiment in favor of national defense is declared to be unanimous.

Senator Vic Donahey (Dem.) Ohio. "Baskets full of letters" almost all demand that the United States keep out of war, organize adequate national defenses and send supplies to the Allies only in case "it doesn't get us in trouble later."

Senator George W. Norris (Ind.), Nebraska. Virtually all of the large mail received urges that the country stay out of war but send material aid to the Allies. A large number of "propaganda" letters demanded that Congress remain in session. Neither the Lindbergh nor the Roosevelt addresses had any visible effect on the tenor of the correspondence addressed to Senator Norris.

Senator Millard E. Tydings (Dem.) Maryland. A majority of the 250 to 450 war letters and telegrams coming in each day still advocate help to Great Britain short of war, but the percentage fell off appreciably after the Lindbergh address. Some correspondents were disturbed by the Charlottesville speech, but it had far less effect than Lindbergh's talk During recent days there has been a distinct trend toward advice for or against confirming Stimson and Knox, with opinion about equally divided. Virtually all letters demand that Congress stay in session. Two small groups wish respectively to enter the war and refuse aid to England. A majority favor the administration's national defense program.

Defense Program Indorsed.

Senator Robert F. Wagner (Dem.), New York. The overwhelming sentiment of a mail "too great to count" has been in favor of giving all help to the Allies and afterward to England, short of war. Two small groups of correspondents urge that the United States enter the war and that we keep out. The administration's national defense program is almost unanimously indorsed. There have been only a few letters asking that Congress refuse to adjourn.

Senator Guy M. Gillette (Dem.), Iowa, has been getting about 200 letters a day from Iowa constituents. Eighty per cent may be summed up in one sentence. "Keep us out of war!" The other 20 per cent also wish to stay out of the war but some express sympathy with the democratic cause and others worry over the question as to whether we are not already unneutrally involved. Most of the writers demand Congress stay in session.

Senator Carl A. Hatch (Dem.), New Mexico, has received only a few letters from constituents on the subject of war. These are unanimous in advocating preparedness measures, including necessary taxes, and giving every aid to the Allies short of sending troops or ships abroad. One or two letters criticise the President as not having shown "true neutrality."

The office of Senator Alva B. Adams (Dem.), Colorado, has received about 1000 letters in recent days, of which some 750 urged that the United States be kept out of war, and 250 pleaded that Congress remain in session. Few of the letters, it is said, expressed criticism of President Roosevelt or his policies.

Suggestions for President.

Senator Charles O. Andrews (Dem.), Florida. During the first three weeks in June, his office received from 300 to 350 letters a day Half of these asked for employment. About 5 per cent wanted the United States to keep hands off the war entirely, and 45 per cent urged giving all aid to the Allies short of sending troops or ships. No criticism of Roosevelt policies was noted, but a few made suggestions as to what he should do.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst (Dem.), Arizona, has received as high as 1200 letters and telegrams in one day. Two per cent ask that the United States enter the war, and 98 per cent demand that we stay out, but extend all possible material help to the Allies.

Senator Warren R. Austin (Rep.), Vermont, has received great quantities of postcards urging the institution of compulsory selective service; and also letters from constituents indorsing the William Allen White program, including prompt shipment to the Allies of all military supplies not necessary to our own defense, repeal of the Johnson Act forbidding credits to debtor nations, and legislation permitting American citizens to volunteer for service against Germany and Italy.

LONDON RECALLS VON FRITSCH DEATH

LONDON, July 1 (AP). — The British Foreign Office drew a parallel today between the death of Italy's Air Marshal Italo Balbo in a plane crash in Libya and that of German's Colonel-General Baron Werner von Fritsch in the siege of Warsaw.

Von Fritsche, a Foreign Office news department statement recalled, was an "opponent of Hitler's home and foreign policy." Of Balbo, the statement said:

"It will be recalled that he was appointed Governor-General in Libya because his presence in Italy was inconvenient to Signor Mussolini. Since then he has consistently been opposed to the policy of harnessing Italy to Hitler's war machine."

Quoting a German radio announcement that "Balbo's death occurred in the same spirit as that of Gen. von Fritsch," the Foreign Office asserted:

"The only fact which can be established is that Marshal Balbo did not perish in combat with the Royal Air Force. . . . A careful investigation shows that no British aircraft were concerned in the crash of Marshal Balbo's machine and there is thus no truth in the statement he fell in battle. . . . As in the case of Fritsch and many others, the truth will probably never be known."

In Egypt, newspapers accused Italy of withholding the "true circumstances" of the death of Balbo. The Egyptian Gazette said Balbo's death perhaps was not a great loss to "Il Duce and his satellites."

BRITISH TALKING OF NEW ORDER IN EUROPE AFTER WAR

the purpose which they are intended to serve abroad may remind us that the problem of the new order is social as well as international. The European house cannot be put in order unless we put our own house in order first. The new order cannot be based on the preservation of privilege, whether privilege be that of a country, or a class, or of an individual.

U. S. as Participant.

"One further point. No postwar settlement can ignore the role of the United States of America. Disillusionment with the sequel of 1918 has helped on both sides of the Atlantic to place this question in false perspective. The last time, the United States, though a belligerent, took the lead in breaking down the machinery of inter-allied economic collaboration created during the war and withdrew from the settlement that they had helped to make. This time the position may well be reversed. In the last decade American opinion has moved rapidly away from the stern economic individualism of the 1920's. New links, vital to both, have been forged between the economic life of the new world and the old. Both American inspiration and American resources will be the essential factor in the moral and economic reconstruction of stricken and exhausted Europe."

The Presidential Campaigns

TRADITION favors a married man born east of the Mississippi River for the Number 1 post. Iowa's H. Hoover is the only man from west of the river to occupy the White House, and James Buchanan the only bachelor. Cleveland got married in office. Aspirants to the Best Job of All should be careful what songs they pick to help ballyhoo them into the nomination. William Gibbs McAdoo, who had hopes in 1932, used "California, Here I Come," as a rouser. But the following line, "Right back where I started from," turned out to be too, too prophetic. The first presidential inauguration, which of course put Washington in office, took place in Federal Hall, New York, situated at the corner of Nassau and Wall streets. Every once in a while a statesman yells that the seat of gov't has never left that corner. Andrew Jackson didn't take office until four years after he was elected. He got more electoral votes than John Quincy Adams in 1824, but the election was thrown into the House of Repr., where Old Hickory was licked, 13 states to 7. Andy got even, however, by beating his opponents in two subsequent campaigns. Herbert Hoover didn't have a cent to show for it when he left the White House. Not only did he work for nothing as President, but also as Secretary of Commerce and as Director of Belgian Relief. Having made his pile at engineering before trying politics, Hoover gave away his wages to charity and to his staff.

JAMES K. POLK was a picture-book President. He was known as "The Napoleon of the Stump," and he dressed the part of a spellbinder. He wore his hair long and sported the frock coat, a get-up followed for years to come by peanut politicians, small-town shysters and spielers with medicine shows. Franklin Pierce, on the other hand, was the glamor boy. He was a handsome dog, graceful as a deer, and had a gift of oratory that charmed birds out of trees. He was a Brigadier-General in the Mexican War, and when he came home in uniform the gals of 1840 swooned with ecstasy at sight of him. John Adams was so miffed over his licking from Thomas Jefferson that he literally got on his horse and scrammed. He left town when Jefferson came to Washington to take the inaugural oath. The phrase, "the smoke-filled room," where the nomination is put in the bag, first cropped up in Chicago in 1920. The room belonged to Harry Daugherty, and the President picked there was Warren G. Harding.

ANDREW JOHNSON, who succeeded Lincoln upon the assassination of the latter, learned to write when he was 19. His tutor was Eliza McArdle, who became Mrs. J. Chester A. Arthur got the job through his efforts to help his good pal, U. S. Grant. He headed a delegation to give Grant a third term, but was hushed up with the nomination for Vice-President. Garfield's assassination made him Mr. Big. The most circusy campaign was put on by William Henry Harrison in 1840. President Van Buren had sneered at Harrison's log cabin origin, so log cabins on wheels became the trade mark of the Harrison-Tyler ticket, and brought one of the first triumphs to the Just Folks set.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE P-179: Calvin T., aged 31, is manager of our neighborhood grocery store.

"I don't understand the shortsightedness of some business firms," Mrs. Crane exclaimed. "For several years this store has dominated the grocery business in our neighborhood, not just because of price but because the manager and his clerks were gracious and considerate of customers. Now the company has transferred Calvin and all his clerks. The new men are strangers to this community. They don't know our names. They don't have jolly personalities, either, which count a great deal in any business dealing with housewives. Why, if the company wanted to make changes, didn't it leave a few of the former clerks so we would feel at home in the store? Now it seems so cool and strange, despite the politeness of the new clerks, that a large number of women are patronizing other stores."

DIAGNOSIS: In this modern age where keen competition has almost eliminated the marked differences in price or quality which used to be our big sales points, we are finding that the personality of the salesman is growing more important than ever in retail business. I have previously mentioned that the average consumers care little which brand of gasoline they use, or which insurance firm they buy from, providing the latter are among the well known companies. In the years to come this reaction will be even more typical of the retail buyer. Nowadays we find that the determining factor in the sale is often the personality of the salesmen, or other items such as the location of the store.

Among these psychological factors determining our buying behavior are even such things as free parking facilities. Again, if a store is on the far side of a dangerous street crossing, we will not send our children there, providing there is another store which doesn't involve such danger. Parents will even send their children clear around the block, rather than patronize a store directly across the street, in order to avoid this traffic hazard to their youngsters.

MRS. CRANE pointed out a dangerous situation when she said the store now seems cool and strange. That is true, for I have noted the same effect. Under the former staff, almost every customer was greeted by name. If a woman had two large paper bags filled with groceries, the young fellows would volunteer to carry the load to her car at the curb. Or, if she had a number of small parcels, he would put them all in one large paper bag.

In fact, on several occasions they have carried Mrs. Crane's parcels here to our door, which is about half a block from the store. This behavior may be construed as wasted time by some executives, but it is a very wise form of advertising for long-time goodwill. In making a change of staff, it is usually wise to leave enough of the old force to retain the former friendly and familiar atmosphere.

Early Habits Fix Pattern Of Behavior

By Angelo Patri

ALL active life is conditioned, carried out and completed by set habits. A man does not learn and do in one gesture. It is not as easy as that. What he does is conditioned by things he did long ago, by the set habits of years.

We should keep that idea in mind as we train the children. The thing a child does today, the spirit in which he does it, the reason for his doing it, his success and failure in it, are important because the action with all its accompanying emotions is going to color his actions in time to come.

The best training is the training that sets the most good habits at the time they can be set most effectively, and that is between the day of birth and the onset of adolescence. Habits will be set and used after that time, of course, but the ones that count for the most are the early ones.

Few complaints come to school and court about the behavior of the younger children. The trouble begins with the adolescent. The complaints have a familiar pattern. He won't get up in the morning, he won't go to bed at night. He does not tell us what he is doing and gets impatient when we ask. He won't listen to us. He stays out late. We never know where he is. He won't give any money toward the house. He abuses other members of the family. We can't do anything with him. He smokes and he drinks too much. He insists upon driving the car and taking girls out in it. What can we do?

Not much now. All that is left to do is to pray. The time for the active training has passed. Certain remedial work can be tried but it is uphill work and most discouraging. The habits have set and it takes a deal of time to unset them.

First the physical examinations must be made. Then the intelligence tests given. After that, vocational tests. Then social workers, the relief squads, come to the front. They try to place this child in a new environment where he will have a chance to start anew, far from the people and the place that helped set the old and unfortunate habits. They try to find work for him, to make him self-sustaining. They try to bring him to a realization of his place in life, his duty, his MUSTS.

CHILDREN have to realize MUST early in their lives. They have to set a habit of reasonable acceptance of the facts of life in their thoughts so that co-operation with others, service to others, usefulness to oneself as well as to others, a recognition of the need and the reward of plain goodness is impressed upon them. If in the first 10 years of their lives they have been held to that standard there won't be any trouble about their being real people in their teens.

I don't so much blame children for stupid behavior as I do those who reared them in it without protest up to their eighteenth year. Nor do I credit ill health, or defective glands, or inferiority complexes for it. These contribute to a wreck begun by poor training in the early years. A child can be ailing, poor, less than brilliant, and still be a good child, a potentially good citizen. All he needs is training.

To keep peace in the family, and maintain justice between brothers and sisters, is a difficult task. Be guided by Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People." Send for it, enclosing 10 cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care of St. Louis Post-Dispatch, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

Kidney and Mushroom Saute

Fry bacon in a pan until crisp. Remove bacon and in the fat fry thinly sliced lamb's kidneys and peeled muhsrooms until nicely browned. Remove kidneys and keep hot with the bacon. Add two tablespoons stock or tomato sauce to the mushrooms and when boiling pour over kidneys and bacon and serve immediately. A lovely delicacy for breakfast or luncheon for the house guest.

Beauty in the Country

By Patricia Lindsay

THIS HANDY ROLL-WAVE BRUSH IS BECOMING A FAVORITE WITH WOMEN WHO HAVE THICK HAIR.

DAYS in the country, or weeks there, usually find you out of doors pretty much of the time. That means you must prepare your skin against dryness by wearing a coat of sun cream, and by lubricating it at night after the evening tubbing. Not only your face—but all exposed skin of neck and shoulders, chest and arms.

During the day don't clog your skin by putting on make-up. The vogue for out-of-doors this year, as last, is a shiny skin with cream, lipstick for accent. Be sure you get one of those vivid new South American lipsticks — especially if you have tanned your skin. They have the rich lovely colors which make one look sultry!

If you get too much sun on the beach or playing this summer, you should not jump into a tub of water. Instead anoint your skin freely with a lotion or oil to prevent that dry scaling which is so horrible. Don't take a bath for 12 hours, at least. Simply wipe off the excess cream or oil carefully and don a cool cotton dress.

If you putter about the garden, you might put on some of that new protective hand cream which seems to disappear at once. It does not permit soil or other things to stain your skin. Of course, I expect you to wear gloves, just the same, for nails need more protection than skin. Painting the clear nail lacquer, or the new protective formula, under your nail, as well as over it, keeps your nails free of grime. Try it and see!

In the city we give little thought to our knees. But when we get to the country or beach we are shocked at the condition of them! And we reveal them most of the time for we wear shorts, knee-length skirts, bathing suits and other sun clothes.

One cosmetic firm has introduced a knee beautifying kit and indeed you can save yourself a lot of trouble by investing in one. Every aid you need for knee beauty is there and the nice thing about it you can use it for elbow beauty too.

If you go in for midriff play suits and evening gowns you must give thought to that exposed area of skin. It should be the same shade as your face and arms, no lighter, no darker. And you should never permit it to sunburn! So anoint it with protective oil or lotion every time you lie under the sun. That spot is tender and it will need lubrication throughout the entire season. Otherwise it will dry and scale.

Don't let the country tranquillity make you sloppy. Keep to your grooming for you want always to be a beauty. Your eyebrows must be trim, your hair glossy and nicely shaped. Your feet will show the pampering you give them, which should be twice as much as you give them during the winter months. Prevent ugly callouses from forming by massaging them every night. Paint the nails after a pedicure with the same shade of polish as you use on your hands. A beauty in the country gets more praise from men than one in the city. In the country you are a beauty by choice—which indicates a meticulous character and everything nice—a beauty in town is for self-defense. You're a beauty or else you're a wall flower!

Economical Menus —By Meta Given

THERE are dishes that make you feel cool just to think about them, and one of the coolest of all is jellied consomme or bouillon. A little gelatine makes it possible to jelly any kind of clear soup for service on hot days when hot soup is unthinkable. But be sure a little gelatine is all you use, for one of the delightful characteristics of jellied bouillon is its delicacy—it should be just firm enough not to run when you serve it straight from the refrigerator.

Jellied Tomato Bouillon

(Cost about 12c.)

No. 2 tin tomatoes, or 2½ cups fresh cooked tomatoes, three table spoons chopped onion (½ small onion), three bay leaves, one teaspoon plain gelatine, one tablespoon cold water, one tablespoon vinegar, one-quarter teaspoon salt and one teaspoon sugar.

Combine tomatoes, onion and bay leaves, and simmer for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaves and press through sieve lined with cheesecloth. Add gelatine which has been softened in cold water, and stir until dissolved in the liquid. Add vinegar, salt and sugar, mix well and chill in refrigerator until firm. Serve in bouillon cups. Serves five.

MENUS FOR TUESDAY

Breakfast

Pineapple juice (24-oz. tin pineapple juice); prepared cereal (three cups prepared cereal); scrambled eggs (six eggs); toast (10 slices bread); coffeee (four tablespoons coffee; adults only); milk (for children).

Luncheon

Cottage cheese salad (one pound cottage cheese, one tablespoon grated onion, five tablespoons mayonnaise, five lettuce leaves); bread and butter sandwiches (10 slices bread); applesauce (No. 2 tin applesauce); vanilla wafers (one-quarter pound bought cookies); iced or hot tea (two teaspoons tea; adults only); milk (for children).

Dinner

Jellied tomato bouillon (recipe already given); browned corn beef hash (two No. 2 tins hash); creamed onions (two pounds onions, two cups cream sauce); sugared fresh pineapple (one large pineapple); coffee (four tablespoons coffee; adults only); milk (for children).

Cost for day: About $1.70.

A Salt Water Itch Caused by Ocean Bathing

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

IN the region of Southern ocean waters, Florida and Southern California, bathers sometimes get a dermatitis which the natives call "salt water itch." It appears most often in the armpits, coming on at the same time on both sides. It is very unlikely that it is due to salt water alone. More probable is the explanation that it is due to some minute animal or tropical plant. The old timers and regular bathers are not so subject to it as the visitors who acquire it in about two to four weeks; this would make it look as if the regular bathers acquired an immunity.

The armpits are natural places for fungus infections to grow: the hair provides a good resting place for them: the situation is warm and moist, an ideal culture medium.

As to prevention, soap and fresh water after the swim is the most natural and easiest effective remedy. Applications of 50 per cent alcohol and boric acid solution is a good routine for after bathing. The use of an oily application before bathing—olive oil, coconut oil or petrolatum—is a good protective device.

Treatment of "salt water itch" after it has occurred, with calomine lotion, salicylic acid ointment or ammoniated mercury ointment if secondary infection has occurred, is reported to be successful.

Mid-morning: A malted milk.

Questions and Answers.

C. L.—"Please answer if you can have whooping cough and not whoop. My little granddaughter has had a bad cough for about seven weeks, vomits, and it really seems like whooping cough but there is no whoop."

Answer—The whoop of whooping cough is due to a spasm of the larynx after a prolonged spell of coughing, so that the child sucks in the breath, making the characteristic noise. If this spasm is not present, there will be no whoop but there may be whooping cough just the same. A child who has been coughing for seven weeks and vomits probably has whooping cough.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

Tuesday, July 2

TODAY A. M. is excellent for skull work; make plans, be serious. Routine afternoon and evening, but be in there pitching in the morning on whatever is new and constructive in your affairs, particularly in finances and expansion.

The Strong and the Weak

Plato, thousands of years ago, pointed to the arrangement of sun and planets in their orderly orbits and called them the pattern for human government and society and behavior. He showed that the sun, most powerful body in our system, fortified, fed, gave life to the earth and all its peoples. It is the ideal example for all men to follow—the strong protecting, not exploiting, the weak.

Your Year Ahead

Your year ahead, if this date is your birth, tests you for social cooperativeness and demonstration of friendship ideals; if not found wanting, you will realize some happiness, gain. Danger: Oct. 14-25, and Feb. 20-March 5, 1941.

Wednesday

Stick with the tried and true; nix emotional swings.

STEAMED SALMON SUPREME.

Use one cup of flaked salmon, four tablespoons butter rubbed smooth in the salmon, one cup breadcrumbs, four eggs, salt, pepper and one tablespoon minced parsley. Mix well and turn into a buttered mold. Steam for one hour. Cool and serve on lettuce leaves garnished with hard-boiled eggs and tartare sauce. If preferred hot, serve as soon as removed from mold, with tartare sauce on the side.

RAGOUT OF VEAL.

Cut pieces of breast of veal the size for serving and put into a sauce pan with butter and sliced onions and brown slowly. When brown, add salt, paprika and two cups tomato pulp. Cover and cook slowly until the meat is very tender. Any left-over vegetable may be added before serving and served around the meat.

Ripe Persimmon Salad

Slice the persimmons in quarter-inch slices and arrange on lettuce. Serve mayonnaise in a lettuce cup on the side of the dish and on each side of the persimmon slices place a ball of cream cheese into which an English walnut is pressed. A lovely colorful dish and very delicious to eat.

Ripe Persimmon Salad

Slice the persimmons in quarter-inch slices and arrange on lettuce. Serve mayonnaise in a lettuce cup on the side of the dish and on each side of the persimmon slices place a ball of cream cheese into which an English walnut is pressed. A lovely colorful dish and very delicious to eat.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM a girl 23 and have not done a great deal of single dating. Lately I have gone out a few times with a young man whose home is in another city. I like him tremendously and believe he feels the same toward me.

I have been told by a friend that he has gone steady for some time with a girl from his home town. Shall I continue to see him?

I don't want to fall in love with him and be left; that would hurt too much. As far as I know, he is not engaged to this girl. What shall I do?

STEADY READER.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Since this young man is now living here and working here, he can't be going steady with a girl who is miles away. If you are quite sure he is not engaged and you won't be all upset emotionally over someone else's fiance, I see no reason why you and this congenial young man should not be friends.

Being as how all is fair in love, take your chance while you have it; after all your chances are much better than that of the girl who has to make hay by correspondence only, for you can go places together and build up mutual interests and mutually happy memories, and that goes a long way.

Dear Martha Carr:

I MET A CERTAIN young boy nine months ago and liked him from the beginning, but would not go out with him until about four weeks ago. Since then we have been constantly together. I don't have any idea whether or not I really love him, but I do know he is on my mind day and night. He says he loves me and asks do I love him and I always answer no, though deep in my heart I am sure that I do.

You see he is a cripple, but he has a nice job and is everything I could wish for in a man. Ought I break away and forget him before it is too late? He is badly crippled, and people who have known him for years say he is gradually growing worse, but at present he walks, works and seems to enjoy life as much as anyone. However, if he lost this present job he would probably be unable to ever get another.

WONDERING.

You seem to have stated just about everything there is to say on the subject, yourself. To let yourself fall in love with him would really not be common sense, of course, but then people on the verge of that state were never known to have a surplus of that commodity. What you feel for this young man at present, I am quite convinced, it pity and sympathy for his affliction. If you let this ripen into love and marry the young man you may end by having to support him as well as a possible houseful of children for the rest of your life. Many a woman has done this and done it cheerfully. If you are prepared to do this well and good, and if he is prepared to let you, also well and good. If not, better see less of the young man.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I WASHED A blue polo shirt and a blue-grey man's shirt together and the blue from the polo shirt ran, until the good shirt is all streaked. How can I remove these stains?

HELPLESS HOUSEWIFE.

If it is a really good shirt your best bet would be to send it to a laundry. Often they can remove such stains successfully whereas fooling with them at home only results in a completely ruined garment.

Designing Women

LEAN. LILTING.

MARGARETTA BYERS SAYS:

ALTHOUGH Europe's designers are still paying considerable attention to the American market, very tall women may do better by sticking patriotically to American designers who are more familiar with our long-legged figures.

For instance, the long, lean lines at the left, the very short bolero, upped hair and penthouse effect of tulle are perfect for tiny people—but preposterous for women who don't want to stress height. Instead, we suggest for the latter the graceful fichu line, the low waistline, full skirt flaring from the long waist, the broad bands of brilliants that cut down height and the compromise hafrdo—half up, half down.

Watch for your type tomorrow.

WESTMORE CALLS DOROTHY LAMOUR (1), OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND (2), ELLEN DREW (3) AND LINDA DARNELL (4) THE BEST MADEUP SCREEN ACTRESSES IN HOLLYWOOD. EACH DEVOTES AN HOUR A DAY TO FACIAL CARE.

Wally Westmore, Hollywood Beauty Expert, Claims American Women Are Devoting All Their Attention to Their Figures While Completely Neglecting Faces.

By Harold Heffernan

HOLLYWOOD, July 1.

WALLY WESTMORE, Paramount's genius of the make-up kit, was off this week on another of his now-famous "spruce up" rampages. The man who recently startled half a dozen presidential candidates by picking their individual looks to small bits and telling them what corrective measures to adopt before facing harsh newsreel cameras in bitter election drives, was again turning his wrath on womankind.

Women throughout this continent, complained Westmore, have been paying so much attention to their figures that they have forgotten a face goes with each figure.

"A woman will stand for hours while a modiste fits a dress to her in a fashion that displays her form to the best advantage," he said. "She will spend days or weeks in the hands of a masseur, trying to lose a couple of inches at the hips. She will starve herself to cut down the waistline.

"Then she will go to the mirror and ruin the work of the modiste, the masseur and the dietitian by throwing powder and rouge in the general direction of her face!

"She will sally forth confident she will attract the attention which every woman feels is her right. She doesn't realize that the few careless minutes spent before the mirror ruin the entire picture, simply because she applied her cosmetics without thought of the contours of her face.

"No matter how expensive her gown may be, no woman is well groomed unless her makeup is applied in a manner suitable to her face. This is true, also, of coiffures. A coiffure that is ideal for one woman may ruin the appearance of another woman."

Westmore "viewed with alarm" the rising tide of "cosmetic crimes." He also had a few bitter words to say about women who bleach or dye their hair. Far too many of them are doing so today, he warned.

"That should never be done without long thought," he said. "Even the stars make such mistakes."

The keynote in beauty makeup, says this expert, is to use a minimum, but to use it only after a careful study of the face has been made.

"Don't try to change nature," he advises. "Just help nature along a bit. But first get trained advice on how to do so. The cosmetician is just as much an artist as the modiste."

Westmore gave forth the following hints of a general nature and you might do worse than stick them up on your dressing mirror:

Eye shadows should never be used in the daytime. Even at night, it should be applied most sparingly.

EYEBROWS should only be thinned, not plucked or shaved off. Even in thinning, care should be used to follow natural line of the eyebrow.

Lip rouge should always be applied with a brush. Use of a lipstick smears it beyond the lip lines and gives the mouth a greasy appearance.

However, proper shaping of lips to fit the face is very difficult. Each woman should get expert advice on the shaping best suited to her contours.

This applies also to cheek rouge. Some faces require applications in a triangular shape, others in an oval, and others in a spherical form.

Always apply a cream powder base before using either rouge or powder. Unless this is done, the natural oil in the skin causes the powder and rouge to flake.

Westmore particularly emphasized the need of expert advice on shaping of lips.

"Only 5 per cent of the women have mouths shaped to fit their faces," he said. "For some reason, that is the one weak point in nature's artistry. Consequently, nature must have help. Few women know how to do it. Almost inevitably, a woman with a narrow face will use lipstick to broaden her mouth, fancying that she is broadening her face. Broadening the mouth on a narrow face only makes the face narrower in appearance."

The man who has been making Hollywood's most beautiful women even more exquisite for the past 10 years or more was asked to name those actresses who in his estimation take the most studious and intelligent care of their precious faces.

"Most of the smarter stars put in lots of time on makeup," he replied. "Those inclined to be lazy or slipshod about the condition of their faces don't seem to last long.

"From my own observations I would select Dorothy Lamour, Olivia de Havilland, Ellen Drew and Linda Darnell as the most intelligently made up stars in Hollywood.

"An hour a day is not too much for an actress to give to her face. I know the actresses I have mentioned do—and the results speak for themselves."

Questions on Social Usage

By Emily Post

THE cup and saucer belong together inseparably. They are not like the knife and fork which are used together, or separately, as need may be. That is, the knife alone is put on the bread and butter plate. The fork alone is used more often than not. This answers in part the following letter:

"A while ago you wrote that at a very large afternoon tea, the sandwiches and cakes are very small and usually limited to thin varieties that can be eaten easily in the fingers. For this reason, you suggested that the writer of that letter did not have to provide many napkins and that tea plates were not necessary since people at such large parties were expected to put a small cake or sandwich at the side of the cup on the edge of the saucer. This brings up the question of why it wouldn't be better to serve the tea cup on a tea plate without the saucer, so there would be more space at the side for food. And yet, I believe you have also said that the tea cup must never be served without its saucer. If this is a fixed rule, then what about separating the knife and fork?"

To complete my answer, I can only add that saucer plates that have a cup groove on one side into which the cup fits, would be proper. But a tea cup slithering around on an ordinary plate would neither look right, nor feel secure. As a matter of fact, one easily can put one or two tea cakes or sandwiches at the side of a cup on its saucer. And it is always proper to help oneself again.

DEAR MRS. POST: During a business motor trip, which I made alone, and from which I have just returned, I met a delightful young couple. Meeting them was an unexpected happening at a convention we all attended. But it was a case of friendship at first sight. On my way back through their town I stayed with them three days and had a good time. Now I should like very much to express my appreciation to them some way further than the customary bread-and-butter letter—which, by the way, I have sent. Perhaps you can tell me what I might do, if anything.

Answer: You might send the wife some flowers. This is always a very nice thing to do after staying with someone, especially when there is very little chance of making any return for hospitality. You probably know—but for the benefit of some people who may not—you can go to your own florist in your own town and order whatever flowers he has or suggests. If not too far away, he will ship his own. But if they live at a distance, he will have flowers sent from a florist near them, to whom he forwards your card (or note). Of if they must be sent rush, the florist will telegraph the order and repeat your message, but your own note cannot be sent faster than air mail.

Family Fifth Column

HOUSEHOLDS should be on the lookout for fifth columns (domestic). The fifth column (domestic) achieves its end of disrupting the household by such devious and clever means as:

Turning up noses at bread pudding, prunes, stewed apricots and warmed-over roast.

Severing communication by sitting at the telephone and talking and talking and not letting anybody else have a chance.

Jamming traffic by taking possession of the motor car for an afternoon, evening or a whole day.

Raiding the supply depot in the pantry and removing therefrom ginger ale and other soft drinks.

Barricading the bathroom and exhausting the supply of hot water.

Cutting pieces out of newspapers so that the next reader will be handicapped in obtaining information.

Reducing the finances of the treasury and so weakening the economic structure, by making constant demands for money.

Throwing the house into darkness by borrowing the available supply of electric flashlights and failing to return them.

Breaking down confidence in the government by suggesting that mother makes mountains out of mole hills and that father is too absent minded to be trusted.

And in many other ways paralyzing action so that the family is hindered and impeded in its efforts to hold its own against its neighbors, the Joneses.

South's Greed Causes Him to Lose Contract

By Ely Culbertson

IT is one thing to play a hand boldly, even riskily, when the success of the contract depends on such tactics, but it is quite another to jeopardize an important contract that is "ice cold." In the first case there is a great deal to gain and comparatively little to lose; in the second, the position is reversed. The declarer in today's hand should have been completely satisfied with the situation in which he found himself. His clumsy efforts, misdirected by greed, instead of attaining the desired result of an extra trick on a redoubled contract, cost him an enormous swing.

North, dealer.

East-West vulnerable, with no part-score.

	♠A 10 3 2 ♥K 4 ♦Q 10 5 ♣8 7 3 2
♠8 7 ♥Q J 10 5 3 ♦A 9 7 3 ♣A 10	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠Q J 9 4 ♥9 8 2 ♦None ♣K Q J 6 5 4
	♠K 6 5 ♥A 7 6 ♦K J 8 6 4 2 ♣9

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 heart
1 spade	2 clubs	2 diam.	2 hearts
3 diam.	3 hearts	3 spades	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
4 diam.	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

As may be seen, both West and North did considerable bidding on their none-too-robust holdings. East and South bid correctly. East could hardly know that his partner had done so much bidding when vulnerable on a comparatively poor hand.

West opened the heart queen and, the moment dummy was spread, declarer could see that his contract was safe. The most he could lose was one spade, one diamond, and one club, since his losing heart could be ruffed with dummy's low trump. But, having noted that, he proceeded to get fancy.

After winning the king of hearts, he led a low club. West overtook his partner's jack with the ace and returned the ten spot. Declarer ruffed and returned a diamond, which West ducked and which was won by dummy's ten. The ace of hearts was next cashed, and a heart ruffed with the five of diamonds. The queen of trumps was led, but West still held off. Declarer now entered his hand with the spade king and laid down the diamond king. West won with the ace and, seeing that his remaining nine spot of trumps would be picked up if he should make declarer ruff a heart, returned a spade. Now declarer was in a mess; he could not return to his own hand safely in order to draw West's blank nine of trumps. When he attempted to do so by ruffing a club with the eight spot, West overruffed with the nine, for the setting trick.

Normal play, which would have been to ruff a heart in dummy at the first opportunity, would have insured the contract and also would have resulted in an extra trick if West erred ever so slightly. After drawing trumps declarer could lead his singleton club and, if a club were returned, an automatic squeeze between the club and spade suits would develop on East.

Orange Fudge.

Two cups white sugar, two-thirds cup milk, large lump butter, the grated rind of one orange, the juice of one-half orange. Boil together until it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water. Remove from fire, cool until lukewarm and then beat until creamy. Pour into buttered tins to cool.

Peppermint Stick Ice Cream
(For automatic refrigerator)

2½ cup Borden's Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
½ cup water
1 cup whipping cream
1 cup crushed peppermint stick candy

Children love it! (So do their fathers!) Mix Eagle Brand and water. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency. Fold into chilled mixture. Freeze in freezing unit of refrigerator until half-frozen. Scrape from freezing tray and beat until smooth, but not melted. Fold in crushed candy. Replace in freezing unit. MY SON, MY SON!

By Howard Spring

CHAPTER FIFTY-FIVE.

WE walked on without speaking for a while, and facing into the dour gritty wind, I thought suddenly of a night long ago when Dermot and I had sat up late under a swinging lamp in his workshop, arranging the fate of our sons who were not born.

"If I have a son," I had said, "I just want him to have everything. I'll work my fingers to the bone to give him everything he asks for, and, seeing him enjoying it, I'll enjoy it myself and live my life over again."

The words rattled dryly in my memory like the soiled scraps of paper rasping dryly along the gutter in the wind. I found no comfort in them. Now Oliver was asking for Livia, and I was not enjoying it.

Was he asking for her? Well, here was a point where Give, Give, Give, came to an end, and I began to question the demand. That Oliver was infatuated was clear. The excited glances that I had caught between him and Livia. But what did it all come to? Calf love?

I wouldn't allow myself to work it out. Not then. I have worked it out since, walking again in imagination that arid road, with the ghost of Maeve and Rory and Oliver blowing beside me down the bitter wind. And the ghost of the man I never knew; for if our deeds determine anything, the fourth ghost, too, was predestined from that day.

It seemed a long time since either of us had spoken. We walked on, with her hand resting on my arm, a contact which I found unbearably dear, unbearably precious. Once she removed it, and I took it and put it back, and patted it, and said: "Let it stay there."

At last she said: "I didn't know you were so serious about it," and the words were rather hoarse and strained, as though the constriction of my own throat had communicated itself to her.

"I haven ever been so serious in my life," I said unsteadily. "I'm terribly in love with you, Livia. I've never loved a woman before. Do you believe that? I've never known any of the things that I imagine marriage to mean."

"It's a fine fix," she said with a shaky laugh. "Why do you think I shall be able to give you the things you've lacked?"

"Oh, don't ask me to reason about it. My first marriage, believe me, was completely reasonable."

"You don't know me. You don't know what a bad lot I am."

"Don't say that."

"I must say it. At least let me be honest. Let me stand up and shout in your fool's paradise."

"No, no. Take me or leave me. I'm willing to take you."

"I'm terribly susceptible to men. There! Now I've said it."

"I didn't hear it."

"The more fool you."

"Will you marry me, poor fool as I am?"

"If I married you it would be because I liked you and because you were a very distinguished man. I'm vain. But you see, I'm honest. Oh, God," she added, "I wish you weren't Oliver's father!"

"Can't you forget Oliver, or think about him differently?"

"I don't know how I think about him. Why don't you wait? We're in a tangle. It will clear itself up if you give it time. Why don't you? You see, you offer such tremendous inducements. It's a pressure upon me. I don't think it's fair."

"I'm sorry," I said. "Forgive me." I called a taxi, and set her down a few moments later at the door of her flat. She looked shaken and excited, standing there waiting to wave to me as I turned the corner into Baker street.

Martin drove me down to Heronwater the next day.

"A bad day, sir," Martin said, when I came out to the car after a very early breakfast. It was. The Heath was a cheerless place under the rain; the sky seemed to be on top of our heads. All England lay under the weeping; the day got no better, no worse, as we went westward.

The whole world seemed inimical, and Cornwall, when we came to it in the last washed-out dregs of daylight, was a forlorn and fabulous province that seemed to resent intrusion.

The wind got up, strengthened quickly, and hurled the rain against the windows in gusty, pebbly handfuls. I could feel the push of the wind on the car, sudden powerful blows that made me uneasy despite her great strength and weight.

DESPITE the bellowing wind and the undiminished ferocity of the rain I must somehow have slept, for the crunch of the tires on gravel, the gentle sliding to immobility, jerked me up like a blow. Martin's face was at the open door of the car—a face that, even after those gruelling hours, seemed unchanged save for a smile of quiet pride. "We're here, sir," he announced. "She's a grand car."

"A grand car would have been precious little use without a grand driver," I said.

The door was open, and Sam Sawle was standing there under the light. "Bring me my gum-boots and oilskin," I shouted. They were always kept just within the door. Sam brought them out and I stepped into them right away. "Glad to see you, Mr. Essex," he said.

"And I'm glad to see you. I'll be in in a moment. Put the car away, Martin, and get something hot into you."

I squelched across the wet lawn to the stone balustrade. I wanted to see my Cornwall on this winter night—the first winter night I had spent there. I rested my hands on the cold stone that I had always known honey-mellow, warm and ripe with summer. The rain pattered on my oilskin. The wind roared through the dark gulf into which I looked.

I turned to go back to the house, then stood as if rooted to the ground, leaning back, gripping the wet balustrade with both hands thrust behind me. I had seen her looking white and tired, waving to me as I turned into Baker street. The day's apocalyptic journey seemed to have set a gulf between that moment and this that could not easily be bridged.

"It can't be you!" I said foolishly, and indeed in the hissing of the train and the howling of the wind, in the intense darkness of the spot on the topmost edge of the falling wood, it was hard to make out the features of the face that glimmered whitely before me.

"Yes," said Livia.

"But, my child—my dear—in such a night! What are you wearing?"

I reached out my hand and felt the fragility of the dress, sodden with rain, gummed to her body.

"I'm being melodramatic." Her laugh was low and provoking. "I wanted to surprise you. Have I done it?"

I took her suddenly in both arms and drew her to me, straining her to the creaking armor that I wore. She threw back her head, and I crushed my mouth upon her wet mouth, and upon her hair and her throat. She was dripping like a naiad, and I kissed the rain out of her eyes. Then I picked her up and waded awkwardly in those great boots of mine through the wet grass. She was easy to carry for all her height. I put her down on the porch and saw that her eyes were starry. "For God's sake, go and change," I said. "You'll catch your death." The rain had sleeked her like a seal. She kicked off her soaking shoes and ran upstairs.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

July—It Is Named After the Greatest Dictator of Them All

July was not always the seventh month of the year.

Our July was then the fifth month, being known as Quintilis, Latin for "fifth."

When Marcus Antoninus, Consul—more universally known as Mark Antony, lover of Cleopatra — reorganized the calendar, he renamed the months, calling the seventh Julius (from which we get July), after his kinsman, Caius Julius Caesar, this being the birth month of the greatest dictator of them all.

It all happened in 44 B. C., the year before Caesar was killed by Brutus.

My Neighbor Says:

A few tomato plants in the back yard give a surprising yield with little cost and work. A space 12x12 feet will supply an average family with fresh tomatoes every day during the growing season and give a good surplus for canning.

To prevent diced fruits dropping to the bottom of a gelatin mold, chill fruits and add when gelatin mixture has partly congealed.

The butterfly bush or buddleias should be cut back as soon as winter comes. In cold climates they die in the ground, but come up again in the spring.

Unless there is some reason for hurrying the dinner, plates can be scraped betwen courses, rinsed under the faucet and neatly stacked for later washing. This done, the housewife and her helpers return to the table for dessert and coffee and conversation, serene in the knowledge that most of the work has been done.

Quicker Drying

Stockings and socks will dry much more quickly if after washing, rinsing and wringing, you run your hand through them all the way to the toe and thoroughly separate them.

Don't Take My Word for It

Maxime Weygand

Bird's-eye view of the famous commander: Born, 1867, at Brussels, Belgium. Educated in French military schools. Entered French army in 1888 as sub-lieutenant. Rose to rank of General by 1915. Served as chief of the General Staff through remainder of the war.

I am indebted to the French Embassy at Washington for the following official pronunciation of the Generalissimo's name.

Maxime rhymes with "facts seem." Accent the second syllable. In Weygand the "w" has the sound of "v"; the first syllable rhymes with day; the second syllable, which receives the accent, has the nasal "n" sound as in enfant. There is no possible way of spelling this sound with English phonetics.

QUESTION: How should Thames be pronounced? D. G.

ANSWER: Do you say "thaims" to rhyme with claims? The name of the historic river on the banks of which London is situated rhymes with hems, stems. The "h" is silent. Correct pronunciation: TEMZ.

Send your questions about words, with stamped (3c), self-addressed envelope, to Frank Colby, care St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

TOMATO AND APPLE BUTTER. One pint tomato pulp, one pint apple pulp, three cups sugar, one small stick cinnamon, one orange, juice and grated rind. Combine ingredients and cook slowly until thick and clear. Pour into heated sterilized jars and seal.

"Reduced fuel bill $35.00"

"The Williamson Heater Company:
Dollar for dollar, there is more received from a Williamson Tripl-ife furnace than paid for, since the fuel bill is greatly reduced. My coal expenditure for the past severe winter was $36.00, compared to $71.00 in previous winters, before my new furnace was installed. We had even heat throughout the home, making the rooms more comfortable and cozy."

CAVIAR CANAPES.

Mix the contents of a can of caviar with lemon juice and a dash each of Worcestershire sauce and cayenne. Spread on hard crackers and on top of each canape place a small mound of finely grated onion. A dash of paprika over the onion adds color. Serve with cocktails before the formal dinner.

GLAZED ONIONS.

Peel and prick small white onions and cook in boiling water for 15 minutes. Drain and dry on paper towels. Melt three tablespoons butter, add two tablespoons sugar and onions and cook until onions are glazed and browned.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS.
(Fifty Years Ago Column

Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)

"The Democrats and Republicans have fine flambeau marching clubs in active drill, every night. In numbers they are about equal. Every night till 10 o'clock on our beautiful streets, the boys are marching. We stand number four in the first set of four and get dubbed Colonel. We are pivot man."

Q & A. DEPARTMENT

Dear A. Bella: I am a modern woman and I am getting a little fed up on the way my husband sits around and criticises. I do not like to let anger and resentment govern my decisions, but I have a notion to tell him what's what and go back to my job. Would you do the same if you were me? —Worried.

Ans. — Well, dearie, I wouldn't say you are a modern woman. You're old-fashioned. The modern woman doesn't threaten to go back to her job. She threatens to quit it. —A. B.

BUDAPEST, July 2 (AP).—H gary's mobilization went ahead ding to plan tonight despite potrs that the chances for a pea ful settlement with Rumania o Transylvania had improved.

It appeared obvious that H gary intends to maintain its w footing until Transylvania is gained in one way or another.

Responsible quarters said general situation was "unchange They denied reports that a dem itarized zone had been created the Hungarian-Rumanian front German interest in the troub situation was indicated by lengthy conference last night tween Foreign Minister Count van Csaky and Otto von Erdma dorff, German Minister to Hunga before a session of the Hungari Cabinet.

Compromise Hopes.

Hopes for a compromise w pinned on the possibility of in vention by Germany, which said to be trying to avert an break of hostilities to protect own interests in the Balkans.

Hungary's Minister to Rumania Laszlo Bardossy, was expected return to Budapest from Buchar today to report on the Rumani situation. Informed quarters in his return a connection w German efforts to obtain peace settlement.

It was thought he would rep on the extent to which Rumania may be willing to go to reach accord with Hungary.

That strain still exists was i cated, however, by cancellation the Budapest horse races. This considered a good barometer s ch a step had not been ta since the first days of the W War.

Anti-Jewish Feeling.

Increasingly violent anti-Je feeling was manifest in Hung Yugoslavia and Rumania today Street demonstrations and
